Election Outcome Is Hard to Guess.

Curtis Against Pinchot

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 20.—[Special.]—Cyrus H. K. Curtis, publisher of the Saturday Evening Post, New York Evening Post, Philadelphia Public Ledger and Evening Ledger, and the Philadelphia Enquirer, declared at a dinner of Pennsylvania business leaders here tonight that he would not vote for Gifford Pinchot, Republican candidate for governor. Mr. Curtis is a Republican.

The dinner was given at the Midday club by Samuel M. Vauclain, head of the Baldwin Locomotive works, and J. Dawson Coleman, Liberal party leader, to fifty guests to further the campaign of John M. Hemphill, Democratic-Liberal party candidate for governor.

"My objection to Pinchot," said Mr. Curtis, "is that he has always been a troublemaker. He created trouble between Presidents Roosevelt and Taft. He created trouble in 1926 when he issued the certificate of doubt to Senator Vare.

"Pinchot never was a Republican. He plays with the radical elements of the Republican party. I will not vote for him."

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Philadelphai, Pa., Oct. 20.—[Special.]—The wholesale scratching of regular party nominations in Pennsylvania that will be heard round the country on Nov. 4 has upset and rendered valueless all time honored rules for calculating election results. Veteran political prophets have taken to the cyclone cellar.

The managers of the Pinchot canvass concede the loss of wet conservative Philadelphia, but figure that the Philadelphia plurality for Capt. John M. Hemphill, the Democratic and Liberty party candidate for governor, will not exceed 150,000. With the farmers and small townsmen of dry rural Pennsylvania and with a Pinchot plurality in wet but regular Pittsburgh estimated at upwards of 75,000, the Pinchot leaders claim the Republican candidate will come down to the Philadelphia line with not less than 400,000 votes to spare.

Banking on Canvasses.

On the other hand, the war board of the anti-Pinchot forces looks for a Hemphill plurality of 250,000 or more in Philadelphia and laughs at the idea that Mr. Pinchot will carry the remainder of the state by more than 200,000. The Democratic and Liberal party managers are banking heavily on canvasses, which, they assert, reveal wholesale Republican defections in Pittsburgh, in the coal mining regions once devoted to Pinchot, and even in the rural districts.

With Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellon, ancient foe of Mr. Pinchot, maintaining silence and his nephew, W. L. Mellon, giving only lip service so far to the Republican ticket, and with the Mellon banks and other corporations prominently identified with the business men's bolt, the anti-Pinchot leaders are encouraged to believe that Pittsburgh is not going to tear its shirt to elect Mr. Pinchot.

Think Bosses May Fail.

While Boss Joe Armstrong of Allegheny county and Mayor Charles Kline of Pittsburgh may succeed in delivering the job holders to Mr. Pinchot, the politicians say that with the money of the Mellon corporations on the other side the bosses will have a hard time delivering the rank and file of voters.

Though all the Republican county chairmen, outside of Philadelphia, have declared loyalty to the ticket, the claim is made by the anti-Pinchot leaders that few of these chairmen can deliver anywhere near the normal Republican majorities and that many of them are making no real effort to do so.

The betting odds have been narrowing steadily and are now 5 to 4 in favor of Mr. Pinchot.

May Mean Congress Losses.

The revolt in the Republican party has assumed such proportions that the Republican congressional committee fears it will result in a general defeat of Republican candidates for congress. The Liberal party has only one candidate, John M. Hemphill. This party was put into the field to attract Republican voters who want to vote against Mr. Pinchot, but still hesitate to mark a cross anywhere on the Democratic ticket.

Representative George S. Graham,

Cold Sends Many to Free Shelters.

Good Fellows Begin

Good Fellows who are contributing to the support of families will know, beginning today, just where their efforts are being directed. The social agencies will be ready to allocate the families found to be most deserving. Details and coupon on page 5.

As the temperature dropped again towards freezing last night sending hundreds of homeless to already crowded free shelter houses, a plan of voluntary taxation whereby thousands of employed Chicagoans may voluntarily participate in unemployment relief this winter, was proposed.

Added point was put upon the need for general aid by the fact that the temperature was 37 degrees at 10 o'clock last night and a sharp north wind was blowing. By 11 p. m. 850 homeless men had crowded into the Wrigley shelter at 509 North Union avenue, the Salvation Army men in charge having fixed a policy to turn none away. There were beds for only 400, however, and the others sprawled on the floor or snatched their sleep on straight backed chairs.

Many Turned Away.

Many were turned away from the old Criminal courts building, now a haven for the homeless. With beds for only 146 lodgers and with the old stone building unheated, the management decided not to risk violation of the lodging house ordinance by permitting applicants to sleep on the floor.

Some of the shivering groups turned away from the court building trudged to the Oliver institute, 1441 Cleveland avenue, and there found food and a bed. Housewives from the Marshall Field apartments nearby aided the institute staff in serving coffee and sandwiches to the wayfarers, some of whom seemed near starvation. Police stations housed hundreds also.

Cermak Asks "Voluntary Tax."

The "voluntary tax" plan was broached by Anton Cermak, president of the county board, before the committee of 25 sponsored by the Association of Commerce at the committee's organization meeting yesterday morning. There was qualified approval of his suggestion among a majority. In brief it proposes that all wage earners devote a share of their pay toward relief.

Mr. Cermak said last night that he would sponsor the plan among county employés as he had sponsored the scheme of ten months' pay for twelve months' work in the reassessment crisis last summer. Within the next few days, he said, a meeting of county officials will be called to consider the proposal.

Mr. Cermak said he would seek the indorsement and coöperation of George F. Harding, county treasurer, and Howard W. Elmore, president of the sanitary district. Neither Mr. Harding nor Mr. Elmore could be reached last night for their views on the plan.

To Sound Out Employés.

Among those to be invited to Cermak's meeting will be Sheriff John Traeger, County Recorder Clayton F. Smith, Mitchell C. Robin, clerk of the Probate court; Thomas O. Wallace, Circuit court clerk; John H. Passmore, Criminal court clerk; members of the county board and board of review, and appointive heads of such county departments as the highways, forest preserves, public welfare bureau, and county hospital.

There are 3,500 employés in all county departments, with an annual pay roll of $9,000,000, according to William J. Graham, deputy county controller. Mr. Cermak suggested a minimum contribution of $1 a week, and from that sum upwards on a percentage of salary. As a starter he proposed to contribute a percentage of his own salary.

Governor's Board Starts Task.

Gov. Emmerson's unemployment commission, around which the entire program of jobless relief in Chicago and the state revolves, went briskly to work yesterday.

At 2:30 p. m. Dr. Benjamin M. Squires, temporary chairman by the governor's appointment, called the commission to order in an upper room of the Hotel La Salle.

At Dr. Squires' suggestion the commission delegated him to appoint an organization committee of five. He

THREE BANDITS CONTINUE RAIDS ON GAS STATIONS

Three bandits who are believed to be the same men who have been preying on filling stations almost nightly for the last month last night held up a station at 89th and State streets and kidnaped the attendant, then robbed two more stations in the neighborhood.

A plan to combat crime in Chicagoland on a 125 mile front from Racine to Michigan City by coördinating all law enforcing agencies under a unified control will be presented Nov. 20 at a conference to be held at the University of Chicago, it was learned yesterday.

Its effect will be to provide the area with a metropolitan police force. The plan has the sanction of President Robert Maynard Hutchins, to whom it has been outlined in a series of discussions with August Vollmer, professor of police administration at the University of Chicago. Frank J. Loesch, president of the Chicago crime commission, has also been active in furthering it.

350 Invited to Attend.

Mr. Vollmer said 350 invitations had been issued for the conference. Those asked to attend include the chiefs of police of 200 cities with populations of 5,000 or more, state and county officials and representatives of bankers' associations and business and civic organizations.

Notable among the innovations contemplated by the plan are squad cars similar to those of the detective bureau, equipped with submachine guns and radio receiving sets, to patrol the country highways; a centralized police broadcasting system for the entire area, and a complete teletype service.

U. S. Will Participate.

The federal government has been asked to participate. One of the principal speakers at the conference will be J. Edgar Hoover, director of the bureau of investigation for the department of justice. Others, in addition to Mr. Loesch, will be Col. A. A. Sprague, District Attorney George E. Q. Johnson, State's Attorney John A. Swanson, Chief Justice John P. McGoorty of the Criminal court, Col. Calvin Goddard, director of the scientific crime detective bureau affiliated with Northwestern university; Acting Police Commissioner John Alcock, and I. C. Saunders of the Illinois Bankers' association.

Hollywood, Cal., Oct. 20.—[Special.]—Elsie Janis today was recovering from a dislocation of the right shoulder, sustained, she said, when she and Ramon Novarro, film star, "were wrestling in the parlor of Lawrence and Grace Tibbett." She added, "But I got him down and was sitting on his stomach when something snapped."

'VILLAIN, UNHAND THAT WOMAN!' AND VILLAIN DOES

Sergt. George Schupulsky, commanding a detective bureau squad, peered suspiciously yesterday afternoon at a sedan bearing a New York state license, which was cruising in the neighborhood of Division and Larrabee streets. As he did, the sedan speeded up and a pinkish something, diaphanous as a cloud, was wafted from the rear window.

Faster went the sedan, west in Division, with the squad car in close pursuit. Again from the rear window fluttered a pinkish something, and Mr. Schupulsky, a family man, whispered in Patrolman Paddy Nolan's ear.

The squad car overtook its quarry. Two men were in the sedan. Beside one of them, in the rear seat, reclined the figure of a woman.

"Stop and unhand that woman," thundered Sergt. Schupulsky, standing on the running board of the squad car. The sedan abruptly halted. "We're the police; don't be alarmed, madam; you're safe now," said the sergeant.

The lady gave him a blank look.

Sergt. Schupulsky moved a step nearer and remarked:

The two abductors gave their names as Al Bernstein, 2326 Lincoln Park West, and that of Joe Miller, the Olympic hotel, 1013 North Clark street. Burglar tools were found in the latter's room.

Town Tries Out 'Buy, Not Save,' for Prosperity

Spending Money

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 20.—[Special.]—As Philadelphia today started its "buy now" campaign as a step toward reviving business, scores of telegrams from cities were received by the chamber of commerce asking for details of the plan. Merchants reported that they were well satisfied with the first day's efforts. Camden, N. J., also has started the plan.

Muskegon, Mich., Oct. 20.—[Special.]—Muskegon continued to count its cash tonight after a week's "patriotic spending spree," started to aid in restoring prosperity by placing hoarded money in circulation. It will be three or four days more before final results of the campaign are known, but preliminary reports from merchants indicate the success of the movement. They show that the increase in business over the corresponding week a year ago ranges from 36 per cent to 1,000 per cent.

Urge "Patriotic Spending."

"Be patriotic and spend money" was Muskegon's slogan, and with merchants joining in with special bargains the city's business section took on the aspects of a holiday shopping crowd, especially during the final two days of last week when cold weather stimulated buying. The members of the luncheon clubs had pledged themselves to spend $100 each and the goal was placed at $1,000,000 for the week.

Mr. Rietdyk in a statement today said that he was gratified with the reports.

"It's just as patriotic to spend money today as it was to buy Liberty bonds during the war," Mr. Rietdyk contends.

Advertising Campaign Made.

"The money is available. Stocks are depleted and, once people start buying, merchants will order goods and factories will start operations to fill the orders. This means employment and prosperity."

An advertising campaign was conducted in the newspapers previous to the opening of the week's spending drive.

A Terrace street clothing merchant in his preliminary report today said: "I have done more business during the last week than in any week in the history of the store."

HAVING BEER, 216 BOTTLES OF IT, NO DRY LAW CRIME

Miami, Fla., Oct. 20.—(AP)—Federal Judge Halsted L. Ritter today dismissed charges of possessing 216 bottles of imported beer against Carl Woley, Miami, when federal agents said they could not testify that Woley had the beer for sale.

"A man can have all the liquor in his possession he wants if he does not have it in his possession for sale," the judge told the agents.

"That is the law and you have a recent ruling from your commissioner on it."

Dismiss Brewery Forfeiture.

New York, Oct. 20.—[Special.]—Forfeiture proceedings brought by the government against the Excelsior Brewing Company, Inc., of Brooklyn and the company owning the ground on which the brewery stands were dismissed by Judge Galston in federal court in Brooklyn today on the ground that the seizure of the property by prohibition agents on Aug. 9 was illegal, because it was done without a search warrant. The value of the property is estimated at $300,000.

Year's Progress in Radio Revealed in Full at Show

You'll be surprised. Nearly everybody will be surprised—at the progress made in the past year in radio. The people who have been looking forward to the time when radio would do this and that and the other thing don't have to wait any longer. The looked-for improvements and refinements are here. A trip to the Radio Show or to the stores that sell radios will prove it.

There is remote control and tone control. There is automatic tuning and automatic station changing. Practically everything that anybody could demand from a radio has been thought of and provided.

By far the greatest improvement to be noted, however, is the tone quality of the modern radio. From its former status of a mechano-electrical wonder radio has definitely been transformed into the most versatile musical instrument ever designed.

Those who formed their impressions of radio when it was more suitable for the work bench than for the living room are missing out on a great deal.

GANGSTER HELD UNDER $50,000 VAGRANT BOND

George "Bugs" Moran, notorious gangster and hoodlum, and long the chief of the north side gang of alcohol and beer dealers that has been the principal rival of the powerful Capone organization, was captured by Lake county officials early this morning as he lay sleeping in bed in a resort near Antioch, Ill.

The gang leader was at once hurried to North Chicago, where he was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Harold Talleet on charges of vagrancy and carrying concealed weapons and his bond was fixed at $50,000. From there he was taken to the Lake county jail at Waukegan and locked up.

Cassidy's Resort Raided.

The gangster was seized in a resort conducted by Mrs. Elizabeth Cassidy on Bluff lake, five miles southwest of Antioch. State's Attorney A. V. Smith of Lake county had information a week ago that Moran would be at the Cassidy resort, a notorious hangout for hoodlums, sometime this week. He secured the assistance of the Hargrave detective agency of Chicago and the place has been watched every night.

Last night at 10 o'clock Moran arrived at the resort and Col. Smith was immediately notified. George Hargrave and five of his men, with Constable George Streid, hurried to the Cassidy home and surrounded the house, after which Hargrave and Streid entered.

Moran Found Asleep.

Moran was sleeping in a room in the rear of the place and made no attempt to resist when he was aroused and told that he was under arrest.

Col. Smith also had information that Leo Mongoven, another notorious gangster and one of the "public enemies," also might be at the place, but when the officers entered no one could be found except Mrs. Cassidy, her son, and Moran.

Col. Smith said his men have been raiding the Cassidy place regularly for some time in his war to prevent gangsters making headquarters at the Lake county resorts. Last year he had the Cassidy house closed by an injunction.

Moran has been missing from his Chicago haunts since just previous to the slaying of Alfred Lingle, June 9, last. It was reported at that time that Moran's gang had participated in the conspiracy which led to the killing of Lingle, and that the Moran and Capone gangs were about to renew their old warfare. Jack Zuta, a Moran leader, was killed, and Moran was said to have hidden in some remote place in Minnesota.

DRUGGAN BOX SEALED

Terry Druggan, Jack Guzik, and Tony Accardo, gangsters of the first magnitude, and a procession of minor hoodlums were the subjects of court procedure yesterday as the drive to make Chicago unpleasant for criminals was resumed.

Druggan, so ill two weeks ago that he was unable to appear in court, according to his physicians, was in retirement at some secret resting place, having been moved from the University hospital. But, just to make sure that Terry's convalescence should not be too peaceful, the government filed a lien against his safety deposit box in the Surety Trust Deposit company, 159 North State street.

The box was the first to be located by Chief Agent Robert Neely and its contents are not known. The lien restrains Druggan from opening the box or disposing of its contents pending settlement of charges that the beer baron has defrauded the government of $472,297 in income taxes.

Moved to Avoid Visitors.

Druggan's attorney, William F. Waugh, informed Assistant U. S. District Attorney Dwight H. Green that his client had been moved to avoid the numerous visitors at the hospital. The government is not worried about Druggan's appearance at the next hearing, Nov. 10, because the defendant is under $75,000 bonds in addition to $10,000 bonds as a vagrant in the court of Judge John H. Lyle.

Guzik, Al Capone's right hand man, also was uneasy during the day as his attorneys argued a demurrer to his indictment for avoidance of income taxes before Federal Judge Woodward. The hearing was continued until today.

Tony Accardo, able gunman for Capone, appeared before Judge Charles A. Williams in the Criminal court, to answer charges of carrying concealed weapons. Accardo said he was a gambler and would take a chance. He was willing to accept the same fate as his friend, Machine Gun Jack McGurn whose sentence on the same charge is now being considered by the state Supreme court.

Ready to Take Penalty.

Accardo and McGurn were arrested in a taxicab Feb. 11. Two loaded revolvers were found in the taxicab. McGurn was found guilty by Judge E. I. Frankhauser and fined $300 and sentenced to a year in the house of correction. An appeal was taken to the Supreme court. If the Supreme court upholds the sentence, Accardo is ready to take the same penalty as his pal, he said. The case was continued until Dec. 1.

Walter Evenow, 29 years old, 1529 Cullerton street, charged with the murder of Policeman William Rumbler, who was shot and fatally wounded in a revolver battle with three bandits in a soft drink parlor at 3147 Milwaukee avenue a week ago, was held without bail to the grand jury by Judge Lyle.

Recovering from His Wounds.

Evenow is in the Bridewell hospital recovering from bullet wounds received in the battle. Two associates of Evenow and a young woman who helped hide him and treat his wounds after the shooting were held as accessories to murder. They were Albert Novak, 2134 West Chicago avenue; Michael Senew, 2104 75th avenue, Elmwood Park, and Miss Mary Schubert, 19 years old, 2032 West Erie street.

A rapid review of other cases in Judge Lyle's court follows:

John Putchoven, 21 years old, 76 South Lincoln street, admitted robbing 23 persons in sixty days. He was held to the grand jury in bonds of $105,000.

Harry Silver, 49 years old, captured as he was breaking into a house, was identified on two charges. He was sentenced to two years in jail on two counts of larceny.

Jacob Kier, 1127 East 55th street, and Philip Dininzo, 5718 West 64th street, were charged with attempting to extort $10,000 from Attorney Raymond Keiner, 160 North La Salle street, by writing letters threatening the lives of the lawyer's two children. They were held to the grand jury in bonds of $30,000 each.

Continue Probe of List.

The grand jury continued its investigation of the disappearance from the detective bureau of a list of gangsters slated for arrest. The list was later found by federal agents in the hands of a Capone bondsman. Acting Commissioner Alcock, former Deputy Chief of Detectives John Ryan, and Patrolman William Balswick have already been questioned in regard to the disappearance.

John Lane, stenographer who typed the list, was questioned yesterday. He said he merely copied the list from longhand copy supplied him by Balswick. He did not notice, he said, that, after the original list disappeared a second list given him by Balswick omitted the names of eight Capone gangsters.

Wide Open Town of Peoria Sadly Clamps Lid On For First Time In Its History

BULLETIN.

East St. Louis, Ill., Oct. 20.—(AP)—Four men arrested here early today in the investigation of the murder of Charles Phayer were identified tonight as participants in the murder of Mrs. Cora Garrison, wife of a Peoria, Ill., gambler last Friday, police said.

The prisoners are Thomas O'Connor, 33; Jack Britt, 38; John Moran, 33, and Thomas Wilders, 39. O'Connor, Moran and Wilders had revolvers in their possession when arrested.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Peoria, Ill., Oct 20.—[Special.]—For the first time in its history Peoria today ceased to be a wide open town. State's Attorney Harry Pratt ordered the lid down on open gambling as an aftermath to the killing of Mrs. Cora C. Garrison Friday evening in a machine gun ambush which followed an attempt to kidnap her husband, Clyde Garrison, gambling house proprietor.

The investigation of the murder was given impetus early today with the finding of the body of Charles Phayer, alias Thayer, riddled with bullets near Madison, Ill. One police theory was that Phayer was the gangster wounded by Garrison in the ambush Friday. This theory was strengthened by the finding of blood stains in the gangsters' abandoned car and the release of information that Phayer was being sought in the investigation of the kidnaping of two Peoria gamblers, William Urban and Frank Dougherty, in the last five months. Urban and Dougherty paid money for their release.

Sheriff Grant Minor advanced the theory that Phayer was slain by companions who feared that he might incriminate himself and them in the kidnapings.

Dice and Wheels Silent.

Meanwhile the dice ceased to click and the roulette wheels were still in the city's many gambling houses. Card games and baseball pools were allowed to run apparently on the theory that Peoria cannot stand too much reform. The city and county officials are admittedly reluctant to disturb the existing order. State's Attorney Pratt said he had issued the closing command, not from a sudden access of virtue, but to silence rumors that he had a financial interest in the gambling resorts. The town has been ablaze with rumors ever since the Garrison killing. Reports of a crooked alliance between city and county officials and gamblers with newspapers sharing in the profits are widespread.

Apparently in answer to all this hubbub Mayor Edward M. Woodruff instructed Chief of Police J. Edward Wombacher to press the drive on slot machines.

No Crusader, Says Mayor.

Both officials believe Peoria prefers to stay unreformed, and cite the city's record as a wide open town for many years. As an indication of its tolerant attitude a poll on prohibition here showed a vote of 20 to 1 against the 18th amendment.

"I don't know what to do," Mayor Woodruff said tonight. "If I were to come out on a reform platform at this time people would think I was a great humorist.

"I have, in my eighteen years in office, gone in for reform. I drove out the red light district. It was getting so that people said I had an interest in the resorts, where I merely let them run under regulation. The closing was a mistake. It merely scattered our problem throughout the town. The same way with liquor. I drove the drink parlors out and now we have speakeasies all over town.

"No matter what I do I have my share of critics. I frankly say I like to let things be. I had my share of reforming and it reminds me of an invention of mine years ago. It was all right, but it didn't work."

State's Attorney Explains.

State's Attorney Pratt declared that the gambling house proprietors had been willing to close for some time, but delayed the step because they feared that one of their number might remain open and make a profit. All have complained that they are making nothing, he said.

"No one man is permitted to dominate any racket in the city," he explained. "This policy has kept any racket from raising to a position to defy authorities. This plan is the most successful in a tolerant community. Until these kidnapings we have had no serious problem. It is my opinion this is a new racket for criminals, who, unless they are checked, may proceed to kidnap merchants and wealthy men for ransom."

Editors stated that they are undergoing a period of public suspicion.

"I have been taking money from gamblers for 25 years, if you would believe rumor," said Seymour Oakley of the Evening Star. "And I hear the rumors from the best people in the city. We have frequently conducted drives on gambling, but did not receive popular support."

Carl Slane of the Journal and Transcript said that he, too, was implicated by rumor. His papers have also failed to rouse public opinion against gambling. This he attributed to popular approval of a wide open policy.

EXPLAINS BARKER FEE

Chauncey H. Jenkins, former judge and director of the department of public welfare under the régime of Gov. Small, explained to the grand jury yesterday how he was employed for an $11,000 fee to free George Barker, "public enemy" and labor racketeer, from the Pontiac reformatory.

Jenkins told the jurors that he divided the fee with two other lawyers whom he employed in the case. He said that he employed the other attorneys because of their legal ability in handling such cases.

Explains Division of Money.

The money, according to Jenkins, was divided with State Senator Victor J. Michels of Peoria, who actually filed the habeas corpus writ on which Barker was released by the late Judge T. N. Green of Peoria, and the late Charles F. Mansfield, a former assistant attorney general and known as the father of the parole law. The latter, the jury was told, was employed because of his knowledge of the law.

Mansfield received $5,000 of the money, Michels $2,600, and Jenkins kept $3,400, Jenkins testified. Michels, who was also a grand jury witness yesterday, said he was employed on a basis of a $2,500 retainer and $100 a day for each court appearance.

"I did not put my name on record as an attorney in the case because I feared adverse newspaper publicity," Jenkins is reported to have told the grand jurors. "I was employed by John Sheridan Sr. because, I suppose, of my familiarity with the parole law."

Jenkins said that for his part of the fee he held many consultations with Attorney Mansfield about the legal phases of the case, and with Sheridan, who represented the coal teamsters' unions.

Senator Michels Testifies.

Senator Michels it is reported, told the jurors that he had no idea as to who Barker was when he took the case. He was reported to have said he was sorry that he handled the case. His employment, he said, was arranged through Jenkins.

"That [meaning the grand jury] is a very unfriendly body," remarked Jenkins to Senator Michels as he emerged from the grand jury room.

"You handled yourself all right, I suppose," the senator said.

"I don't know, I don't know," replied Judge Jenkins. "They told me to wait."

Jenkins waited for more than one hour after he had testified, but the jurors finally allowed him to be excused. He and Michels were allowed to return to their homes.

Blames Parole Board.

"The board of paroles pulled the boner in this case," said Senator Michels as he was waiting for the grand jury to call him as a witness. "If you will look up the records you will find that the board ruled that Barker was not a parole violator when he went to Michigan and committed a crime and served time, but that he was a violator when he took a trip to California.

"If it isn't a violation of parole to commit another crime, then I do not know what is a violation. It seems to me to have been much more of a violation than taking a trip to California.

"The board made an error when it adjudged Barker a parole violator after his California trip without giving him a hearing as provided by law."

Says Board Had Notice.

Senator Michel said that the parole board had ample notice of the writ for Barker. He said the writ was filed in June, 1929, and was not heard by Judge Green until September. He said that Assistant Attorney General Merrill Weymouth appeared to oppose it and that Nell Keeler, secretary of the parole board, was a witness at the hearing before Judge Green.

Hinton G. Clabaugh, former head of the parole board, also was a witness before the grand jury. He said that the reason the parole board did not adjudge Barker a violator after he had served six years for a Michigan crime was because the board believed it contrary to public policy to make a man serve two terms. He said it was understood that if Barker served his term in Michigan he would not be molsted in Illinois. He is said to have informed Judge McGoorty, however, that he did not at the time know of Barker's past record.

Considers Sheridan's Case.

While the grand jury was delving into the Barker case, Chief Justice McGoorty was considering what to do with John Sheridan Jr., son of the head of the coal teamsters' unions.

The elder Sheridan, it is charged, used the funds of the teamsters' union to pay the $11,000 fee to obtain Barker's release. It is charged that young Sheridan denied to the grand jury that he ever received any money or checks from Barker or that he had any conection with the coal teamsters' unions. Later, when confronted with documentary proof, he admitted that he had not told the jury the truth.

"This man has committed a direct contempt and should be punished summarily as an example to others," argued Assistant State's Attorneys Charles Mueller, Charles Lounsbury, and George Lavin before Judge McGoorty.

The judge finally allowed a continuance until Thursday morning and Sheridan was released on a $1,000 bond. Judge McGoorty indicated, however, that if young Sheridan hampered the investigation he would be punished.

FOSTER TRIAL ON LINGLE CHARGE IS DELAYED AGAIN

The trial of Frank Foster, indicted for the murder of Alfred Lingle, was continued a third time yesterday when James E. McShane, special assistant state's attorney, notified Judge George Fred Rush that the state was not ready for trial.

Judge Rush continued the case until Nov. 24, and under the law, the trial must proceed on that date or Foster will be entitled automatically to a dismissal of the charge. The gangster has made demand for trial during four successive months, and the law requires that a defendant demanding trial must be given one during that time.

Foster was indicted after his capture in Los Angeles, and after evidence had been received by the state indicating that Foster had a part in purchasing the revolver with which Lingle was killed. During a motion for bail, Traffic Policeman Anthony Ruthy identified Foster in open court as the man he had pursued from the scene of the Lingle murder.

RECEIVE PAPERS FOR EXTRADITION OF DAN STANTON

Papers calling for the extradition to Wisconsin of Danny Stanton, "public enemy," and Edgar Smith, his chauffeur, to stand trial for the murder of Jack Zuta, were received yesterday at the county jail. Chief Justice John P. McGoorty of the Criminal court said that the prisoners would be brought before him today and told they have a right to a habeas corpus hearing.

Attorney Thomas D. Nash, representing the two men, informed Judge McGoorty yesterday he was ready to file such a writ. He said, however, that he probably would ask a change of venue from Judge McGoorty's court because of that jurist's interpretation of the extradition laws several years ago in relation to Frank McErlane, another public enemy, who was sent to Indiana for trial.

SENTENCE TWO COUNTERFEITERS.

Dewey Wallace McMurtry, 35 years old, and Calvin Mott, 23, were sentenced yesterday to 10 years and one year, respectively, at Leavenworth penitentiary by Federal Judge Carpenter when they pleaded guilty to counterfeiting charges.

When Jim's wages were cut

I MADE UP MORE THAN THE DIFFERENCE

"It came upon us suddenly—Jim brought home the sad news. What to do? Expenses were going on same as ever and it was all we could do to make ends meet when the pay check was full.

"Frankly, I am a coupon clipper, and one particular coupon I clipped helped me make up more than the difference between Jim's partial wages and regular pay. It started us off to owning our own home out in the country, yet close enough so Jim can keep his regular job, and be home early for supper!

"We have a modern home with all city conveniences—a fine garden and, best of all, a flock of pure-bred chickens that give us an extra income! It took a little work, of course, to get started—but it was a pleasant task which soon became lighter. This summer our garden gave us many dollars' worth of fresh vegetables that helped cut our living costs. And the chickens and eggs now give us a tidy sum each month. Some months more than enough to meet our regular low payment on our home.

"Jim is back on his regular wages now, and maybe you think we are not making progress! The plan we followed is so simple and well worked out that you should know all about it. The firm that sponsors that plan will be happy to send particulars to any family interested in getting ahead. Simply fill out the coupon and mail it to them for full details."

Jones Killing in Florida Typical Incident.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

The United States coast guard service has changed radically as an institution since it became one of the most important branches of the prohibition enforcement law.

Its crews may now be found miles inland patrolling highways at night for citizens with possible liquor loads in their cars, armed to kill, instructed to shoot when necessary, and inevitably killing citizens occasionally by mistake or intention.

The combination of the old pirate law of search and seizure, which interprets an automobile as legally a ship at sea, and the prohibition laws making the carrying of liquor a felony, gives the coast guard an almost impregnable position under the law.

No Need for Evidence.

The guard does not have to have evidence in advance -only a reasonable ground for a belief that the law is being violated. Then, if the ship, or the automobile, becomes a fugitive in the opinion of the officer he has the right to shoot and is so instructed. If any one gets killed it is too bad, but that is all. The law is there and the courts must give this law to the jury. The federal government comes immediately to the rescue as professional defenders and in the sanctuary of its own courts. The states are helpless.

The case of Erron Hobson Jones, 26 years old, who was shot and killed by coast guardsmen as a suspected liquor smuggler in Biscayne bay Florida, on March 14, 1927, furnishes an illustration of the working of federal law and policy in this field.

"Red" Jones, as he was known along the Florida coast and in his home at Richmond, Va., fought for the United States in France and saw service with the marines in China and South America, but his life was taken by his government because he went out on the bay with a girl one night, did not show proper lights on his boat and did not obey stop orders of the coast guard patrol, which he may or may not have heard.

Killed on Suspicion Only.

It is true that Jones had been going with a gang that had been running liquor over from the nearby British isles to the thirsty patrons of Coral Gables, but the guardsmen who killed him did not know whom they were shooting at and no liquor wes found in his boat. Nevertheless, suspicion was a sufficient warrant for his death, as was later determined by a United States court and jury.

"The court gave us the law and under his instructions there was only one verdict," said W. J. Bedell, retired real estate dealer of West Palm Beach, who was foreman of the jury that acquitted the coast guard killers.

As is usual in such cases, nearly a year elapsed between the killing and the trial, and two of the three witnesses who were in the boat with Jones had disappeared.

Jean McCoy, a Wisconsin girl visiting in Florida, Joe Brown, and Jones made up the party that set out three or four days before March 14 to take a little ride.

Stopped to Make Repairs.

"When we got out on the high seas the engine broke," said the girl at the coroner's inquest. "We stopped at a place called Gun Cay to make repairs. [This is a loading place for liquor smugglers, a British owned islet, 70 miles from Miami.] We sent a message to Miami for a new part and it was brought over by Charles Holloman in an airplane. Coming back, there was a little trouble with the engine and it backfired. When we were close to the bay here Red fell. The first thing we knew he had a bullet in his head and fell down."

Joe Brown said as they approached the Florida shore about 8 p. m., and while they were "laughing and carrying on," they saw a small boat which they thought was a pleasure boat and decided to give it a race. They heard no shots or orders and did not know this was a government boat until Jones had bene shot and the boat came up with them. Holloman told the same story, and all said there was no liquor or guns on board, that they heard no hail or shot from the customs men, and could not see the government ensign.

Tale of Coast Guards.

The evidence of the guardsmen, Harvey P. Parry and Morris H. Mann, upon which they were acquitted, was that they hailed the Jones boat, and as the boat speeded up instead of stopping they fired shots across the bow, according to the regulations. Mann testified that their orders under these circumstances were to hail a boat and fire at the water line.

There were two government boats in this affray. When Mann, in the first boat, failed to stop Jones, Parry came up in a faster boat and took charge of the situation. More than twenty shots were fired by the government men, it was testified.

"Is it your practice to fire into a boat to disable it?" Parry was asked at the trial.

Fire First Across Bow.

"After it has been given orders to stop and three shots fired across the bow," was the reply.

"You have a right to shoot into a boat to disable it?"

"Yes, when they try to get away."

The Miami county coroner's jury charged the guardsmen with murder. An indictment charging murder in the first degree was voted by the grand jury on April 25. Four days later the case was transferred to the United States District court on a writ issued by Federal Judge Lake Jones on a petition presented by the United States attorney.

Norman J. Morrison, assistant United States attorney general, was assigned from Washington to defend this case. The state pressed frequently for trial, which was finally granted in February, 1928, when the guardsmen were found not guilty.

SUPREME COURT REJECTS APPEAL IN LIQUOR CASES

Actions for Test of Dry Law Fails.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 20.—[Special.]—The latest attack upon the validity of the 18th amendment and the Volstead law failed today when the United States Supreme court refused a petition for a writ of certiorari filed by A. Stanley Copeland of Buffalo, N. Y., whose fight against the dry statutes has attracted wide attention.

Acts as Own Attorney.

Acting as his own attorney, Mr Copeland, who is also a clergyman asked the court to reverse decisions in the New York courts upholding Police Commissioner James W. Higgins in seizing wine which Copeland possessed.

The plaintiff claimed that the Volstead law is unconstitutional in that it invaded his property rights and liberty as guaranteed in the New York state constitution. He said this invasion was "violative of the lawful obligation binding upon the congress of the United States to respect divine law. He further alleged that the 18th amendment was never completely ratified, as no state legislature had power to "alienate the sovereign power of the people of their respective states.'

Refuses to Reopen Cases.

The Supreme court refused to reopen three other liquor cases today. One of these was the suit of Edward Blanchard, convicted in Dallas of selling grape juice containing more than ½ of 1 per cent alcohol. Another case was that of John R. Smith, convicted of sale and possession in Oregon, and the third that of Samuel and Louis Mallinow, convicted of transportation and possession in Baltimore.

A week ago the Supreme court rejected a petition asking for review of a case involving constitutionality of the Jones five and ten law.

New Training

"The University of Scouting," sponsored by the Chicago council of Boy Scouts, opened at the Merchandise mart last night with an initial attendance of more than 1,000 men. Following the banquet, Dr. James E. West of New York City, chief scout executive, outlined the purposes of the six week adult training course for scout leaders.

Trained leaders are needed, he said, to meet the requirements of a membership that is expected to reach 30,000 in 1933. To this end courses will be offered in 20 different subjects each Monday night for six weeks with addresses by nationally prominent men at each meeting.

Archery will be taught by Arthur Young, who hunted big game in Africa with bow and arrow. There will be classes in Indian craft by Chief Whirling Thunder of the Winnebago tribe.

Chiropodists Search for Woman with Perfect Feet

A search for a woman with perfect feet was begun by chiropodists at the opening of the annual convention of the Illinois Association of Chiropodists and Foot Specialists in the Hotel Sherman yesterday. The woman finally selected will represent Illinois at a national contest, whose winner will be named America's Cinderella.

SUES FOR LOVE LOST WHEN SHE WON DIVORCE

The marital difficulties of J. Birchard Green, wealthy manufacturer, became more involved yesterday with the filing of a third suit by his first wife, Mrs. Clare H. Green, 6757 Cornell avenue. The suit asks damages of $50,000 from Green for the "loss of the society and affection of Mr. Green during the two years following their divorce." Mrs. Green won the divorce decree on Oct. 23, 1928, on grounds of cruelty.

The suit is said to be the first of its kind ever filed here.

Two months ago Mrs. Green sued Green's present wife for $75,000, charging alienation of affections. More recently she filed a petition to set aside the divorce decree which she won.

Charge He Induced Suit.

Green and his present wife, Mrs Patti Dumbeck Newton Green, who is said to be a member of a prominent Texas family, live at 6930 South Shore drive. They were married shortly after Green was divorced by his first wife after 16 year of married life.

The charges contained in the suit yesterday are similar to those contained in the petition to vacate the divorce decree. Mrs. Green says that Green induced her to institute the divorce proceedings at a time when she was mentally and physically ill and under the influence of drugs.

The bill says that Green threatened to go to Mexico and obtain a divorce unless she carried out his demands. Mrs. Green, according to the suit, gave perjured testimony in order to win the divorce.

"Pillow Fight" Evidence.

"He told me to charge cruelty," Mrs. Green says. "I asked him what I should do about evidence. He said I should tell about the pillow fights we used to have in fun on Sundays, but to forget about the pillows and about the fun."

Green, who is known as a poet and lecturer, is president of the Chicago Steel and Wire company and the Fusion Welding company. He recently petitioned the court for a reduction in the $300 a month alimony payments, which he was ordered to pay, in addition to a cash settlement, to Mrs. Clare Green.

FOUND DEAD IN BED.

Stanley Hodek, 57 years old, a laborer, was found dead yesterday in his bed in a rooming house at 1429 West Erie street.

MUST AGREE ON SANITARY CASE JUDGE BY NOV. 10

Timothy J. Crowe, former president of the sanitary district board, and nine other members and officials of the district under his régime, must agree with the state's attorney's office was decided yesterday when the cases by Nov. 10 on a judge to try the conspiracy charges against them. This were before Chief Justice John P. McGoorty of the Criminal court for the first time since the indictments were returned more than one year ago.

If the state and defense cannot agree on some judge the case will be arbitrarily assigned by Judge McGoorty. It was said that if a judge agreeable to both sides can be found it will save time.

BUFFALO SHORT OF MILK, DUE TO FREAK BLIZZARD

Cold Wave Reaches Into Tennessee.

New York, Oct. 20.—[Special.]—While New Yorkers shivered today in temperatures that reached a low point of 35.5 degrees and made the day the coldest Oct. 20 on record here, upstate residents were recovering from the blizzard that hit western New York over the week-end.

Buffalo faced a milk shortage tonight. More than 8,000 gallons of milk were withdrawn from its supply. The milk was aboard trucks that had been stranded on highways piled high with snowdrifts.

Late today the lake shore road between Buffalo and Irving was opened to one way traffic, to allow hundreds of stranded motorists to reach Buffalo.

From Watertown, N. Y., the Associated Press reported that with as many as 500 automobiles stalled, hundreds of persons driven into emergency quarters and telephone communication lines semi-paralyzed, that area was digging itself out of the worst October snowstorm on record.

Ogensburg was cut off from communication with Watertown, Syracuse and Utica except by way of Montreal. The New York Telephone company reported that its loss around that region was about $75,000.

Snow and Cold in West.

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 20.—(AP)—The Rocky mountain region and the middle west to the northern fringes of Dixie was in the grip of snow, biting winds and winterlike temperatures today.

Snow whitened the countryside over wide stretches of the mountains, through the Dakotas, Minnesota, Nebraska, Kansas, and Missouri tonight.

The frost reached down as far as Arkansas, Kentucky, and Tennessee.

A snow storm broke over Kansas City late today. Snow also was reported at Topeka, Kas.

Air mail service over the northern route through Cheyenne, Wyo., was held up by mountain storms. The snow moved into Colorado tonight, and the forecast was for a light fall down into northern New Mexico.

Subzero weather was reported in southern Canada. At Havre, Mont., the mercury dropped to 12 degrees above zero.

Record Cold at Evansville.

Evansville, Ind., Oct. 20.—New weather records are being set here with a temperature of thirty degrees above today, the coldest Oct. 20 in history, also a heavy killing frost this morning that established a new early frost record.

Apple Crop Frozen.

Quincy, Ill., Oct. 20.—[Special.]—The lowest temperature for October in nearly twenty years was recorded here last night when the mercury registered 25. Apples were frozen on the trees.

COLD SNAP TO LINGER.

Cold weather continued to hold Chicago in its grip last night, with freezing temperatures general and light snow forecast over portions of the middle plains. The cold snap is expected to remain today, but tomorrow, according to the weather bureau, will be slightly warmer.

The mercury reached a maximum of 40 degrees in Chicago at 2 p. m. yesterday—four degrees higher than the maximum of Sunday. Indications were that yesterday's high might be exceeded by a few degrees this afternoon, according to the government forecaster, W. P. Day.

CZARNECKI SEEKS TO CLEAR HOBO SHACKS FROM U. S. PROPERTY

Collecter of Customs Anthony Czarnecki made an effort yesterday to clear the original new postoffice site at Canal, Harrison, Polk, and Clinton streets, which for a time was used as a city dumping ground and is now marked by the unsightly huts of hoboes.

In a letter to Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Ferry K. Heath, Mr. Czarnecki asked permission to remove the shacks, level and fill the square block and make plans to make a downtown park and recreation spot of it in the spring. He made the move as custodian of government buildings in Chicago.

The government purchased this property several years ago and until recently it was intended that the new $14,0000,000 postoffice, which is to be the largest building of its kind in the world, should be erected there. A change of plans, however, resulted last week in the purchasing of the air rights site over tracks entering the Union station, a block northeast of the former site, and the structure will be built to adjoin the Van Buren street parcel post station.

In the months since the purchase of the first site, it has lain unused save as a dumping spot. This practice was stopped by Mr. Czarnecki, however, but not before the property was dotted with piles of bricks and rubbish from razed buildings which had been carted there.

Bands of hoboes, distinct from the unemployed men now walking the streets, established squatters' rights on the property, assembled the bricks into crude shacks, which, equipped with rickety stove pipes, are settled in hollows out of reach of the wind. Six such huts inhabited by a score of hoboes have been in use there for several months.

immediately named Joel D. Hunter, Clifford W. Barnes, George W. Dixon, Samuel Insull Jr., and George F. Getz, in the order mentioned.

Committee Is Enlarged.

Retiring for discussion, the committee of five returned within a few minutes with a proposal that their group be enlarged to nine and made a permanent committee on organization. The proposal was adopted, whereupon Miss Agnes Nestor, John Fitzpatrick, Edward N. Hurley, and Silas H. Strawn were enlisted in the organization group.

"Let's lose no time," interposed Mr. Barnes, adding that the organization committee could save a day by meeting immediately at his office across the corner at 10 South La Salle street.

After the commission adjourned, the organization committee went to Mr. Barnes' office, and there held session for half an hour. Mr. Getz, who had been named chairman, appointed Dr. Squires as permanent executive secretary of the commission.

Mr. Getz announced that he would summon his committee to meet at 3 o'cloc kthis afternoon in his office.

HOOVER BOARD TO MEET

Washington, D. C., Oct. 20.—[Special.]—President Hoover will meet with his unemployment committee tomorrow at its first meeting. Secretary of Commerce Robert P. Lamont, who will be chairman of the committee, which is composed of six cabinet members and Gov. Eugene Meyer of the federal reserve board, conferred today with the President on its program.

Tomorrow's meeting will be of a preliminary character. It is proposed to canvass possible ways in which the government may help to relieve the unemployment situation. Speeding up of public buildings and other governmental construction work, stimulation of similar activities of the states and municipalities, and coördination of efforts of private industry to relieve unemployment are among the phases of the situation to be taken up.

President Hoover had as a dinner guest tonight A. W. Robertson of Pittsburgh, chairman of the board of the Westinghouse company, with whom he discussed the industrial situation.

The President during the day talked on economic conditions with N. A. Perry, Indianapolis banker, and Julian Goldman of New York, president of the Julian Goldman Stores, Inc., which operates sixty chain stores in various parts of the country.

Mr. Perry painted a gloomy picture for the chief executive, telling him that in his opinion "he has three years of depression ahead."

"I also told the President," said Mr. Perry, "that there was too much propaganda regarding betterment of general business and that it is time to depict the actual conditions."

GOOD FELLOWS START CARE OF FAMILIES TODAY

First Hundred Homes Are Placed on List.

The Good Fellows will receive their assignments today in their campaign to relieve suffering this winter among Chicago's 75,000 destitute families.

The Chicago Council of Social Agencies, a clearing house for two hundred charity organiaztions, yesterday received reports on one hundred families recommended for Good Fellow aid. The recommendations were made after investigation by trained social workers of the United Charities, the Central Charity bureau, the Jewish Social Service bureau, and the Salvation Army.

The clearing house of social agencies is being used so that Good Fellow money will reach homes where it is most needed and so that there will be no overlapping of the city's charity efforts. The expenses of administration are being paid by THE TRIBUNE.

The Good Fellows who have mailed donations will be notified how and where their money is to be spent. Those who have volunteered to tide a worthy family through the winter will be notified of the family assigned to their care and of the needs of that family.

In the meantime more Good Fellow clubs are being organized, forwarding their coupons clipped from THE TRIBUNE to the Good Fellow headquarters at 1 South Dearborn street.

Office Girls Send Pledge.

"We girls," wrote an employé in a publishing office, "have put a toy bank beside the time clock to receive Good Fellow donations. When one of us has a lunch date she drops her lunch money in the bank. I'm sure our collections won't fall below $10 a week during the winter. Will you please apply this amount toward the budget of some deserving family?"

This can be arranged.

The manager of a dozen salesmen called at Good Fellow headquarters and said he'll guarantee to care for a family through the winter, providing he can call on the family so he can describe its needs to his salesmen.

"I know that if I can tell my men that little baby John Jones needs some blankets, I'll be able to get the blankets," he said. "All I need is some information so I can make a sales talk to my salesmen."

Large Industries Coöperate.

He'll be notified of a worthy family that will rely on his salesmanship this winter.

Some of the larger industries are coöperating with the Good Fellow movement, organizing their employés, motivated not only by the impulses of charity but also by the economic force that the Good Fellows will have upon society generally.

"The morale of the community is improved by this giving," said an employer of 3,000 men and women. "The loosening of purse strings will help business. It would be a hard winter for every one if those with incomes did not spend, and there are thousands of others with nothing to spend even for bare necessities."

BANDITS KIDNAP GARY EXECUTIVE; USE AUTO TO ROB

Albin G. Witting, chief engineer of the Gary plant of the Illinois Steel company, was freed in South Chicago early yesterday morning after having been held captive for eight hours by bandits. While he was their prisoner, the robbers used Witting's automobile to hold up the Ritz theater in Gary.

Witting was kidnaped by two gunmen in front of a telegraph office in Gary Sunday night. The robbers bound him in the back seat of his automobile and drove away. Witting told the Gary police that while he was helpless in the car while the bandits robbed the theater of $350, and they also committed another holdup somewhere in Calumet.

4,000 Sell Doughnut Tags to Aid Salvation Army

Chicago opened its purse to the Salvation Army yesterday as 4,000 girls and women stood at loop and outlying intersections throughout the cold morning and afternoon and sold doughnut shaped tags. The goal of the taggers was $79,521. If this amount is realized the total thus far of the Salvation Army's drive will be more than $200,000. The entire budget for the ensuing year totals $379,491.

CITY ACTION TO PROVIDE JOBS FOR 1,000 MEN

By the transfer of $390,000 from the Chicago avenue tunnel construction fund to the water pipe extension department yesterday, work was provided for approximately 1,000 men from now until the ground freezes. The transfer was authorized by Ald. John S. Clark [30th], chairman of the council finance committee, who has authority to act on emergency matters while the council is not in session.

The money will be used in laying new water mains in Western and Ashland avenues, giving full time work to 200 employés of the water pipe extension department who have been working only part time. This in turn will allow contractors to complete the paving of Western avenue between Fullerton and Ogden avenues and Ashland avenue between Lake and Cortland streets, on which work 800 men are employed.

Ald. Clark also signed a release on $150,000 to be used in the construction of the Chicago avenue tunnel. The release permits the city engineer's office to continue the employment of 200 men, who have been on the job during the summer, until the first of next year.

Foresaw Hard Times; Left $12,000 to City Poor

Valparaiso, Ind., Oct. 20.—[Special.]—As the result of the will of Herman Kanwischer, eccentric local German, this city's poor will benefit at the rate of $25 a day from the $12,000 estate. Kanwischer left the estate to the poor, predicting hard times were coming. He also provided $10 each for his pallbearers and hack drivers and a keg of beer.

ROBBER SLUGS SALES MANAGER.

Walter E. Reisschneider, sales manager for the Ready Mixed Mortar company, 2533 Wellington avenue, was struck over the head with an iron pipe and stunned yesterday by a bandit who invaded the office and became angered when he obtained only $3 from his victim.

1,015 PLEAD FOR JOBS OFFERED TO TRIBUNE BUREAU

Sally Joy Brown Gets Many Responses.

BY KATHLEEN McLAUGHLIN.

The quarters of the Illinois free employment service at 116 North Dearborn were crowded yesterday following the announcement in SUNDAY'S TRIBUNE that all jobs reported to Sally Joy Brown's department of this newspaper would be distributed from there. At 4 p. m. 1,015 men had been registered.

"Just about as many as we'd register in a week ordinarily," the director of the department commented.

At Sally Joy Brown's desk in The Tribune Tower telephone bells pealed incessantly, and names, addresses, and the type of work offered were busily registered on the prepared blanks. It happened that a reporter was present in the office of Mrs. Lilla H. Walter, acting general superintendent, when one portion of those cards, each representing employment, even if temporary, for some man or woman, was delivered at 116 North Dearborn. Excitement ensued.

Finds System Wonderful.

"Grand, grand, grand!" said the gray haired woman whose troubles these days are mainly concerned with the sparsity of such opportunities in the face of the necessity for them. "Here's a stenographic job—and here's a lot for men. Isn't that wonderful!"

It was. Nearly 100 jobs for men and women were reported during the day to Sally Joy Brown and her assistants, and forwarded to where the hopeful, anxious unemployed waited. To each of those who showed so generous and helpful an interest, THE TRIBUNE tenders its grateful appreciation. And it begs its readers to remember the ratio of those who registered and the number of positions offered—most of which are only temporary.

It doesn't matter what they have done—what they can do. To every question as to the type of work they want, these jobless make but one answer, "Anything." The majority have been out of regular employment for months. Most of them have families to support. In most cases they have been existing because of two or three days' work at a time.

"It's tough," asserted one neat young fellow around whose desk clustered scores of men, hoping for a chance at the next job to be reported. "It's tougher than I've ever seen it, and I've lived all my life in Chicago and been around a lot. When you hand a man a card with an address maybe way out on Milwaukee avenue and he just stands there and looks at it, then you know he hasn't got a dime for carfare. So I dig down and give him fifteen cents so he can at least get back here if the job's gone.

"Half of 'em show up here in the morning without breakfast—they start the day on a cigaret. Then there's some that can't even manage that much. That's why I keep a can of cigarets on my desk, and pass 'em around now and then. You know when a man starts out for a day's work he ought to have something to last him through the day—and some of these men haven't eaten since the day before yesterday.

Loses $15,000 and Restaurant.

"One fellow I placed had a restaurant in Brooklyn not very long ago. Lost about $15,000 in the stock market and closed up without a nickel. He has bad feet and can't do all kinds of work, but he wouldn't accept a penny he hadn't earned. Now he's scrubbing floors and washing dishes in a restaurant for a few dollars a week, and glad to get it.

"But the things people do to these chaps, just because they're down on their luck and they know they've got 'em by the neck. Most of the time if they slipped up once in a job, they'd get a second chance, but now they're let go for the slightest things. A 12 hour job at hard work in a restaurant used to pay $12 or $14 a week. Now we can only get $8 for the same jobs."

Girl Goes Into Hysterics.

Upstairs in the women's department Mrs. Walter told of an English girl of education and background, unable to do heavy work because of an operation some time ago, who had gone into hysterics because she saw a position given out she thought she could have filled.

"She was desperate," Mrs. Walter said. "Later she came and apologized, but we all knew how she felt. Somebody offered her a sandwich, and she was positively ravenous. Another girl, a stenographer, hasn't had more than a few days' work in months. Yesterday I gave her a few street car tokens to pay her fare to a position she was to apply for. We didn't dream she was so hungry, but she went down on the street and tried to sell the tokens to get herself a cup of coffee."

Flies Upside Down with Passenger for 38 Minutes

MUENSTER, Germany, Oct. 20.—(AP)—Werner Weichelt, chief pilot of the local aviation school, today claimed another record for flying upside down. He carried a passenger in this position for 38 minutes, 40 seconds.

BALCHEN WEDS SWEETHEART OF HIS CHILDHOOD

Hasbouck Heights, N. J., Oct. 20.—(AP)—Before Bernt Balchen, comrade of Admiral Byrd in the polar wastes, left his native Norway four years ago he became engaged to Miss Emmy Soerlie of Oslo, his childhood sweetheart. Today it became known that last Saturday he and Miss Soerlie were married.

The wedding was in a church in Coytesville, N. J., and the only attendants were Peter J. Siccardi, chief of Bergen county traffic police, and Mrs. Siccardi. The bride then went to Balchen's apartment near Fokker field here, where the flyer is employed.

They had hoped to keep their secret until Balchen had completed some experimental work he was engaged. Balchen shyly acknowledged their marriage, then dashed away and whisked his wife off on a wedding trip to save her from the publicity he always has disliked.

After returning from the Antarctica with Byrd, Balchen went back to work as test pilot for the Fokker Aircraft corporation and Miss Soerlie came to America to keep the promise she had made in their homeland.

WEYLER, KNOWN AS 'BUTCHER' IN CUBA, DIES AT 92

General Helped Bring On War with Spain.

BY HENRY WALES.

MADRID, Spain, Oct. 20.—Gen. Valeriano Weyler, who earned the title of "butcher" in America 33 years ago for his ruthless campaign against the Cuban rebels and who played a leading part in the entrance of the United States in the Spanish-American war, died here today at the age of 92 years.

Humbled in spirit with the passing years, Gen. Weyler died on an army cot in a tiny, bare room in his residence here. Two chairs and a plain deal table were the only other furniture in the death chamber, and a portrait of the king and a wooden cross the only decorations. His three sons, a daughter and a priest were at the bedside.

Gen. Weyler in a scribbled note last Friday directed a simple, private funeral with no military honors and with only his children and adjutants present.

"Honors Worth Nothing."

"In my time I have seen much of the honors of the world," he wrote, "and I know they are worth nothing."

Consequently, it appears probable he will be buried without pomp or ceremony tomorrow in the family plot at San Lorenzo cemetery, where his wife and a daughter are buried. Spanish law requires burial within 24 hours after death. Before the old warrior's wish became known it had been planned to give him a state funeral with highest military honors.

Gen. Weyler's fortune is estimated to be about $200,000, which his sons and daughter will share.

"THE CUBAN BUTCHER."

Gen. Valeriano Weyler, whose merciless tactics in his attempted suppression of the Cuban rebellion of 1896 won him the name of "The Cuban Butcher," and who was a factor in the precipitation of the Spanish-American war, was born on the island of Majorca in 1838. His grandfather went to Spain with the German army under Joseph Bonaparte and Marshal Soult early in the nineteenth century, and remained there when that army was driven out, retaining the German name of Weyler.

Valeriano Weyler entered military school at Toledo at the age of 15 and was brought up in the tradition of Cortez and Pizarro, the brutal and ruthless generals of old imperial Spain.

Served in U. S. During Civil War.

During the civil war in the United States, Gen. Weyler was a military attaché at the Spanish legation at Washington.

Gen. Weyler had years of experience with rebellion In 1868 he was sent to Cuba to help quell the first uprising. He supported the ruling house of Spain in the Carlist uprising and in 1888 he was sent to the Philippines to put down a native uprising. As captain general of Catalonia he terrorized the anarchists and socialists.

When Marshal Campos, whose treatment of the Cuban rebels was considered too conciliatory, was recalled in 1896, Gen. Weyler was sent in his place and immediately inaugurated a reign of suppression.

Massed Thousands in Camps.

He formed concentration camps and forced thousands of natives to live massed together within prescribed distances of military centers. It is said that more than 200,000 Cubans died of starvation and disease during this period of concentration. For infringements of his stern rule hundreds were shot down.

The storm of indignation throughout the United States forced his recall in October, 1897. Gen. Weyler defended his actions in a book, in which he declared that he "first asked for their submission," before he had any persons killed. Spain welcomed him as a hero.

One bit of tenderness was shown in Gen. Weyler's life. When he was stationed at Majorca he fell in love with an ignorant peasant girl named Teresa Santacana. He married her before his soldiers, and sent her into a convent to learn the social amenities of Spanish official life before introducing her into the society of his fellow officers' critical wives and mothers.

9 NEW POISON LIQUOR DEATHS, 29 IN ALL, IN NEW YORK DISTRICT

New York, Oct. 20.—[Special.]—Fatalities from poisoned liquor during the last week in the metropolitan district reached a total of twenty-nine with the reported deaths of nine men in Manhattan over the week-end. Within the week twenty deaths from wood alcohol poisoning were recorded in Newark, N. J.

Most of the latest victims in Manhattan were found prostrated in lower east side streets in a district where potent liquor finds an easy market.

City and federal authorities have expressed the belief that a new flood of commercial alcohol is being released on eastern seaboard cities and united action is being considered in an effort to trace the source.

"BARE" ESCAPE OF PICKPOCKETS 3 MONTHS AGO

Notorious Thieves Walk Off County Farm.

"It can't be true," said Lieuts. Maurice Byrnes and James O'Brien yesterday when told that William Carey and John Meyers were seen drinking good beer in Montreal last week. "Why, they were sent to the county jail in July for a year!"

It is the business of Byrnes and O'Brien, familiarly known as B. & O., to put pickpockets in jail. Carey is [illegible] years old and has been a pickpocket for most of those years, and so has Meyers for most of his 65 years. Both have been arrested hundreds of times and have served scores of short jail sentences. Meyers was sentenced once to 15 years in Atlanta, Ga., and really served 10 years.

Judge Wonders How.

The lieutenants were not so much incensed, however, that Carey and Meyers should be drinking good beer anywhere as they were at learning the two were at liberty. It wasn't much later that Judge John Sbarbaro was of the same mind. It was Judge Sbarbaro, sitting in the Felony court, who sentenced Carey and Meyers to one year imprisonment.

What happened, the judge and police learned, was this:

The pickpockets were sentenced on July 9 and started serving that day. On July 19 Meyers was transferred to the Oak Forest infirmary. The first day he was gone. On July 30 Carey was transferred to the same place but he at least slept one night at the institution provided for the aged, infirm and tubercular, leaving without adieu next morning. No report of their "escapes" was made to the police.

"Wonder what George Murray, chief special agent of the I. C. will have to say about this?" Byrnes and O'Brien commented. "And those complainants?"

Carey, Meyers and John Evans, who is 40 and has criminal records more than half that age, were caught with a dozen or more pocketbooks on them on a special train about to start for a turnverein convention at Buffalo. Chief Murray and Policemen James Fitzgerald and Richard Cotter of the South State street station, had to rescue the trio from a crowd of enraged and robbed turners whose total losses amounted to $1,200.

The complainants who went to court to prosecute the pickpockets are George Otto, 1607 North Wells street; Charles Wurster, 1414 South Fairfield avenue; Henry Kraft, Hollywood, Cal., and Chris Arndt, 6519 West 33d street. Instead of proceeding under felony charges that would permit penitentiary sentences, the prosecutors elected to make the charge petty larceny and Judge Sbarbaro thereupon imposed the maximum penalty.

Jail Becomes Crowded.

Soon afterward the jail was reported overcrowded and a petition was presented to Judge D. J. Normoyle, then chief justice of the Criminal court, asking permission to transfer some prisoners to the county farm. He signed the order.

"Some one is going to answer to me," said Judge Sbarbaro last night, "the sheriff, jailer or Judge Normoyle. None of them had authority to transfer any prisoner sentenced by me to the county jail."

At Oak Forest it was admitted there are no facilities for keeping prisoners under lock and key.

CRIMINAL COURT.

James Thornton, robbery, sentenced to 1 year to life in the penitentiary by Judge Phillip Finnegan.

Roy Eldridge and Charles Williams, robbery, sentenced to 1 to 20 years each in the penitentiary by Judge E. I. Frankhauser.

Fred Cuadil, burglary, sentenced to 1 year to life in Pontiac reformatory; Alfonso Benkus, robbery, sentenced to 1 to 20 years in Pontiac reformatory; Louis Tussen, larceny, sentenced to 1 to 10 years in the penitentiary; John Fairleigh, crime against children, sentenced to 1 to 20 years in the penitentiary; Sam Freeman, murder, sentenced to 14 years in the penitentiary by Judge Harry Fisher.

BOB ENTERPRISE RECORDS VANISH, ATTORNEYS FIND

New York, Oct. 20.—[Special.]—Records of all but $144,968 of $5,000,000 stated to have been turned over to one of the enterprises of Charles V. Bob, missing financier, seem to have vanished, so far as the aids of Watson Washburn, assistant attorney general in charge of the securities bureau, have been able to determine from their examination.

The reports of the Metal and Mining Shares corporation and the Metal and Mining Shares Founders' corporation, two Bob companies, show that $5,000,000 in good securities was exchanged for stock of Bob's Consolidated Chromium corporation.

Preparations are being made to ask receiverships in the Supreme court in Brooklyn tomorrow for the two metal and mining companies, injunctions to restrain them from the further sale of securities, and appropriate orders to tie up their assets for the protection of the stockholders.

BRITISH POLICY IN HOLY LAND STIRS JEWS; CHIEF OUT

Dr. Weizmann Objects to Palestine Report.

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Oct. 20.—Great Britain outlined its future policy as the mandatory power in Palestine tonight, and no sooner had the document been published than Jewish disappointment and disagreement found expression through the resignation of Dr. Chaim Weizmann, president of the Zionist world organization and the Jewish agency for Palestine.

Both sides of the controversy differ categorically and seem irreconcilable. The British statement of policy is laid down as final and conclusive, and is based on the report on Palestine immigration, land settlement and development, tendered today by Sir John Hope Simpson, government expert.

Jewish Leaders Angry.

The Jewish leaders charge that the statement is a direct violation of all previous agreements and promises of mandate administration.

In a personal letter to Lord Passfield, minister of colonies, Dr. Weizmann declared that the government's declaration, "a censure of the Zionist organization's past work" forced his resignation. The Simpson report, he implied, was bad enough, adding that the statement "hardens opinions into decisions."

The Zionist chieftain, in a prepared statement, said the effect of the report will hinder the campaign for establishing a national home for the people of Israel. He said that the next Zionist congress may go so far as to remove the center of the Zionist movement to the United States.

Refers to League Warning.

"The council of the league of nations at its last session warned the mandatory power against a policy 'aimed at crystallizing the development of the Jewish national home at its present stage of development,' and the council's views was accepted without reserve by the accredited representative of the British empire," Dr. Weizmann said. "But the measures now announced will produce precisely the result against which the league of nations raised its warning voice."

Another difference is the matter of immigration. As expressed in the government's statement tonight Britain is unable, according to the terms of the mandate, to allow further immigration of Jews to Palestine because of the danger of over-absorption of land and unemployment of the Arabs, whose interests it must guard.

"So long as widespread suspicion exists and, it does exist, among the Arab population that the economic depression, under which they undoubtedly suffer at present, is largely due to excessive Jewish immigration, and so long as some grounds exist upon which this suspicion may be plausibly represented to be well founded, there can be little hope of any improvement in the mutual relations of the two races," the declaration says.

Great Brital generally lays the whole of the trouble to the refusal of the two races to coöperate. It emphasizes its duty, as construed by the mandate, to both peoples and its resistance to any measures designed to impose partisanship.

"Threats Are Useless."

The chief problem is security of constitutional development, economic and social development, the statement reads.

"It must be realized that it is useless for Jewish leaders to press the government by threats to conform to their policy in regard to immigration and land development," it continues. "On the other hand, it is equally useless for Arab leaders to maintain their demands for a form of constitution which would render it impossible to carry out the double undertaking of the two peoples."

Development Phases Outlined.

Concluding that its obligations are bi-lateral and that they are "in no sense irreconcilable," the government outlines the provisions of three phases of the development of the mandate.

Following the spanking given at Geneva for allowing the riots at the wailing wall, the government declares "measures have been taken to deal wtih any future emergencies."

The constitutional development includes the immediate creation of a legislative council along the lines outlined in 1922, which was turned down by the Arabs and subsequently withdrawn.

"It will consist of a high commissioner and 22 members, 12 of them to be elective,' 'the government says.

Lacking Farm Land.

Then it turns to the thorny question of economic and social development.

"It now can be definitely stated that, at the present time and with the methods of Arab cultivation, there remains no margin of land available for agricultural settlement of new immigrants with the exception of such undeveloped land as the various Jewish agencies hold in reserve," the proposal reads.

CHICAGO JUDGE HAILS PROGRESS MADE IN HOLY LAND IN 7 YEARS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

JERUSALEM, Palestine, Oct. 20.—Judge Julian W. Mack of Chicago left Palestine today after a three weeks' visit. He expressed surprise at the tremendous development recorded since his last visit seven years ago.

"Palestine Jews are not downhearted," he said. "On the contrary they are more than hopeful. When I get home I will tell Americans what we have seen. There are obstacles naturally, but they will be overcome. All we have to do is work on a sound economic and social basis."

HUSBAND TO PASS ON WIFE'S GUILT IN CHILD MURDER

Denver, Colo., Oct. 20.—(AP)—Authorities tonight sought to obtain statements from Leo O'Loughlin, city detective, that would clear up what part, if any, his wife played in the mysterious death last Tuesday of 10 year old Leona O'Loughlin, the officer's daughter by a former marriage.

If the husband believes his wife is innocent she probably will be released from jail and an entirely fresh start made in the investigation, Detective Chief A. T. Clark said. If the husband thinks the woman placed ground glass in the food she served last Tuesday night, took the child from her bed to a city lake and hit her with an automobile tool, then threw the body into the water, first degree murder will be charged, Clark asserted.

Confronted by a mass of circumstantial evidence that led to her arrest, Mrs. O'Loughlin has steadfastly denied she had any part in the death.

"I Don't Feel Just Right, Doc"

(The Common Way of Describing Acidity)

You're not sick, yet not well. Your stomach isn't just right, you don't sleep well and you tire easily. Your color isn't what it should be and you probably look drawn.

A sort of vague, run-down feeling is one of the first symptoms of acidity. Acidity is due to our unnatural eating, our irregular hours and other excesses. The excess acid upsets digestion and causes putrefaction and fermentation in the gastro-intestinal canal. This frequently results in sick headaches, dizzy spells, "nerves," mental depression and general lassitude.

A remarkable new corrective of acidity has been developed by a famous 100-year-old pharmaceutical house in Germany.

This new, improved magnesia comes in the form of small, white tablets, called Magnesia Oxoids, which do not have to be chewed, but may be swallowed whole. Magnesia Oxoids, upon contact with the acid in the stomach, generate nascent, or active, oxygen. Now, active oxygen, as any doctor will tell you, when generated within the digestive tract does just the things required for acidity. It stimulates the secretions of the alkaline mucus. It checks the putrefaction and fermentation in the gastro-intestinal canal. It stimulates the activities of the intestinal walls and aids the natural movement of the bowels.

All three effects are necessary to the relief of acidity and Magnesia Oxoids supply them in perfectly natural manner.

Make This Acidity Test

See for yourself how much acid has to do with your run-down condition and that persistent feeling of tiredness. Make this acidity test. Get a package of Magnesia Oxoids from Walgreen's Drug Stores, Economical Drug Stores, or any other druggist, today on our money-back guarantee. Take two after each meal. Note the new pep in your pep and vigor. Mark the improvement of your stomach and nerves. If, after taking contents of one bottle, you don't notice a decided improvement in your health, return the empty bottle to the druggist and he will refund your money. (Advertisement.)

ADVERTISE IN THE CHICAGO TRIBU

JOBS, NOT LIQUOR, CALLED ISSUE BY MRS. McCORMICK

Three Meetings Open Her Drive in County.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

Unemployment instead of the liquor issue was declared the leading campaign question by Ruth Hanna McCormick last night in opening her Cook county campaign. The Republican nominee for senator held that jobs, not beer, are the concern of the hour. "The question," said Mrs. McCormick, "is not whether everybody gets a bottle of beer, but whether everybody gets a job."

Mrs. McCormick accused the Democrats of using the wet and dry issue as a "red herring across the trail," and maintained that the remedy for "hard times" is to retain the Republican party in power. Other speakers elaborated on the Cleveland days and the breadlines and soup houses of 1893, and the general argument of the night was that to put in the Democrats would be like jumping out of the frying pan into the fire.

Appears at Three Meetings.

Mrs. McCormick's chief speech was made in the 5th ward at 1440 East 55th street, where Committeeman John L. East presided. After that there was a trip to a rally in the 6th ward home of County Chairman B. W. Snow, in the Trianon ballroom. Earlier the candidate appeared at the Auditorium hotel before the Illinois club, a women's organization.

"Go out and convert your Democratic friends, this is the year to do it," said Mrs. McCormick. "When they talk about hard times, why are we having them? It is a world wide condition growing out of the war. We are finding ourselves confronted by an unemployment situation that is world wide. In England it is ten times greater than ours, in Germany seven and a half times greater.

"Of course the Democrats have to blame somebody, so they lay it at the doors of Herbert Hoover, who happens to be in the White House. They blame him for the stock market crash, which was caused because we went wild on gambling on the stock market. The floods came and they blamed him for them, and then the drought, and he got the blame. You've got to hand it to him, he must be pretty smart.

Conditions Could Be Worse.

"But had it not been for the legislation we passed last session of congress and for the action of the Republican administration at Washington and Springfield, and for the conferences at which Mr. Hoover told manufacturers that wages must not be reduced and as many men must be kept employed as is humanly possible, without these things conditions would be infinitely worse. Not a single one of these wheels would have turned had it not been for the force, initiative, and character of Herbert Hoover."

Mrs. McCormick took up the liquor question.

"Another red herring," she said, "is the wet and dry issue. Don't let anybody in your block get away with that bunk. There is no wet and dry political issue. Let's call a spade a spade. We've got a liquor problem, a social problem. It has nothing to do with politics and we mustn't allow politicians to continue to use it as a football and to blind us to other issues.

Lewis Can't Vote Wet.

"My opponent, Mr. Lewis, says he's wet, whatever that means. He says he doesn't care a rap what the people of Illinois say he's going to vote wet. He wants you to believe that when you put a cross in front of his name and then run home as fast as your legs will carry you you'll find the froth will still be on a glass of beer which has mysteriously appeared on your table. He can't do anything of that sort, of course.

"J. Ham Lewis is awfully smart but he can't vote differently from other senators. No senator can vote wet. All he can do is to vote to resubmit the 18th amendment or not to resubmit, and it then takes three-fourths of the states to ratify. All he means is he will vote to resubmit to the states.

"My position is that I believe in majority rule. In Illinois a majority of the people put the public policy act on the books and under that act three liquor questions have been submitted. On the two national questions submitted I shall cast my vote in accord with the mandate of a majority of the people who elect me to represent them. If I voted otherwise I should deem myself a traitor to representative government, majority rule, and the right of citizens to petition the government."

Doctor to Be Tried in West for P. O. Holdup

Dr. George O. De Moss, alleged director of the Fleagle gang of bank robbers, was ordered removed to Tracy, Cal., by Federal Judge Wilkerson yesterday to face trial on charges of holding up the postoffice there in October, 1928. Four bandits held up the postoffice and obtained $28,000 in cash and stamps. Jake Fleagle, leader of the gang, was killed last week at Bronson, Mo., when he resisted arrest. The other two members of the gang were executed for the robbery of a bank at Lamar, Col.

MUSIC CALLED TONIC TO PUPILS IN BOOK STUDIES

Otto B. Heaton, president of the National Association of Music Merchants, in a speech yesterday before the Chicago Piano club at the Chicago Athletic club, urged that children be taught how to play musical instruments.

"The spiritual, mental, and physical development of our youth has been well taken care of by mothers, churches, and schools," Mr. Heaton said, "but what about the leisure of our people? If, as Henry Ford states, we are on the verge of a five day week, then this query is increasingly important.

"It is not enough to teach a child how to achieve material success. We must teach him how to occupy his leisure time. Educators have discovered that students who work seriously on musical instruments are apt to average higher in their other work than the ones who have never attempted to play.

"I am told by educators that 90.3 per cent of all honor students in the elementary schools in this country play musical instruments."

Unemployment

Times come when the strongest men need the backing of their communities. Such aid goes to the home-owner; the quiet word of endorsement from the butcher, the grocer, the electric light maker carries weight far and near. Home ownership is plain evidence of character and credit. Land is the basis of all wealth.

LEWIS ATTACKS RIVAL ON ISSUE OF WORLD COURT

Senate Nominee Winds Up Downstate Fight.

James Hamilton Lewis, Democratic nominee for senator, wound up his downstate campaigning yesterday at Elgin and Rockford with an attack upon his Republican opponent, Ruth Hanna McCormick. He opens his Cook county activities tomorrow night at a rally at the Chicago stadium.

At Elgin Mr. Lewis addressed a noonday meeting at the watch factory. At the Rockford meeting at night he said:

"Here in her home I beg to correct Mrs. McCormick's many errors on public questions lately put forth by her in the course of campaign speeches.

Misinformed, He Says.

"I sympathize with the lady—because she is so often made the victim of false information and misdirection through her highly paid 'bureau of political guidance and statesmanship.'

"The lady ever speaks of me and the Wilson administration being for the world court. Let me say that the 'world court,' so called, was never heard of in the Wilson administration. I, as senator for Illinois, never was called upon to consider the subject. The court, which the lady insists is an abomination of the devil—was first brought forward under President Harding and it is supported by President Hoover.

Tells His Own Stand.

"For myself, I have opposed the entry of our country at these times of bad feeling and resentment, into any general arrangement of an international nature.

"I again ask the lady: 'Will you not forego ambitions for settling the affairs of the distant earth and come home for a short season to answer the question: Why have you only voted eleven times in all your two years' service in congress to which you were elected?'"

SERVANT WILLS $200,000 FORTUNE TO AID SCIENCE

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 20.—(AP)—A quiet and mysterious 65 year old kitchen steward who for more than 25 years worked in the Detroit club, today became known as a benefactor to science.

The steward, Louis Gedemin, died Friday and left an estate of more than $200,000 to the Harper hospital and the University of Krakow as joint beneficiaries.

POLITICAL NOTES

Ruth Hanna McCormick will be a speaker tonight at a dinner and dance at the Parkway hotel for Louis Nettlehorst, county commissioner and Republican candidate for clerk of the Probate court. Other speakers will be Edward J. Brundage, David E. Shanahan, and Attorney General Oscar Carlstrom.

James Hamilton Lewis, Democratic nominee for senator, is to address the City club at noon today, Francis X. Busch presiding.

Organized labor came to the support of Ald. William D. Meyering, Democratic candidate for sheriff, yesterday with the announcement that Meyering Union Labor club will open headquarters this week in the loop. Patrick Cullen of the stone cutters is its president.

The Democratic organization at a meeting yesterday made final arrangements for the rally tomorrow night at the Chicago stadium, which is to open their Cook county push. James Hamilton Lewis is to be the only speaker.

Chicago councils of the North American union will give a reception tonight at 6315 Yale avenue to Peter M. Kelly, Democratic candidate for county commissioner.

Dr. Lewis K. Eastman is dividing his time between campaigning for county commissioner on the Republican ticket and preparing for the international bicycle races at the Chicago Stadium Nov. 9, of which he is to be an official.

Addressing the Methodist Ministers' association yesterday, E. J. Davis of the Better Government association spoke of Mayor Thompson as leader of "a group of red necked politicians who are squandering the public's funds." "We no longer have two political parties," he said, "the genius of the party in power was expressed by the mayor in conclave with his followers in these words, 'Gentlemen, the more we get together the more there is to divide.'"

Otto F. Reich, Republican candidate for president of the county board, will speak at Oak Park Elks club Thursday night.

The name of Charles E. Peace was ordered printed upon the ballot as Republican candidate for state senator in the 29th district by the election board yesterday. It followed the finding of the Supreme court expunging the decision of the lower court declaring Wallace F. Kirk victor in the primaries over the late Senator John T. Joyce. Mr. Pearce was named for the vacancy by the Republican committee after the death of Mr. Joyce.

Indorsements of the German-American Citizens' league, the German-Austrian-Hungarian society and the Norwegian American club have been received by Albert O. Anderson, Republican candidate for county commissioner.

In recognition of his efforts for sick and disabled veterans, Anton J. Cermak, president of the county board, was presented with a bronze shield last night at the clubhouse of Forest Park post of the American Legion. About 1,000 members of twelve west town posts were present. William A. Schlupp, past commander of the 5th district of the legion was master of ceremonies.

HULL AND BROCK ARE CLEARED BY NYE COMMITTEE

Memphis, Tenn., Oct. 20.—(AP)—The senate campaign funds committee announced tonight, at the conclusion of its public hearings in Tennessee, that it had found no basis for any charges serious enough to disqualify Cordell Hull or Senator W. E. Brock, victors in this state's Democratic senatorial primary.

Senator Gerald P. Nye, committee chairman, who says he holds the ballott sacred, was told earlier in the day how they vote in some rural counties where a cigar box is good enough to receive any man's choice.

The senate campaign funds committee chairman alternately smiled and showed amazement as James M. Chamberlain, chairman of the Democratic executive committee and primary board in Macon county, Tenn., testified that party membership requirements and poll tax payments were waived in the August primary there.

"We never have required poll taxes up there," Chamberlain said. "I've been voting 17 years and never paid a poll tax, and the old men tell me they never have. We just don't do it."

Court Refuses to Rule on Copyrighted Music Rolls

Washington, D. C., Oct. 20.—(AP)—Operators of motion picture theaters and music composers and publishers are not to have the advice of the Supreme court on whether the playing of copyrighted music rolls in motion picture theaters without the consent of the copyright owners constitutes a violation of the copyright laws. The court today refused to review three cases from Texas raising such a controversy.

Outcome of Election Is Hard to Guess.

on behalf of the Republican congressional committee, made a public statement last week in which he expressed the fear that many Republicans would mark their ballots for the Liberal party candidate and let it go at that, thus failing to vote for any Republican candidates. He explained how voters could vote the straight Republican ticket except for Mr. Pinchot and thereby assure their votes for Republican candidates for congress.

Charges Hurled About.

The canvass is being marked by increasing bitterness on both sides. Mr. Pinchot calls the Philadelphia bolters traitors and asserts they are against him because when he was governor he foiled the Philadelphia gang's schemes to loot the state. He says Gen. W. W. Atterbury, president of the Pennsylvania railroad is against him because the road owes the state $9,000,000 in back taxes which Mr. Pinchot purposes to collect if elected governor. He says the power trust and other public utilities are against him because he purposes to stop their robbery of consumers.

The foes of the former governor picture Mr. Pinchot as a reform racketeer. They say that while he indulges in righteous abhorrence of the Philadelphia gang consumed with lust for loot and liquor, he complacently accepts the support of the Pittsburgh gang which is no less venal and no less wet. They assert that while Mr. Pinchot charges the public utilities with buying votes to beat him he is the prospective beneficiary of wholesale vote buying in Pittsburgh with funds raised for his election by the big bootleggers.

Point to Pinchot Bills.

When Mr. Pinchot declaims against the use of money in elections his enemies point to his expenditure of $200,000 in his unsuccessful candidacy for the Republican nomination for senator in 1926, to his expenditure of another $200,000 to win his nomination for governor last spring, and to the expenditure of $400,000 by Senator Joseph R. Grundy in unsuccessfully seeking the senatorial nomination in the same primary, which expenditure also aided Mr. Pinchot by virtue of the common cause made by the two candidates.

It is also charged that Mr. Pinchot when governor did not hesitate to use state patronage to advance his interest in his 1927 candidacy for senator, and that while professing to be bone dry and a vigorous enforcer of the prohibition law, he allowed the saloons to run wide open in the coal mining districts where the clamping on of the lid would have turned the miners against him.

Job Holders Asked to Aid.

For years Mr. Pinchot has inveighed against the practice of assessing job holders or even asking their voluntary contribution to campaign funds. Yet, this year, it is pointed out by his critics, he is endorsing Republican State Chairman Edward Martin's request for contributions from state employés. In pursuance of Gen. Martin's call for funds, State Insurance Commissioner Taggart inclosed in all pay envelopes in his department a request for funds to be sent, not to the state chairman, but to Mr. Taggart, their chief. The anti-Pinchot leaders denounced this practice, calling it as scandalous in its way as Dudley's famous "blocks of five." Mr. Pinchot then repudiated Taggart.

The former governor challenged Boss Vare of Philadelphia to reveal the sources of his income. Capt. Hemphill challenged his millionaire opponent to disclose his investments. Neither of the challenged has complied up to date.

Pinchot Issues Statement.

The public utility and other industrial interests bolting Mr. Pinchot, accuse him of financing propaganda for public ownership of public utilities and of warring on business generally. Mr. Pinchot retorts that he makes no war on legitimate business, only on such business as exploits the public for private gain. He recently issued over his signature his "pledge to the people of Pennsylvania." More than half of this document is devoted to his attack on the public utilities.

FIGHT TO REDUCE PHONE RATES IN SUPREME COURT

Washington, D. C., Oct. 20.—[Special.]—Oral arguments in the Chicago telephone rate case opened before the United States Supreme court today with a vigorous attack upon the company by Attorney George I. Haight, counsel for the Illinois commerce commission, and Special Assistant Corporation Counsel Benjamin F. Goldstein, representing the city.

The two attorneys for nearly an hour presented arguments seeking to show that the telephone company is prosperous and should be compelled to reduce its local call rates in conformity with an order issued by the commerce commission in 1923.

Should the Supreme court reverse the decisions of the lower courts in favor of the company it would not only be forced to lower rates for four classes of coin box service, but also to make restitution to its subscribers the amounts paid to it in excess of the sums chargeable under the order. This fund now aggregates in excess of $11,000,000, exclusive of interest.

DEATHS OF THREE IN BURNING AUTO HELD ACCIDENT

A coroner's jury yesterday returned a verdict of accidental death at the inquest into the deaths of three men who were trapped in their burning automobile Sunday night after it had crashed into an unlighted steel viaduct support in the center of Avenue M, near 99th street. The men were Eugene P. McGovern, 136 West 69th street; Michael Devine of Indiana Harbor, and Stanley Novak, 8414 Saginaw avenue.

City officials said they had received no reports in the last two weeks that the warning light on the viaduct support was not operating.

LABOR OF CITY BACKS PROPOSED TAX AMENDMENT

Sees Better Distribution of Taxation.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

The Chicago Federation of Labor at its meeting last Sunday adopted a resolution "indorsing and approving" the proposed tax amendment to the state constitution. It urged all voters to vote "yes" on the amendment, Nov. 4. The resolution asserted that the Illinois Federation of Labor has put its stamp of approval on the tax amendment.

The resolution was presented by William L. McFetridge, delegate from the school janitors' union, and by Jerry Horan, delegate from the flat janitors' union.

The resolution asserts that "one of the principal causes of unemployment, particularly in the building trades, is the present unfair and inequitable system of taxation in our state that places practically the entire burden of taxation upon real estate."

Prevents Public Improvements.

"Not only has such burden," reads the preamble, "stopped building operations, but it is preventing public improvements of all kinds and will continue to increasingly prevent the development and efficient administration of our public schools."

Another charge against the present tax system reads:

"Because of the heavy tax on real estate, working men and women find themselves unable to build or continue to own their homes; and home ownership is most essential to the stability of any community, as well as the rearing of a family."

Improvement Group Says "No."

The Amalgamated Improvement associations issued an address to the voters yesterday asking them to vote "No" on the tax amendment.

The article contends that "we can never reduce taxes by providing the spenders with more money or more machinery for levying taxes." It asserts that the amendment provides for added taxes rather than a new tax in place of real estate taxes."

"Property owners in Chicago are going to pay 20 per cent more taxes for the year of 1929 (payable next April) than they paid for the year of 1928, and there will be further increases for the years of 1930 and 1931," reads the appeal. "The taxes for this later year will be 40 per cent higher than paid last July.

"Now comes the crowning achievement. The legislature has submitted a proposed amendment to the state constitution which has for its purpose the removal of all restrictions on the taxing power of the general assembly. Vote 'No.'"

Nettelhorst Is Candidate of Athletic Antecedents

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

At the age of 8, Louis Nettelhorst won a North Side swimming championship and fifteen years later he had accumulated a trunkful of medals, double eared loving cups and other trophies of athletic endeavor.

Louis is a county commissioner and is Republican nominee for clerk of the Probate court and in politics his love of sports has brought him the sobriquet "the Flying Dutchman." He has gone in for a long list of games from water polo to pinochle.

Among his political assets he is something of a linguist, and can make campaign speeches in German, Swedish and Polish as well as English.

Father a German Leader.

Louis' penchant for athletics and outdoor sports is inherited. His father introduced physical culture to Chicago public schools. Mr. Nettelhorst, senior, came from Germany with Carl Schurz and the '49ers. He was president of the Chicago Turngemeinde which had headquarters in the old North Side Turner hall, and when he died in 1893, his body laid in state for two days in Turner hall. The Nettelhorst school is named in his memory.

From 1888 to 1892, the senior Nettelhorst was president of the board of education, appointed by Mayor Carter H. Harrison, the elder, on account of his eminence among the German-Americans. He put physical culture into the schools and out of this grew the small playground movement, tanks and gymnasiums in the schools and the present athletic setting.

Notable as Ball Player.

Louis was born 48 years ago and was taught to swim soon after he learned to walk and talk, and at 8 he won a juvenile championship at the old North Side natatorium. In school he went in for track athletics, and also played third base on the Chicago English High [now Crane] school team. Later he was captain of the Mill and Lumber team, twice champions of the Industrial league of Cook county. He also played with the Gunthers. As a bowler, he was president of the Industrial Bowling association for two years.

In politics, Nettelhorst has been with the Brundage Republican group. He was chief deputy Circuit court clerk under Thomas O. Wallace, and in 1926, the first time he ran for office, he was put on the ticket by Brundage for county commissioner and was elected. He has been committeeman of the 50th ward for several years.

High Efficiency Rating.

On the county board Nettelhorst has been chairman of the public service committee, and when the efficiency experts made their report a year or so ago, he was given the highest rating for attendance at board and committee meetings, 98 per cent.

For 21 years Nettelhorst was employed by the Chicago Mill & Lumber Co., and in knocking around picked up a smattering of Swedish and Polish. He talks German as readily as English, while as to Polish he can count fluently up to fifteen and say in Polish, "Good friends, I thank you for your attention."

His son, a third generation Nettelhorst, Louis No. 3, is 17 years old and plays basketball and baseball at Senn High school, where his scholarship has put him among the "5 S" students.

NO AID GIVEN BY WASHINGTON TO NEW YORK G. O. P.

New York, Oct. 20.—[Special.]—As the state campaign swings into full speed with both parties throwing all their reserves and resources into the big push of the final two weeks, the Republicans are met by the singular and discouraging fact that Washington is not lifting a finger to help elect Charles H. Tuttle as governor and save the congressional candidates from this state.

Not a cabinet officer or prominent member of the United States senate or the house is coming into New York to speak for the ticket as far as now arranged. They are going into nearly every other state where the Republican party is hard pressed. Even Ogden L. Mills, under secretary of the treasury, former candidate for governor and for years financial godfather of the city organization, is not expected to speak in his own district, where Mrs. Ruth Pratt is facing a hard fight for reëlection.

for your modern bedroom

The quaint furniture motifs which Breton peasant craftsmen once delighted to carve during long winter evenings, have been singled out as the inspiration for the new Danersk Brittany set. You will find the sturdy simplicity of this furniture exceedingly pleasant and appropriate for masters' rooms, bachelor quarters or guest rooms.

In design and details, the Danersk pieces closely follow the naive Provençal originals. In size and proportion they are adapted to the modern scale of rooms. The hand-line carving is definitely hand-line—done almost free-hand. The finish is pure wax—no lacquers, varnish or other finish is employed.

The oak of the Danersk frames was specially sawed to give the closely grained rist figure prized by connoisseurs. Panels are made of imported English pollard oak, built up to prevent warping and cracking. The carved and moulded posts, and rails and stiles with pegged joints are typical of choice furniture of 1690. The drawer pulls are simplified forms of the more elaborate, old-time French hardware.

This new Danersk group, built by the Danersk colony of Scotch and English craftsmen, embodies the finest joinery that it is possible to offer and still retain modest prices. A livable Brittany group complete for single room can be bought for $561. By the Danersk Plan of Monthly Terms, you may make your purchase out of income.

THE SUPPRESSED STATE PAPERS AND THE NAVAL TREATY.

The state department has made public the papers in the correspondence between the United States and Great Britain concerning, chiefly, neutral rights in the war. They had been withheld so as not to embarrass the negotiations for the naval agreement. The American government evidently believed that the facts they revealed might strengthen the opposition to such a treaty or to the terms which the administration was prepared to make with Great Britain.

Certain other facts must be taken in connection with the withholding of the diplomatic correspondence. One relates to the investigation undertaken, prior to Mr. MacDonald's visit here, of the so-called lobby in favor of the American navy, the investigation which endeavored to retaliate upon Mr. Shearer for his activities in breaking up the Geneva conference and to discredit promoters of American naval interests. Another refers to the decision of the administration that naval advice would not be required at London. It had prevented a surrender of American ideas at Geneva. All told, the series of episodes, in which the withholding of the documents is one, indicates something not unlike a conspiracy to influence public opinion adversely to American naval requirements and national place on the sea and consequently in trade.

The essence of the matter is that neutral rights are what a neutral can successfully assert for itself, and in international trade the assertion is in sea power. Belligerents make no difficulty for British neutrality, but they will make a great deal for any country with a little navy. This fact has been so self-evident in every great war that it is merely emphasized and not disclosed in the released papers. New evidence of it might have had an effect on American public opinion, but the government guarded the papers until the treaty was out of the way.

Great Britain's offenses against American trade were different in kind but not in intent from those committed by Germany. They did not get as much public attention because they were not in appearance ruthless. They did not shock the American people, but they were intended to control American intercourse with other nations, to deflect advantages to British trade and to limit American trade. They were less than they would have been if American support had not been so necessary to Great Britain. The restrictions had the limitations of prudence, but in spite of that and in spite of President Wilson's preoccupation with the allied cause the British acts and orders in violation of international rights were found intolerable by the American state department.

Supplies needed by the United States were restricted not as a war measure but as a means under cover of war of hampering American industry and aiding British. Trade with neutrals which British firms carried on openly or secretly was embargoed as a war measure. British sea power crowded the American government to the limit. That government was disposed to indulge the allied cause to the utmost and the American ambassador in London was in feeling a part of the British government and unwilling even to transmit the protests he received from Washington or to carry out his instructions.

It is not an occasion for astonishment or for particular indignation against the British. A war which might prove to be one of extermination was being conducted against whole peoples as well as armies and the realities compelled each combatant to crowd neutral rights to the wall. Every nation in extremity has taken what it needed where it could get it. There generally is a bill to pay afterwards, but it is thought better to transgress and settle than to be scrupulous in regard of other rights and risk defeat.

The smaller neutral nations in Europe suffered more than the United States, Norway, a sea carrier and trader, particularly. Switzerland forced a consideration of its needs and rights by threatening to open the frontier to the Germans if the allies did not come to reason. The fact that the allies needed America restrained Great Britain from acts quite similar to those of the Napoleonic wars, but there was interference which will not be permitted by a nation able to defend its rights, although they must be endured if it is not able.

What this experience proved again to the United States was that a country gets in the way of rights just what it can command by its strength. People generally lose sight of their common experiences and need to be reminded of them when matters affecting them and related to the past are under consideration. The record of what American neutrality suffered in the great war, before the United States was forced to enter it, was a pertinent thing to the consideration of a naval agreement. It showed the necessity of the navy and its place in the welfare of the nation. It warned against any tampering with this factor in national security.

The government in deciding to delay publication of the papers revealed its fear that public opinion would be aroused against proposals to weaken the navy and that the protest against such a treaty as the administration was determined to make would prevent such a result in the conference. The American experts were almost unanimous in criticism of the administration's intent to abandon the American cruiser program and substitute the British cruiser program for it. The British cruiser type is a commerce raider, operating from the numerous British naval bases. The American government, in treaty negotiations, has not attempted to close these bases in American waters.

A naval discussion emphasizing just such facts as are contained in the papers now made public would have turned more emphatically in the direction of American security, and it was obviously to prevent this and to carry the treaty through that the documents which would have illuminated the points were suppressed.

RE-ELECT JUDGE JARECKI.

County Judge Jarecki, one of the ablest incumbents of that very important office in its history, and one of the most devoted to the public welfare, is now under fire because he has refused to turn over the election machinery to a party faction. It is the first duty of the County judge, his most important and far reaching responsibility, to prevent that. Judge Jarecki has had the courage and honesty of purpose to perform it, and the present assault of special interests upon him will dismally fail if the voters realize its nature and motive.

This is an issue for intelligent citizenship which rises far above party affiliations, and Judge Jarecki's fine service to the cause of honest elections should assure his retention by a large majority contributed by the voters of both parties.

CHICAGO'S GREATEST EYESORE.

On another page of THE TRIBUNE our readers will find a view of the old postoffice site, which, it seems to us, might fairly be called Chicago's greatest eyesore. This mess is depreciating all neighboring property and is a conspicuous blight upon an important district, overlooked by passengers on the Burlington railway and thousands of motorists. A huge pit filled with unsightly junk and stray dogs and cats is not an affliction this city needs, and the federal authorities ought to lose no time in relieving us of it. The service to the city would also be a timely service to men in search of work, an object to which the government at Washington, we are assured, is now aggressively devoted.

AMELIA SEARS.

One of the candidates for the county board seems to us to deserve special consideration by the voters, regardless of party affiliation. She is Miss Amelia Sears, a nominee in the Democratic primaries.

Miss Sears should be placed in the county board because she is an expert in the field which is at all times one of the most important of the board's responsibilities, but is at this time clearly the most important—namely: the administration of the public charities and relief. Miss Sears is one of the important executives of the United Charities and has had an experience of thirty years in civic and relief work, including service not only in Chicago and Cook county but as an appointee of Gov. Lowden in the state department of public welfare. She will bring to the very great and now urgent problem of efficient expenditure not only integrity but knowledge and good judgment, sympathy directed by experience and common sense. It would be a pity to lose the advantage of her character and ability at a time when both are needed more than usual. The blanket ballot is huge and there are names enough on it to confuse any voter. That of Amelia Sears, in the Democratic column for one of the 15 county commissioners, should be specially noted.

PAN-AMERICANISM.

The organization of a Chicago chapter of the Pan-American society is the latest evidence of a rather tardy awakening of our business community to our substantial interest in Ibero-American relations. The moment the Panama canal was opened South and Central America acquired a new importance to midwestern commerce and industry. Before that event we were seriously handicapped as against the coast, both coasts. After it the new markets were a fair field for us and they are destined to an increasing importance.

If we have been slow to realize this, we are at last bestirring ourselves, and we congratulate the representatives of nearly fifty financial and industrial organizations who participated in the founding of the Chicago chapter. It will provide a means of entertaining visitors from our sister American nations, who we hope and believe will come to us in increasing numbers and find a warm welcome. We have much to learn from them, and the exchange of ideas and information will not be unprofitable to them.

Our intercourse ought not to be and will not be a mere matter of dollars and pesos, though our mutual economic profit is a justifiable and desirable objective. But we think the Pan-American society aims also at less material objects, and will try sincerely and earnestly to increase the cultural exchange of the two continents and bind us with ties of understanding, sympathy, and good will. Men of foresight and intelligence in our country and in the Ibero-American republics are growing steadily more aware of the common destiny of our peoples and of the need for the deliberate cultivation of friendship as well as for the development of a coöperation which will be mutually profitable in material things.

"ONLY A STEP TO THE DOLE."

[Kansas City, Mo., Star.]

There are ways of providing voluntary insurance against unemployment. It may be purely personal on the part of the insured. It may be an institutional arrangement under which employés, by agreement, contribute a percentage of their earnings for insurance against idleness. But President Green of the American Federation of Labor is right in his hostility to compulsory insurance, especially under state requirement or auspices. As he says, such insurance leaves "only a step to the dole," and that is something repugnant to the American social system and wholly without reason unless the country should suffer from a vastly more serious depression than it ever has experienced. The dole system, continued long enough, is so contributory to preferred idleness and to satisfaction with mean standards of living as to tend gravely toward perpetuating itself in spite of opportunities for self-supporting employment.

RESULTS OF FASTING.

One can fast for more than forty days with no great harm to his organs individually, or to his organism as a whole. Dr. W. K. Harrison, one of the physicians in charge, sends a newspaper account of a forty-five day fast indulged in by John Griscom fifty years ago.

When the fast began John weighed 197½ pounds. When he took food after the expiration of the forty-fifth day, he weighed 147¾ pounds, a loss of slightly less than fifty pounds. The average loss in weight was 1.1 pounds per day. The greatest loss—5¾ pounds—was on the first day. The loss was greatest during the first week. It ranged through 1½ pounds on the seventh day, 2 pounds on the fourth day, 3 pounds on the second day, to the first day figure already given. After the first week the daily loss was slight, averaging only eight-tenths of a pound. On two days there was a slight daily gain in weight, and on five other days there was neither loss nor gain.

The weight curve was, roughly, as follows: A sharp drop during the first week, followed by a very gradual but somewhat uneven downward curve. Toward the end of the fasting period the daily loss in weight decreases. Griscom drank no water during the first three days of his fast. This accounts for most of the rapid loss of weight during that first period. The amount of water consumed averaged one quart a day. During the first week in which he drank water he averaged less than twenty ounces a day. In the third quarter he consumed three pints daily.

During the first week his pulse was a little fast. After that it slowed down. During the last half his pulse beat was somewhat similar to that of a cold blood animal coming out of a winter layup. The physicians certified that the faster ate no food and that he suffered no bodily harm. He was irritable and he lost weight, but beyond that they saw no ill effects of the experience. In the main, this experiment of half a century ago is in accordance with later, more scientific investigations of fasting.

A fast of about one week causes some loss of weight and some acidosis, and some increase in pulse rate. The loss in weight is not excessive, provided there is a considerable daily consumption of water. The body first burns stored glycogen and water, and then it consumes stored fat. During subsequent days it goes on a cold blooded animal basis and if there be little mental and physical work done there is but little consumption of tissues and loss of weight. Life is not threatened until the period of fasting has gone much beyond forty days. The proteins, and even the fats which form an essential part of important cells, are spared just as long as life can last without using them. Some scientists dispute this last statement, but the bulk of evidence is against them.

It all sums up as follows: Fasting as a method of treatment is of very limited value. On the other hand, it is a rather harmless procedure so long as it does not last longer than, say, one month.

PULMONARY EMBOLISM.

J. S. writes:

1. What is pulmonary embolism and why should this follow an operation?
2. Are embolism and phlebitis the same?
3. Why does phlebitis follow an operation?
4. Is an operation the cause of embolism and phlebitis?

REPLY.

1. A pulmonary embolus is generally a blood clot which, having formed elsewhere, breaks away and is swept by the blood stream to the lung and there lodges.
2. Phlebitis means inflammation of a vein. An embolus is a clot or other solid body which has been carried from one location to another.
3. Clots in veins near wounds sometimes break away to cause emboli.
4. It may have been.

MASSAGE MAY BE HELP.

Mrs. R. D. writes: I fell a month ago and bruised my face. A large clot of bruised blood about the size of an egg formed there. Could you tell me how to treat this?

REPLY.

Had you acted at once you might have lessened the hemorrhage by applying ice for a short time, and then using leeches. There is nothing you can do now except to massage the discolored area lightly every day. That will help a little, but not much. You may expect the discoloration to disappear entirely in time.

NOW, LISTEN, FELLOWS, BE REASONABLE.

Mr. Jouett Shouse, a calm, highly intelligent young man who has followed the situation closely and who would scorn to deceive any one, says that the Democrats will gain 60 seats in the November election, and perhaps 70. Mr. Will R. Wood, also calm, likewise highly intelligent, and who has also followed the situation like a bloodhound and who also would not deceive you, brothers and sisters—no, not for the jewels there be in the world—says, however, that the Republican party will hold its own in the next election and even capture a few seats now held by able-bodied Democrats and that there will be no Democratic landslide. It seems unbelievable that such diametrically opposite statements should be made. Certainly, one of these young men must be wrong. But how could such capable, clear visioned, careful young men as these two make statements like this when it is manifestly impossible for both predictions to come true? Mr. Shouse is, we know, the chairman of the Democratic national executive committee, and Mr. Wood the chairman of the Republican congressional committee; but, boys, you wouldn't make a fool out of us just because of that, would you? Maybe you've both been misquoted. Anyhow, fellows, it simply doesn't seem to us right now that you can both be right.

We laughed one night in Paris,
And watched the Seine, far down,
And all the shine of yellow lights

And heard a Montmartre bell.

I don't know what I wished that night . . .
Or if the dream came true.
My memory's such a fickle thing,
I quite forget. Do you?

LAGNIAPPE.

THAT BED SHEET ballot that will be presented to the Chicago voters on November 4th is a most alarming thing. Maybe it would be better to hand each voter a copy of the city directory and let him run through it and mark off the names of people he doesn't want to vote for.

ANYHOW, we hope prosperity isn't just around the corner. WAIT! You don't know what we mean. What we started to say was that we hope that it wasn't around the corner yesterday, for if it had been it would have been frozen stiff. And then it never could come back. Let this teach you how a perfectly harmless remark can be made to mean something else if you get rude and interrupt.

PRACTICALLY IN THE POT

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

OCTOBER 21, 1914.

DUNKIRK, via London.—The newspaper Nord Maritime says the allies have driven the Germans out of Bruges and are now in possession of the place.

LONDON.—Fighting continued along the whole battle front, from the coast of Belgium to the mountains in Alsace. The statement from Paris said that German attacks on the Belgians on the River Yser failed. This is corroborated to some extent by the Berlin statement, which admitted that a battle had been in progress for three days near Nieuport, close to where the Yser enters the sea. This would seem to indicate that the attempt of the Germans to advance along the seacoast of France to Dunkirk and Calais has been stopped, at least temporarily.

LONDON.—In Galicia the Austrians claim to have repulsed Russian attacks and to have made progress in their campaign to drive out the invaders. An Austrian official report says: "The battles yesterday to the east of Chyrow and Przemysl again were successful for the Austrians. The fighting near Mizynieac was especially severe." The Russians' statement, on the other hand, says they are taking large numbers of prisoners.

CHICAGO.—Mayor Harrison ousted Capt. John J. Halpin as chief of detectives and appointed Capt. W. P. O'Brien to the place. He also removed John H. Tobin, a lieutenant of detectives, whose power was regarded as almost equal to Halpin's, and named Lieut. Charles Larkin to succeed him.

30 YEARS AGO TODAY

OCTOBER 21, 1900.

HARTFORD, Conn.—Charles Dudley Warner, the famous writer, died suddenly of heart disease at the age of 71, leaving Mark Twain the only survivor of the trio that gave Hartford her literary reputation. Some of his principal works were "Baddeck, and That Sort of Thing," "Mummies and Moslems," "Being a Boy," "In the Wilderness," "Captain John Smith," and "The Golden House."

GEORGETOWN, Ky.—Henry Youtsey was declared by a jury of twelve Democrats to be guilty of aiding in the murder of William Goebel, and his punishment was fixed at imprisonment for life. But of his fate Youtsey knows nothing. He lay on his cot in the courtroom unconscious of what was taking place about him. His wife sat by the cot, her husband's hand in hers, as the verdict was read.

BOSTON.—Charles R. Eastman, a Harvard professor, was arrested on an indictment charging him with the murder of his brother-in-law, Richard Grogan, in Cambridge on July 4 last. Eastman and Grogan married sisters, the daughters of the late Alvin Clark, the famous lens maker who constructed the lens for the Lick observatory, and the men quarreled over the management of the Clark estate. However, a sort of peace was patched up and the two were firing at a target on July 4 when Grogan was fatally shot.

PARIS.—Oscar Wilde was taken to a public hospital, where he underwent a surgical operation and is dangerously near death. He is penniless.

50 YEARS AGO TODAY

OCTOBER 21, 1880.

CHICAGO.—Gen. Ben Harrison spoke here at Farwell hall in behalf of the Garfield and Arthur ticket. Despite the fact there was only two days' notice of the meeting the hall was filled with a large and delighted audience. He bitterly assailed the stand of Gen. Hancock and the Democratic party on the tariff.

NEW YORK.—A large audience filled the hall of Cooper Union to hear Henry A. Storrs discuss the issues of the campaign from the Republican standpoint. Gen. Grant was given a great ovation when he appeared on the stage.

CHICAGO.—Huntington W. Jackson, receiver of the Third National bank, sold at auction some real estate belonging to it when the bank closed. Among other parcels sold was what is known as the Hyde Park hotel property, with its riparian rights, which went to Chandler & Co., mortgage bankers, after spirited bidding, for $20,000.

THE GOOD FELLOW IN ECONOMIC THEORY.

Chicago, Oct. 19.—The business depression has made every worker afraid of his job, and a position lost means a long period of unemployment. Such timidity results in conservative buying and hoarding of all reserves above spending for necessities. Every thinking person realizes that such a policy means further restriction of business with jobs more uncertain. However, few people use their heads in any kind of panic. Improvement will not come from an appeal to reason, but rather from pleas to the heart, and that is where the Good Fellows come in.

Charity on a large scale means an increase of buying, necessity buying, it is true, but a beginning toward better business. It is a strange and heartening fact that a man will deny himself customary luxuries through fear of his future but will give freely to the downtrodden with an utterly hopeless prospect. America has always had a generous spirit of giving and an equally zealous desire of getting. Too much of the latter has meant trouble since last November. Perhaps we shall find that the giver is twice blessed after all when both gratitude and better business are his rewards. ROBERT W. SHOEMAKER.

BAD WATERSCAPE IN LINCOLN PARK.

Chicago, Sept. 23.—After hearing many remarks about the Lincoln park water front being spoiled by the stone piles extending out into the lake, I have thought that it would have been far better and as cheap to have built breakwaters, two at least, one from the south and one from the north. I ride back and forth and to me it is a shame to have spoiled our beautiful lake front, the pride of all Chicago-loving citizens. The Lincoln park landscape gardener could not be excelled by any one, but the waterscape gardener has surely spoiled his reputation.

CLARA C. WALLACE.

ALCOCK'S DILEMMA.

Chicago, Oct. 9.—You should not be too harsh with Police Commissioner Alcock for not taking crooked policemen before the trial board at this time. It must be realized that the crooks on the police force who help Capone have usually been the Thompson gang's favorites. Maj. Ames, president of the trial board, is the Thompson-Pike-Ettelson candidate for sheriff at the coming election. To take these police before the trial board now would result in a whitewash. O. L. C.

A FUND FOR THE UNEMPLOYED.

Chicago, Oct. 13.—McCutcheon's suggestion of this morning, "A Panacea or a Remedy?" is very fine. May I suggest that, for one year, the many millions spent on trying to enforce the Volstead act be added to this unemployment fund? SAMUEL ERMAN.

THE HIGH COST OF FLYING.

Winona, Minn., Oct. 15.—In line with your desire to speed up industry, the writer would like to propound the query, What is the matter with the aviation industry? This is a new industry and should be an industry that would grow with gigantic strides in our country, even in spite of the present business depression. May I suggest some of the causes which, in my estimation, are responsible for this condition? I believe the first and foremost cause is the excessive price asked by nearly all airplane manufacturers for their product. Under the present scale of prices they are catering altogether to the few who can afford to buy an airplane instead of endeavoring to aim at quantity production, bringing down their overhead proportionate to the quantity production.

Contributory causes are excessive costs of any replacements. Will give you just one instance: The housing ventura of a carburetor on a radial engine developed a slight crack. This aluminum casting if used on an average automobile would cost possibly $1.50, say even for argument's sake $5. Inquiry at the manufacturer's office of this carburetor elicited the fact that they asked the sum of $65 for this aluminum casting, mind you, with no other parts in same, just a common casting, nothing intricate about it, which you could cover with your hand. It's just a case where you have to have it.

Again, aviation insurance is prohibitory and impossible. Take the matter of crash insurance—the rates are at least from one-fourth to one-third of the actual cost of the new machine; then the plane is damaged over and above five hundred dollars' worth before the insured can make any claim. This provision actually has the effect of inducing an aviator to demolish the machine after a minor accident, or burn it if he carries crash and fire insurance. One remedy which the writer would like to suggest is that our government either furnish aviation insurance to those who are worthy of it or see to it also that insurance rates are quoted that will promote flying. A. M. DARNOC.

RUSSIAN WHEAT AND A HAPPY WINTER.

Joliet, Ill., Sept. 24.—We had a terrible drought this year and now we can buy wheat from Russia. In times like this, thankfulness would be better than condemning and refusing to buy the necessities of life.

With all the millionaire philanthropists, plenty of wheat to buy from Russia, abundance of wool and cotton, empty houses, flats and hotels, overproduction of coal and new oil fields, then why should there be any want of a worthy citizen in this rich American republic, under a Republican administration, which means the welfare and happiness of all? ELMER MARTIN.

BRAZIL MUZZLES BANKS TO SHIELD SINEWS OF WAR

Revolt Fronts Quiet; Rains Hamper Fighting.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, Oct. 20.—President Washington Luis issued a decree today extending to Nov. 30 the banking holiday decreed on Oct. 6. This decree forbade all transactions in exchange of foreign currencies in order to prevent speculation in the national currency so that the government's financial plans would not be hindered in its fight with the revolutionists.

Both the national banks and foreign banks in the capital may, however, transact ordinary business. The purchase of drafts of foreign currency may be done but only through the Banco do Brazil.

Will Fix Exchange.

The national bank will furnish coverage to other banks in order to attend to their clients up to $5,000 daily and the rate of exchange will be fixed by the bank.

The type of transactions to which all other banks are limited is supplying cash to merchants for payment of their employés, purchase of raw materials, and the payment of freight and taxes. The savings banks that have been closed may also resume business.

Play Waiting Game.

[Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.]

SAO PAULO, Brazil, Oct. 20.—Torrential storms in the last few days have so greatly hampered the government troops in the Soa Paulo-Panama sector that both rebels and federals have been obliged to stay close to their camps. The rebels have made no new attempt to rush the federals since the fight on Oct. 16, when they claim their attacks were repulsed with heavy losses at Itarare.

The federals continue to play a waiting game, but despite the handicap of rainstorms patrols are ranging the country and returning with reports that the revolutionists have withdrawn their columns some distance south of Itarare, where they are supposed to be reorganizing for another attack, but that the rebels had abandoned their front line trenches, leaving considerable quantities of rifles, ammunition, and supplies.

Seize Seaboard State.

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, Oct. 20.—(AP)—Occupation of all the seaboard states of Brazil except Rio de Janeiro, Sao Paulo and Bahia was claimed by the insurgents in a statement issued today by their foreign representative here, Lindolfo Collor.

The statement said rebel soldiers from the state of Minas Geraes had occupied the state of Espirito Santo capturing its capital, Victoria, and driving a wedge between the federal states of Rio de Janeiro and Bahia and isolating the northern federal army.

Report Martial Law in Rio.

It is reported fighting was in progress in all three of the states controlled by the federals. Martial law was said to have been declared by the government in Rio de Janeiro and Sao Paulo.

On the southern border of the state of Sao Paulo, the rebels claimed to have driven the federals beyond the Itarare and Paranapanema rivers, which the insurgent troops had begun crossing at various points. The rebels said the federal retreat was so hasty the pursuing forces had lost contact with them.

Senate Postoffice Inquiry Will Open Here on Nov. 6

Washington, D. C., Oct. 20.—(AP)—The senate committee investigating leases of postoffice buildings has fixed Nov. 6 as a tentative date for the opening of hearings in Chicago.

NEW HARBOR LINE MAY DELAY WORK ON OUTER DRIVE

Petition to U. S. Just Getting Started.

Hugh Young, president of the Chicago plan commission, yesterday announced that plans for the $10,000,000 Outer drive bridge at the mouth of the Chicago river were complete and ready for consideration by the Lincoln and south park boards. But actual construction work is threatened with delay.

Maj. Herbert J. Wild, government district engineer, said last night that a petition for an extended harbor line, which is necessary for the southern approaches to the bridge, has not been received by his office. He explained that such a petition would require his recommendation before it is sent to Washington for final approval.

Kelly Signs Petition.

Edward J. Kelly, president of the south parks, said he signed the petition and delivered it to his secretary last Friday. Otto Weege, superintendent of Lincoln park, said that general plans, dependent on the new harbor line, had been established for three years.

Maj. Wild would not indicate his attitude. "Last spring," he said, "some officials of the south parks and other groups consulted me about extending the harbor line some two hundred feet into the lake. Since then I haven't heard a word regarding it."

Linn White, engineer for the south parks, declared that while the war department had approved erection of the bridge he did not favor starting work until the new harbor line is approved. "There would be no use in having the bridge without approaches," he said.

Must Move I. C. Tracks.

The extended harbor line is needed because Field boulevard, a proposed roadway from the south bank of the river to Randolph street, will cut a 100 foot strip through the yards of the Illinois Central. The railroad must move its tracks to the east on a lake fill.

Mr. Young stated the outcome of the petition need not hold up progress. "It will take much longer to build the bridge than the approaches," he said. "Even if permission is not granted, and I do not think a rejection is possible other means of approach could be devised."

WOMAN GOES ON TRIAL TODAY IN FAKE THEFT CASE

Mrs. Laura B. Price, wife of Edwin C. Price, wealthy packer's supply manufacturer, will go to trial before Judge Hugo Friend this morning on a charge of conspiracy in February, 1929, to have herself robbed in order to collect the insurance. The case, which has been continued many times, will be tried by the judge without a jury.

Mrs. Price appeared in court yesterday with her attorneys and announced that she is finally ready for trials.

MINNESOTA GAG ON PRESS GOES TO HIGH COURT

Arguments Will Be Heard in Washington.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 20.—[Special.]—A hearing before the United States Supreme court on the issues raised in the so-called Minnesota "gag" law case, involving the rights of the press, was assured today by an order of the court postponing jurisdiction pending arguments on the merits of the case.

The action of the court means that attorneys will be given an opportunity to present their views before the Supreme court justices, after which the court will decide the question of its jurisdiction as well as the fundamental questions at issue concerning the constitutionality of the Minnesota law. Today's order indicated that the court considers the case of such importance as to warrant at least its time and consideration.

May Suppress Newspapers.

Under the Minnesota law, which has been denounced by the newspapers of the country as a violation of the constitutional principle of the freedom of the press, a "scandalous" or "defamatory" publication may be abated as a public nuisance.

Although the case originated with the suppression of the Saturday Press a Hennepin county, Minnesota, weekly, it has attracted nation-wide attention through the action of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE in carrying it to the Minnesota Supreme court and continued sponsorship of the fight by the American Publishers' association on the ground that the "gag" law is a menace to the press of the entire country.

J. M. Near, appellant, was a copublisher of the Saturday Press, which printed nine issues between Sept. 24 and Nov. 19, 1927. It was suppressed under the "gag" law by a temporary restraining order issued by the District court of Hennepin county.

Lower Courts Uphold Law.

The defendants demurred to the bill of complaint and argued that the law violated the guaranty of liberty of the press in the constitutions of both the state of Minnesota and the United States. The trial court overruled the demurrer and certified the question of constitutionality to the state Supreme court, which held that the statute does not violate the Minnesota constitution.

Subsequently, following a final judgment in the lower court against the paper, the state Supreme court held that the statute does not violate the United States constitution and confirmed the lower court judgment. The case was appealed to the United States Supreme court April 2, 1930.

In their brief, Attorneys Kirkland and Latimer declared that "the Supreme court of the United States has never passed upon the precise question here involved, this is, the right of a state to declare a newspaper a nuisance and wholly abate it, but this court in the so-called 'syndicalism cases' has thrice held that freedom of speech is protected by the 14th amendment; and the so-called foreign language act cases are analogous."

Chicago Youth Killed on Duck Hunting Trip

Frank Koranek, 25 years old, 1440 West 18th street, was shot and killed yesterday in what is believed to be the first fatal hunting accident to a Chicagoan this season. The accident occurred on the Illinois river, near Bureau, Ill., where he was hunting with a party of friends. They had just arrived in a "blind" when a flock of ducks flew into sight. In reaching for his gun, the weapon was in some manner discharged and he died almost instantly.

Vote to Extend Time on Franchise.

The council local transportation committee unanimously instructed Chairman Joseph McDonough yesterday to have an ordinance prepared giving the new transportation company until Jan. 31 for its acceptance of the franchise which was approved by the voters on July 1. The present time limit for acceptance expires Oct. 28. The car companies, through Britton I. Budd of the "L" and Guy A. Richardson of the surface lines, had applied for an extension to March 15.

It is understood that Mayor Thompson objected to the longer extension Anyway, Ald. Oscar Nelson, the mayor's floor leader in the council, made the motion for the Jan. 31 date. He argued that by giving a short extension more pressure would be put upon the companies to consolidate and thereby obtain improvements in transit facilities sooner. The council will meet tomorrow to consider the extension ordinance.

May Need More Time.

President Melvin A. Traylor of the First National bank and the committee's attorney, Walter L. Fisher, were unable to assure the committee yesterday that the proposed extension would be sufficient. President Eugene Stevens of the Continental-Illinois bank and Harry L. Stuart of Halsey, Sturt & Co. and Chairman James Simpson of the citizens' transportation committee spoke in favor of the extension.

Mr. Stuart said the chairman of each of the 15 protective committees, except those representing the participation certificates of the west and north side lines, have agreed to a plan of merger.

Impasse Is Reached.

These certificate holders have been offered $3,700,000, while they claim they should have $19,000,000 in assets. It is considered impossible to reach an agreement with them.

The merger plan will be promulgated as soon as an audit can be made and the plan reprinted.

STORE OWNER SHOT WHILE HE RESISTS HOLDUP

Arthur Gracarski, 40 years old, was shot twice and probably fatally injured last night when he attempted to battle two bandits who held up his drug store at 6058 Fullerton avenue and took $15.

Gracarski told Cragin police, who took him to Belmont hospital, that after robbing him the bandits had been delayed in their getaway by a door that is hard to open and that in the confusion he had made a dash for his own pistol.

As he grasped the gun one of the bandits opened fire, wounding Gracarski in the abdomen and right thigh. Gracarski says he fired four shots at point blank range and is certain he wounded one of the men, who he says was assisted from the store by his partner. All hospitals were asked to keep a lookout for a man seeking treatment for gunshot wounds.

PACKERS DENY DROUGHT FEARS OF MEAT FAMINE

There is no danger of a meat famine in the United States in spite of the shortest corn crop in twenty-nine years and a summer drought that depleted feedstuffs. This was the declaration of speakers at the annual convention of the Institute of American Meat Packers, in session at the Drake hotel, yesterday and continuing today.

Most meats are wholesaling from one-fifth to one-third lower than they were a year ago, declared William Whitfield Woods, president of the institute.

Some increased demand for meats has raised prices from their lowest levels of two months ago, but they are still substantially lower, he added.

According to E. S. Bayard, Pittsburgh farm editor, farmers have found other feeds than corn and are going ahead feeding livestock to maturity without the violent upset in marketing procedure feared by Secretary Hyde.

Sailor Who Left for Europe in 1928 Safe as Sloop Sinks

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PANAMA CITY, Oct. 20.—Joseph Blazek, Czecho-Slovakian, who started for Panama in the fall of 1928 with the intention of sailing his 266 foot sloop Diogenes from San Diego, Cal., to Czecho-slovakia by way of the Panama canal, up the Mississippi to Chicago, and through the Great Lakes, was wrecked off the coast of Morros Negritos, Panama, yesterday. He swam ashore and was found half starved.

THE INSIDE STORY of your mouth...

Outwardly, to the rest of the world, your mouth ... speaking ... smiling ... tells one story. Inwardly ... to you it tells another. They see loveliness outside ... shapely lips, white, regular teeth. But only you can know if cleanliness reigns inside.

The inside of your mouth is as exposed to soiling influences as the skin upon your face. Dust ... foreign particles in the air ... eating and smoking have their effect upon the membrane lining of your mouth. If you could turn your mouth inside out you would give it the same cleansing care as your face and hands.

"Unclean Taste", particularly in the morning, is a warning to be heeded. End it ... keep the mouth clean with GLYCO-Thymoline.

A GLYCO-Thymoline mouth-rinse bathes the tissues, floods through the crevices between the teeth and flushes out foreign particles, expels dry, clinging mucus. It neutralizes harmful acids, and deodorizes, not merely disguises the breath. As a gargle it helps guard your throat from common coughs and colds—keeps the voice clear and free from "huskiness". Prescribed by physicians and dentists for over thirty years. Just say "GLYCO" to your druggist.

OUR ETHICS

Every case taken is handled under the personal supervision of the Founder of the WELLINGTON INSTITUTE, who watches the progress of each case himself. This is his eighth year of continuous service to the Chicago public here in the loop.

We have no other office. No "chain" of offices, with other people in charge. We are not commercialized. The same specialist is here year after year.

Our treatment must recommend itself. We have no selling talk. Your scalp is carefully examined and its exact condition explained. We do not sell any manufactured product, or even ask if you will return for further treatment. Our facilities are extensive, our whole Institute surgically clean and hygienic to the last degree. Our operators have been with us for years. We administer one full half hour demonstration treatment without charge, and you decide at your leisure about further service.

Ultra-Violet Ray Treatment
Under the Mercury Quartz Lamp, $1.50
This Ultra-Violet Ray Treatment, however, is only part of our Complete Scientific Treatment. For cases of "oily hair" it is sometimes used by itself.

For dry, tight scalps; brittle, falling hair; itching or baldness, the Ultra-Violet Ray treatment is followed by vibratory and hand massage to loosen the scalp and increase circulation; by the gentle application of high frequency current to electrify and tone the muscles and tissues, and whatever is required of ointments or stimulating and nourishing medicaments. These are applied to the scalp (not the hair) and gently warmed into it by the rays from the Infra-Red Lamp.

THIS COMPLETE SCIENTIFIC TREATMENT attacks the disorders of the scalp from every angle, and leaves it all aglow with increased circulation, soft, pliable, free from dryness and tightness, and with a wonderful feeling of increased vitality. This complete treatment, Including the Ultra-Violet Ray, is $3.50

MOSCOW HALTS EMIGRATION TO U. S. TO 'CASH IN'

Seizes Relief Funds Sent by American Relatives.

BY DONALD DAY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIGA, Latvia, Oct. 20.—Emigration from Russia has ceased completely, and the soviet government frankly admits that it has discovered it more profitable to keep would be emigrants at home and forcing their relatives in America to send monthly remittances averaging $40 a month to keep them from starvation than to let them leave.

The American consulate here has a waiting list of more than 80,000 names of prospective emigrants, but officials report that most of Russia's scanty quota of 2,000 is being allotted to Russians living in other countries, and weeks pass without a single emigrant arriving from Russia for a visa.

Steamship Lines Close Offices.

Thirty of the world's largest steamship companies, which a few years ago paid fancy rents for offices near the American consulate, have reduced their staffs and combined their offices. Some are closing their offices entirely.

Officials of American lines estimate that the soviet government is receiving more than $2,000,000 monthly from remittances of relatives of Russians living in America. These are paid out in Russia at the rate of two worthless rubles, whose purchasing power is only 6 cents on the dollar.

Red Agents Free to Go.

Six years ago a group of steamship lines paid Russia $50,000 each for the privilege of opening an office in Moscow. When the soviets organized their own transportation company the lines were forced to abandon their offices, but some managed to maintain agents under an agreement that they would pay $100 for every emigrant ticket sold. Today only one British line is doing business in Moscow and it is planning to leave at the end of the year.

The only Russians now leaving for America are communists who are being sent for propaganda purposes. They are obtaining their visas from the American consulate in Berlin.

Moslems and Hindus Split on Form of Rule for India

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Oct. 20.—Coincidental with the arrival of the Indian delegates to the round table conference here comes news of a split between the Moslem and Hindu communities in India, which illustrates the difficulty of working out a new constitution for India which will be acceptable to both religions and will not contain germs for future quarrels which may destroy the new state almost in its inception.

The Messrs. Jinnah, Mahomed Ali, and other Moslem delegates announced today that they will be satisfied with nothing less than their famous 14 points—since the Versailles treaty 14 seems to be a sacred number for treaty points all over the world.

What Points Provide.

Among these points are demands for a clear majority of Moslem representatives in the provinces of Sind, Baluchistan, northwest frontier, Punjab, and Bengal; full provisional autonomy, with no power of revision or control for the central government; continuation of a privilege obtained 15 years ago of greater representation than the rest of India, which was accepted by the Hindus in return for concessions in districts where the Moslems were in majority. The Moslems also claim a share of public offices and ministerial posts. They are said to be supported by the princes, who want similar concessions for their states.

The Hindus, who had hoped to secure a united front, are disappointed but refuse to make any concessions, claiming that they ought to rule by right of majority and insist that the federal government, which they expect to control, should be supreme. They are now afraid the British government will take advantage of this division to justify retaining a viceroy and have nominated a council to have the final word on questions which might be classed as inter-communal.

15 Hurt in Clash With Police.

BOMBAY, Oct. 20.—(AP)—Fifteen persons were injured, three seriously, when polce charged into a crowd of demonstrators on the Chaupati Sands today.

FRANCE OPENS PROBE OF FAKE FINANCE PANICS

Suspects World Ring of Market Gamblers.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Oct. 20.—A "bear hunt" opened here today, with the French police hot on the trail of a gang of international market marauders whom they suspect of operating "factories" for turning out fake financial panics here, in New York, and other world capitals.

The action of the French police parallels the investigation being conducted by President Hoover to determine how the wave of short selling which is menacing the stock exchange may be checked, but it is much more drastic and far reaching since France possesses a specific section of the penal code applying to financial ghouls who deliberately undermine public confidence in times of depression in order to fatten their own pocketbooks.

File "John Doe" Complaint.

It is under the terms of this law that the minister of finance instructed the public prosecutor to file a complaint charging illicit stock manipulations against "John Doe." This move created a stir in financial circles here, but a veritable sensation was created today when Prosecuting Magistrate Bracke divulged the full scope of the investigation.

It was originally supposed that the finance minister's initiative would be directed chiefly at the source of the uneasiness manifested by the Paris bourse last week and the rumors being circulated about a number of small banks that are known to be in a difficult position.

According to information obtained tonight, however, this will form only a small part of the inquiry. According to the informant, who is close to official circles, Magistrate Bracke will question not only leading brokers and bankers, but even the editors of financial publications and reporters for newspapers and agencies in an effort to determine whether the alarmist rumors arise spontaneously around the bourse or whether they are the deliberate work of a syndicate with connections in other countries.

Will Investigate War Scares.

The reasons for the appearance of unsubstantiated stories in newspapers calculated to arouse war scares also will be thoroughly gone into. The police will try to determine, for example, how the day after the German elections a report was telephoned by the Geneva correspondent of a central European news agency that the Italian minister to Belgrade had been assassinated, and a similar story was spread around France about Foreign Minister Briand being shot at Geneva.

Another matter to be taken up will be exaggerated accounts in French papers recently declaring the crash of last October was being reënacted in the New York stock exchange, and the fiery editorials printed in certain journals about French investors who had lost their savings playing the American market.

DIES IN FIRE IN HOME.

Peoria, Ill., Oct. 20.—[Special.]—Mrs. Cynthia Burton, 80 years old, was burned to death in a blaze which destroyed her home today.

BLACKHAWKS SHIFT TRAINING SITE TO CHICAGO

ARRIVE TODAY FOR WORKOUTS; OPEN ON NOV. 16

Ban on Incoming Players Lifted.

Fear that the cold wave which has hit the United States may continue and retard the Blackhawks' hockey team in its pre-season conditioning caused Maj. Frederic McLaughlin to order the team from its Tower, Minn., camp yesterday.

Manager Bill Tobin will head the squad of seventeen which will arrive in Chicago this morning. They will be quartered at the Midwest Athletic club for a week's workout before taking to the ice on eastern rinks for skating and exhibition practice. They open at the Chicago Stadium against the New York Rangers Nov. 16.

Here's Team Makeup.

The team consists of Coach Dick Irvin, Trainer Emil Iverson, Goalie Chuck Gardiner, Mush March, Leo Couture, Stew Adams, Frank Ingram, Vic Des Jardins, Doc Romnes, Vic Ripley, Ty Arbour, Norman Locking, Roger Jenkins, Tommy Cook, wing men, and Cyclone Wentworth, Teddy Graham, and Helge Bostrum, defense men.

Yesterday the department of labor at Washington raised the ban which has detained Johnny Gottselig, Art Somers, Duke Dutkowski, and Earl Miller at Winnipeg for a week and the four are expected in Chicago later today.

The difficulty which held up the entry of hundreds of professional hockey players into the United States centers in the contract labor law, which prohibits the importation of contract labor. It revolves about an issue which will determine whether a hockey player is an artist or a laborer, the former class being exempt from the labor law.

Buy Two from Saints.

Des Jardins and Romnes were purchased from the St. Paul American association team, which placed all of its players on the market when it withdrew from the association two weeks ago. They were the leading scorers with St. Paul. Des Jardins, who plays center, was the mainstay of his team. For the last three seasons he led all American association players in scoring. Doc Romnes was recognized as the most versatile player in the league, playing every position except goal.

Norman Locking, a 19 year old amateur, comes to the Hawks on recommendation of Teddy Graham, who pronounced him the best skater and stick handler in and around Toronto and Owen Sound the last two seasons.

ANSWERS HOCKEY CHIEFS

The American Hockey league, through its president, William F. Grant, yesterday answered the action of the National Hockey league in branding the former organization as an "outlaw league" at its meeting in Toronto Saturday.

The establishing of the Shamrocks, American league club in Chicago, did not violate any territorial agreement with the National league, Grant said.

The refusal of the American league to renew a three year agreement with the National circuit brought about the outlaw charges issued by Frank Calder, president of the National league, according to Grant. The American league also objected to Calder's serving as commissioner of hockey when he was also president of the National league.

"The American league had a three year agreement with the National league which expired on Sept. 24, and directors of the American league decided that if a new agreement were entered into certain objectionable features of the old agreement must be obviated," Grant said.

"Our league felt that the draft was unjust and also that it was unwise to have the president of the National league acting as a 'commissioner of hockey,' to whom all disputes, whether involving National league clubs or not, were referred.

"Our club owners are responsible business and professional men. We intend to operate independently and will respect the rights of other leagues as regards legal contracts."

NEW ICE COACH

Touchdowns Are a Habit with Baker.

Frank Baker, Northwestern's flashy end, who at the close of the first three weeks of the football season finds himself leading the Big Ten in scoring with 24 points, apparently is on the way to duplicating some of the feats which made him a noted prep star.

The Wildcat flankman has scored four touchdowns this season, three against Illinois and one against Ohio. Ordinarily high scoring honors are acquired by a back field man, but Baker has flashed into the lead due to his uncanny ability to snare the oval. A certain amount of credit also is due Pug Rentner, sophomore full back, who hurled the passes.

Honors of this nature, however, are not new to Baker. In fact, he probably is the only high school player who ever won all state positions in three different states during his prep school career.

Started at Norfolk, Neb.

His father, Frank L. Baker, is a master mechanic for the Chicago Northwestern railroad and consequently has been forced to move from one point to another along the road. As a result Frank spent his sophomore year at Norfolk, Neb., where he started out at end on the team which won the state championship.

Next season found him living at Huron, S. D. The football team lacked a full back and Frank was given the job. The team didn't win the state championship but Frank scored more points than any other player in the commonwealth.

His final year in high school was spent at Cedar Rapids, Ia., where he gained renown in three different sports. He went back to his old position at end and scored 10 touchdowns for a total of 60 points which again gave him high point honors in the state. The team was coached by Billy Kelly, captain of the University of Iowa team of 1921. The Cedar Rapids team with Baker as its leader had little trouble in capturing the state championship.

On Cage, Track Teams.

In addition to starring on the football team he also played on the basketball team as center. This team won the state championship also, and Baker acquired another all state position.

At the Drake relays in 1926 Baker was anchor man on the quarter and half mile relay teams which established world's interscholastic records in both events. Frank played freshman basketball at Northwestern, winning his numerals. An injured leg sustained in his sophomore year caused him to give up then.

At the present time Frank calls Milwaukee his home, for it is there that his family is now residing. His mother and father and younger sisters were among the spectators who saw him snare three passes and run for touchdowns.

Frank has the ideal build for an end. He is 6 feet 3 inches tall and weighs 178 pounds. According to Coach Dick Hanley he has no apparent faults in playing his position. He has a knack of evading blockers and getting at the ball carrier which makes the job look easy. He is a deadly tackler.

Frank is a student in the commerce school and intends to enter business when he finishes college next spring. He is a member of the Phi Kappa Psi fraternity.

YALE BACK LOST TO TEAM AFTER EYE OPERATION

Snead has the best athletic record of any athlete now in Yale, not excepting Albie Booth.

LEADS SCORERS

Donie Bush Neutral Fan at This Game

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Donie Bush, manager of the White Sox, was in Chicago yesterday. Donie saw the Notre Dame-Carnegie Tech game at South Bend and dropped off here for a brief business visit before returning to his home in Indianapolis.

DONIE BUSH.

"When I was in Pittsburgh my good friend, Judge Steffen, let me sit on the Tech bench at all the big games," Donie said. "Since I came to the Sox I've got acquainted with Knute Rockne and I think he's a swell guy, too.

"So this year I was neutral when my two friends matched their teams. And it's a good thing I was, for those Pittsburghers would have called me poison if I had been on their bench Saturday."

Speaking of Notre Dame, here's a letter from Tad Walsh, a Notre Dame alumnus of several years back, anent Schwartz, the young man who had a field day at South Bend last Saturday. The letter:

"Marchie was named after a race horse. Drop a line to Marchie's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Schwartz of New Orleans, and they will be glad to give you particulars of how, when they were younger, they liked to go to the races, and how a horse called Marchmont stood out over all the rest one year—the year Marchie was born. They'll tell you all about how they happened to name their boy Marchmont."

"I see you've got a piece in The Tribune about the Iowa and Purdue coaches singing the blues," said George Kohler, proprietor of the Jefferson, Iowa City's biggest hotel, last Saturday. "If you want to hear some real blues singing, hang around me for awhile. The pantry's full of victuals, and half of them won't be eaten, all on account of the blight the Big Ten put on Iowa."

There's no question that Iowa is terribly upset about the way things have been going. One of the more enthusiastic of the Iowa alumni went out to hunt rabbits the other day. He saw a rabbit, blazed away, and killed his $500 dog.

Coach Nobel Kizer of Purdue has a one year old son. The kid's birthday fell on the day of Purdue's 14 to 13 defeat at the hands of Michigan. It is said that that night Nobe wired the missus to make the infant go without its supper.

The state of Indiana remains faithful to the literati. Indiana university, though far south, has had a glass inclosed press box for five years. Purdue added a new shelter this year, and the press box at the new Notre Dame stadium is the finest and most comfortable in the land. On the other hand, the boxes at Minnesota and Michigan, in the arctic circle, are so arranged that no wintry blast can miss the typewriter manipulators.

"Shiver and like it, and may your inspired words become icicles," is the slogan at these two frigid plants. And they like to see the authors' fingers stiffen at Wisconsin, too. In addition to the Indiana trio's concern about the comfort of the press, Ohio, Illinois, Chicago, Northwestern, and Iowa also have a heart.

TEMPLE, MAROON BACK, OUT WITH TWISTED ANKLE

Joe Temple, Maroon varsity full back, suffered a twisted ankle in the Florida game and may not be in shape to meet Mississippi Saturday. Two defeats have made Chicago the more determined to turn back the southerners. Midway supporters feel that if Chicago can eke out a victory this week-end, it will have an even chance against Princeton Nov. 1.

Wolverines Show Smart Passing Attack.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

By its victories over Purdue and Ohio State, Michigan has served notice it must be counted in the race for the conference football title. The Wolverines' remaining games are against Illinois Saturday, Minnesota Nov. 15 and Chicago Nov. 22.

Earlier in the season Michigan was ranked in the second flight of contenders largely because it seemed that Purdue and possibly Ohio would win. Now that these teams have failed to stop the Wolverine, Michigan's chances are equal with Northwestern's.

Ranked with Wildcats.

Using Ohio State as a medium for comparison, Michigan ranks on a par with the Wildcats. Northwestern defeated Ohio State, 19 to 2. Two touchdowns were scored on forward passes. The third was produced by an intercepted pass. Both Michigan scores against Ohio last Saturday were traceable to forward passing.

Michigan has a defensive line of first rank. Its back field blocks well on attack and Roy Hudson is more than an average plunging full back. Harry Newman, passer, place kicker, and open field runner, is the key to Michigan's hopes. Michigan's attack against the Buckeyes was intelligent. It involved deception, which produced the second touchdown after a pass had brought the ball within scoring distance.

Michigan does not play a spectacular game. When the offense had run up a 13 to 0 lead in the opening minutes of the third quarter Michigan played safe thereafter. An example was when Michigan, on Ohio's 34 yard line, punted on second down with seven yards to go just before the third period ended. The kick went over Ohio's goal line for a touchback, a gain of only 14 yards.

Forego Scoring Chance.

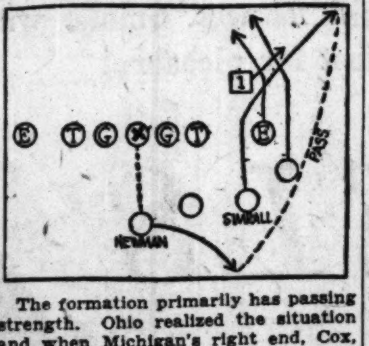
However, had Michigan continued its drive, after one more play when the fourth quarter started, it would have been forced to kick against the wind. Rather than do that, Michigan kicked on second down, foregoing its touchdown opening.

Michigan's first touchdown was produced by a forward pass, which gained 53 yards and placed the ball on Ohio's one yard line. This pass, which also scored against Purdue, is diagramed as follows:



The formation primarily has passing strength. Ohio realized the situation and when Michigan's right end, Cox, and the two backs, Wheeler and Simrall, started down field three defensive men prepared to cover them man for man. However, Cox and Wheeler cut to the left, momentarily blocking the Ohio man [No. 1] who waited to cover Simrall.

Newman Passes to Simrall.

Simrall cut to the right and got ahead of him. Newman passed about 35 yards to Simrall, who was downed on Ohio's one yard line. The timing of the play was excellent.

Michigan's second touchdown, scored

BIG TEN TITLE.

OF THE four unbeaten elevens in the Big Ten, Michigan on its remaining schedule has the greater percentage in its favor of coming through with a clean slate. This is said with due respect to Northwestern's Wildcats which at this writing probably are clawing more viciously than the Wolverines.

Michigan has Illinois, Minnesota and Chicago yet to play on its conference slate. Given a capable field general and 1.000 per cent standing at this stage of the race, the Wolverines, with their penchant of recent years for coming strongly at the end, are a hardy outfit for any opposing young gentlemen to take. Furthermore, Illinois and Chicago are having off years. Minnesota has been difficult to score against, but has yet to show a formidable attack. It may have it by Nov. 15 at Ann Arbor.

Now let's look at the others. Northwestern meets Indiana, Minnesota and Wisconsin. Scouts reported Indiana looked better against the Gophers than at any time previously. Minnesota has a rugged line and a good defense against passes, but is not as versatile as the Wildcats. Wisconsin's capable line is not equal to that of Northwestern's as a whole, although it has a couple of spots which stand out. No one back is equal to Bruder, but numerically it has more capable back field men than the Purple.

What about Wisconsin? Purdue, Ohio, Northwestern, and Minnesota are all the Badgers have to take to maintain a spotless record. Three of those four are the strongest in the conference. Keyed for Pennsylvania, which probably was overestimated, by their own ambitions if not by their coach, Wisconsin steps right against Purdue, which lost by only one point to Michigan. It's anybody's ball game. Wisconsin thus is asked a Herculean task and strictly mathematically the odds are against performance.

Minnesota likewise has a task in meeting Northwestern, Michigan, and Wisconsin, three leaders. That's tough enough for any one. At this writing, the Gophers would not be favorites against any of the trio, although they might win any one of the games. Beating all three is too heavy a task and is not expected, even at Minneapolis.

Shadows.

I am in love with shadows on the lawn
That move across the walk and then are gone,
Where fiery sunlight breaks through crystal air
There are two melodies and tunes that flare
Against the butterfly and silent bird.
The beating echoes close again and, stirred
By sunlight, leave a cooling memory—

Too often when a shadow hovers near,
A heart will stop, anticipating fear,
But in that darkness, substance of a thought,

BODY BLOWS ARE FATAL TO N. Y. FIGHTER

New York, Oct. 20.—[Special.]—Carl Baldus, a pugilist of the Bronx, was pronounced dead by Dr. Winters of the Harlem hospital about half an hour after Baldus had participated in a boxing contest with Larry Hogan, colored boxer of Harlem, at the New Lenox Sporting club tonight.

After futile attempts had been made by the boxing commission doctor to revive Baldus, who had suddenly collapsed after taking severe body punishment in the third round of a scheduled four round bout, Baldus was carried from the ring unconscious. He was taken to his dressing room, where members of a police emergency squad worked over him with oxygen and pulmotors for half an hour, without reviving him.

BARNARD PLANS TO OPERATE ON BASEBALL CODE

Would Eliminate Rule on Sacrifice Fly.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Ernest S. Barnard, president of the American league, will endeavor during the coming winter to eliminate some of the freak rules now prevailing in baseball. He is going to inaugurate a campaign aimed at doing away with the present sacrifice fly rule, which is merely a device to promote batting averages. With the lively ball in existence, averages already are all out of proportion.

A sacrifice fly under the system now in use is credited to a batter whenever a runner or runners advance a base after a fly ball is caught, whether it is fair or foul. It is possible, and has happened frequently, for a batter to be given a sacrifice fly, thus escaping the charge of a time at bat, on a ball caught back of the home plate by the catcher.

Calls Rule Absurd.

"The sacrifice fly is one of the most absurd rules in baseball," said Barnard yesterday. "Almost every time one is hit it is merely a stroke of luck. The batter goes up and swings, and if he is lucky enough to hit a long fly that advances a base runner, he is credited with a sacrifice and no time at bat. The batter isn't up there trying to hit a long fly ball. He is trying to produce a base hit. Hitting a fly isn't a matter of skill and therefore it is folly to recognize it."

Originally a sacrifice was credited only when a man bunted, obviously with the idea of advancing a runner. The batter by so doing sacrificed his chance to make a base hit, hence the name. Some years ago the rule was amended to include a sacrifice fly. This was credited whenever a fly ball permitted a man to score from third base. Then later the rule was revised to allow a sacrifice on any fly on which a runner advanced, whether it was first to second, second to third, or third to the plate.

Unpopular with Writers.

The rule as it now stands never has been popular with baseball writers, and at various times they have raised a howl against it, but the men in authority never heeded the complaint.

Barnard intends to present his plea against the practice when the joint rules committee of the majors meet in December.

The American league chief will propose the sacrifice be eliminated entirely except on a bunt, but the committee, if it accepts any amendment, probably will prefer to retain the sacrifice fly as it pertains to the scoring of a runner from third.

FRENCH TRAINER CLAIMS $80,000 OF PRIMO'S PURSE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BARCELONA, Spain, Oct. 20.—Paul Journee, who claims he taught Primo Carnera how to box, appeared today with a demand for $80,000 of the Primo's earnings.

Journee is a former heavyweight champion of France and trainer of Georges Carpentier. He said that he noticed a couple of hillocks on the beach at Arcachon one day and on closer examination discovered they were the feet attached to a slumbering giant. The snoozing Hercules was Carnera.

Journee alleges he woke up Primo and told him that any one with feet like that should be in the prize fight ring instead of on the beach, and for two years he taught him to box. On his return Journee claims Primo signed a contract guaranteeing 25 per cent of his winnings. Later Journee sold a half interest in Carnera to Leon See.

Price Blames Warner for Loss of Star

Berkeley, Cal., Oct. 20.—(AP)—Bitterly denouncing developments causing Nick Bican, University of California tackle, to be declared ineligible, Coach C. M. "Nibs" Price today laid the blame to Coach Glenn Warner of Stanford.

GLENN WARNER.

"It was the most unsportsmanlike thing I have heard of," Coach Price said in referring to what he termed "Warner's petty sleuthing."

"If it takes such detective work to be a football coach at Stanford, I am glad I haven't got the job. And if Warner thinks it will do him and his team any good in the 'big game' he is wrong.

Bican was declared ineligible on a transfer rule technicality. It was discovered he had played freshman football at Willamette university before transferring to Sacramento junior college, where he had played a year before coming to California.

This made three years of football, which, with the loss of a year because of the transfer, made him ineligible under a conference rule passed last November.

Price said he was riled, not at the loss of Bican as a player, but rather that Warner's action had brought grief to the player.

WARNER DENIES CHARGE.

Polo Alto, Cal., Oct. 20.—(AP)—Replying to a verbal attack by Coach "Nibs" Price of California, Glenn Warner, football coach at Stanford, said he had nothing to do with Nick Bican, California tackle, being declared ineligible.

Warner declared one of the men on his squad played with Bican at Willamette university in 1926, and this player brought the matter before Professor William Owen of Stanford, head of the Pacific Coast conference. Professor Owen in turn called the matter to the attention of California officials.

Chicago Yacht Club Receives O.K. to Build

The Chicago Yacht club has received the signal for full speed ahead in the construction of its $3,000,000 building on the lake front. Word was received yesterday from Washington to the effect that the United States Supreme court had turned down the Stevens Hotel company's petition for a review of its unsuccessful action in the lower courts seeking to restrain the erection of the new clubhouse.

George Getz, chairman of the building and finance committee of the yacht club, said last night that he had called a meeting for Friday to get the architect's final approval on the plans. Contractors then will be asked for bids and Mr. Getz said he hoped to see work under way within a month.

The Supreme court decision brings to a close the fight brought by the Stevens hotel on the grounds that they had a right to an unimpeded view of the lake and that if a permit were granted for the erection of one building, a precedent would be set which would open the way for others.

The Yacht club will be utilitized by the Century of Progress committee as a social headquarters for the entertainment of foreign and American dignitaries who visit the 1933 fair.

Battalino Fouls Zazzarino in 3d Round of Nontitle Go

Jersey City, N. J., Oct. 20.—(AP)—Young Zazzarino of Jersey City won from Bat Battalino of Hartford, Conn., featherweight champion, on a foul in the third round of a ten round nontitle bout at the Oakland A. A. here tonight. Zazzarino, at 127½ pounds, was a pound and a half over the class limit. Battalino weighed 126.

BADGERS RELY ON PASSES TO BEAT PURDUE

Rebholz Returns to First Team Lineup.

Madison, Wis., Oct. 20.—[Special.]—Russ Rebholz, Portage, Wis., half back, who has seen little action with the University of Wisconsin football squad this season because of injuries, returned to the first team lineup tonight, and will start against Purdue at Lafayette Saturday afternoon.

Rebholz was used for a few minutes during the Badgers' 27-0 victory over Pennsylvania last Saturday, and appeared to be in good condition. He proved it to the satisfaction of Coach Glenn Thistlethwaite tonight.

The return of Rebholz was opportune, because Joe Linfor, sophomore half back, was injured in the Penn game and probably will not be able to play against the Boilermakers.

Badgers to Use Passes.

Coach Thistlethwaite indicated this afternoon that Wisconsin will use the full power of its passing attack for the first time against Purdue Saturday.

"We tried a few passes against Penn and they worked. We expect to use more of them against Purdue," Coach Thistlethwaite said. He gave the squad several new plays and passing was the keynote of most of them. Ernie Lusby, who, like Rebholz, is a good passer, was in the first team back field.

Capt. Milt Gantenbein, who was knocked out by a blow on the head in the Penn game, reported in good condition this afternoon.

Duluth Boys Win Places.

Milo Lubratovich, giant Duluth, Minn., tackle, and Ed Swiderski, his fellow townsman, who plays at guard, both clinched first team places by their work against the Quakers.

PURDUE DRILLS ON DEFENSE.

Lafayette, Ind., Oct. 20.—[Special.]—Coach Noble Kizer of Purdue, tonight placed emphasis on defensive tactics as the Boilermakers started preparation for their homecoming engagement with Wisconsin here.

Kizer believes that the final story of the game will be determined by the relative defensive ability of the two elevens. The Purdue frosh tonight presented their version of Badger plays in a scrimmage session from which the men who played against Iowa Saturday were excused.

Wisconsin's offensive power has been shown in defeating Chicago, 34 to 0, and Pennsylvania, 27 to 0, while the Boilermakers likewise have displayed a dangerous passing and running attack. Purdue ran up three touchdowns on Baylor, scored two touchdowns in twelve minutes against Michigan, but later lost the game, and last Saturday scored three touchdowns on fundamental football against Iowa without resorting to passes.

George Van Bibber, tackle, and Jack White, quarterback, who were unable to play against Iowa, were both in uniform tonight and took light workouts.

HEADLINERS ON COLISEUM CARD BEGIN TRAINING

Tuffy Griffith and Larry Johnson, Chicago fighters, have started training for their bouts on Matchmaker Jim Mullen's card at the Coliseum Oct. 31. Griffith will battle George Neron, heavyweight champion of Greece, while Johnson will meet Nattie Brown of California.

Another heavyweight bout will be held between Charley Retzlaff of Duluth and Andy Shanks. Retzlaff has scored 12 knockouts in battles in Chicago. Buck Everett, light heavyweight of Gary, Ind., who fought in THE TRIBUNE's Golden Gloves tournament, will meet Joe Corbett in one of the four round preliminaries.

INJURY FORCES PLOYHART OFF LOYOLA SQUAD

Hank Ployhart, Loyola back field star, will be out of the game for about a week because of a side injury sustained in last night's scrimmage.

The loss of Ployhart for the game with Coe college Friday night seriously hampers the Loyola running attack, as the sophomore was one of the fastest and shiftiest back field men on the squad. Frank Murphy and Tommy Howland probably will get a chance in Ployhart's place.

Tuskegee Drills After Dark for Game with Wilberforce

Tuskegee, Ala., Oct. 20.—[Special.]—The Tuskegee football team was kept on the field long after dark today as the coaches made preparations for the annual game with Wilberforce university at Soldiers' field, Chicago, on Saturday. A strenuous passing and punting practice, followed by a signal drill and a long, hard scrimmage was the afternoon menu.

I; No. 13 Bad Luck? Irish Hope It Is—For Pittsburgh

Notre Dame, Ind., Oct. 20.—[Special.]—Notre Dame's varsity, somewhat battered but with no additional injuries, took its usual Monday rest, while the shock troops and reserves went through a light workout, in preparation for next Saturday's game with Pittsburgh.

The varsity will be gunning for its fourth consecutive victory of the year in as many intersectional battles and its thirteenth successive win. After losing the last game in 1928 to Southern California, Notre Dame swept its nine game card last year, and has a clean slate this year, after games with Southern Methodist, Navy, and Carnegie Tech.

Frank Leahy, left tackle, who was injured before the season opened and who has not participated in any games so far this year, reported for practice today, but team physicians said that he will be on the side lines for another two weeks. Larry Mullins, full back, was back in uniform today, and will probably be available if needed against the Panthers.

At the noon lecture Assistant Coach John Voedisch, who has scouted Pittsburgh so far this season, reported that the Panthers have more formations than Notre Dame has plays, and more plays than Notre Dame will probably see the rest of the season.

MICHIGAN WORKS IN SNOW.

Plays given the squad last week will be given additional rehearsals this week, the Wolverines having been required to use little deception to down Ohio State Saturday.

Offensive and defensive scrimmages will be ordered for tomorrow and Wednesday, Coach Veenker having given the freshmen Illinois plays. The yearlings will demonstrate these plays tomorrow, and will be given a chance to stop the Michigan formations Wednesday.

The team went through its paces without Auer and Samuels, but both are recovering at a sufficiently rapid rate to indicate that they will be ready Saturday. Nearly 80,000 tickets for Saturday's game have been sold, leaving only 6,000 available.

ROBINSON DIRECTS ILLINI.

Champaign, Ill Oct. 20.—[Special.]—Olaf Robinson, who was perhaps the most outstanding Illinois player against Northwestern Saturday, called signals for the Illini in practice today. Coach Zuppke is not satisfied with the generalship of his quarter backs and if Robinson comes up to standard he will call signals from the full back position in the traditional battle with Michigan at Ann Arbor Saturday. Not discouraged by their beating at the hands of Northwestern, the men went through a long signal drill and dummy scrimmage in a spirited manner.

Carl Voyles, freshman football coach who watched both Northwestern and Michigan play against Ohio State, reported today that the Wolverines looked as good against the Buckeyes as did Northwestern.

Arthur Sutton, reserve half back, who is one of the best passers on the squad, was tried on the varsity in the absence of Gil Berry today. Sutton's defensive work has kept him off the varsity squad for the last two years, but there is a possibility that he may be used. Hunter Russell, sophomore end may also be shifted to half back this week.

OHIO TO CHANGE ATTACK.

Columbus, O., Oct. 20.—[Special.]—Having suffered two decisive defeats in the last two weeks, Coach Sam Willaman of the Ohio State football team today announced that in the next two weeks he intends to change the whole offensive tactics of his team. In the Northwestern and Michigan games the Ohioans outgained their opponents between the 20 yard lines, but when scoring opportunities were presented, the team lacked punch.

With no game before the Wisconsin contest Nov. 1, Willaman plans to develop new plays run from punt formation much the same as Northwestern and Michigan used against the Buckeyes, instead of adhering to the double wing back system.

The hospital list of the Buckeyes lengthened after the Michigan game when Fesler, Selby, Nasman, Hinchman, and Haubrich reported for treatment. Fesler's wrist was injured again and Haubrich, playing with an injured shoulder, lasted only a part of the first quarter. Selby sprained an ankle Nasman bruised his hip, and Hinchman, quarter back, tore a ligament in his leg.

GOPHERS HAVE EASY DRILL.

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 20.—[Special.]—With two full weeks in which to prepare for Northwestern, the Minnesota football squad had a light practice today. Coach Fritz Crisler gave the team a long chalk talk illustrating mistakes against Indiana Saturday. The regulars were given a lot of new plays and ran through them in a signal drill before being dismissed for the afternoon.

All of the Gophers came through the Indiana game in fine physical shape. It seems certain that Stein and Anderson, center and end, respectively, will be in top condition for the Purple. Next Saturday is an off day.

INDIANA TO GO SOUTH.

Bloomington, Ind., Oct. 20.—[Special.]—After playing in a bitter cold wind against Minnesota at Minneapolis last Saturday the Indiana university football team faces a test in a warmer climate against Southern Methodist university at Dallas, Tex., Saturday. The squad of 27 men with coaches and trainers and the 108 piece Indiana band will leave here Thursday on a special train. Men who played against the Gophers last Saturday were allowed to rest today.

IOWA VARSITY RESTS.

Iowa City, Ia., Oct. 20.—[Special.]—With ten days in which to prepare for its football contest with Detroit the University of Iowa varsity was given the day off today to nurse bruises sustained in the Purdue game. Meanwhile attention was focused on reserve candidates as they were sent through an extended scrimmage.

Punters and drop kickers received specil tutelage with Jack Warrington getting the greatest share of personal instruction. George Rogge, end, was named captain for the Detroit game.

YOUNG FOREIGN RIDERS TO START IN SIX DAY RACE

Four foreign bicycle riders will make their first appearance in America at the six day bicycle race in the Stadium Nov. 8 to 15. Two are young Italians and the others are youthful Belgians. The Italian riders, Pietro Fossati and Raffelo Di Pocco, were recommended by Franco Georgetti. The Belgian riders are Roger De Nef and Adolf Charlier, brought to this country on advice of Gerard Debaets, star Belgian rider.

Jimmy Walthour, popular blond haired youngster, is in line for the Stadium grind. Walthour won a race here not long ago with Franz Deulberg. It is likely that Deulberg will also ride in a motor paced race the night before the six day grind gets under way.

WEETAMOE, CUP YACHT, SOLD TO BOSTON BANKER

Boston, Mass., Oct. 20.—(AP)—The sloop Weetamoe, one of the unsuccessful contenders for the right to defend America's cup in the international races off Newport, R. I., last summer, has been sold to Frederick H. Prince of Boston, sportsman and banker, it became known today.

The Weetamoe, built for the so-called Morgan-Nichols syndicate, which was headed by J. P. Morgan and George Nichols, competed in the races at a cost estimated at several hundred thousand dollars. The price paid by Prince was not announced.

Postponed Roby Races to Be Held Next Sunday

The final auto race meet of the season, which had been scheduled for last Sunday at Roby speedway but postponed on account of cold weather, will be held next Sunday. The events will be the same, 10 and 50 miles for race cars and the same list of drivers are expected to start.

RAMM KNOCKS OUT MALAY IN FOURTH ROUND

Nisse Ramm, Swedish heavyweight, added another victim to his string of knockouts last night when he stopped Art Malay in the fourth round of an 8 round bout at the Englewood arena, 1549 West 63d street. Frankie La Marr was given a six round verdict over Bud Saltis in the semi-windup. Jackie Davis, Springfield lightweight and winner of the Golden Gloves title in 1928, scored a six round victory over Bill Kenny. Steve Hess knocked out Billy Boyes in three rounds.

British Lightweight Champ Knocks Out Rose in Sixth

Shea Knocks Out Datto in Fourth Round

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 20.—(AP)—Eddie Shea, Chicago battler, moved up a notch tonight in his bid for the featherweight title by knocking out Johnny Datta, Filipino, of Cleveland in the fourth round of the ten round main event at the arena. Shea scaled 126½ and Datto 125½.

A sizzling right to the jaw sent Datto down and out less than half a minute after the fourth round began. He lay motionless as the referee counted him out, while Shea, jubilant over winning a bout in a Philadelphia ring, turned a cartwheel and waved his hands to the fans.

Both battlers, among the hardest hitters in the featherweight class, made it a hammer and tongs affair from the beginning. Shea, the stiffer puncher, kept boring in and battered the Filipino's body. Datto, shifty and clever, tried to box his opponent but Shea wouldn't let him.

WHY are Camels welcomed with cheers in any company—a twosome or a crowd? Because they're mild—not flat or tasteless but naturally mild. They have the marvelous aroma that only choice tobaccos, mellowed by golden sunshine, then expertly cured and superbly blended, can give a cigarette. There's nothing artificial about this delightful fragrance. No doctoring, no over-processing can produce it. Camel's refreshing mildness is there from the start.

Swing with the crowd to Camels. Learn the happy difference between true mildness and insipid flatness. Smoke without fear of throat-discomfort or after-taste—just for pleasure!

BY FRENCH LANE.

A gallant old horse is Tiger Flowers, 5 year old son of Bunting-Nebula and a Kentucky Derby prospect of a few years back.

Old Tiger rolled up his third straight victory in the mile and a furlong race at Hawthorne yesterday. He came from behind with the most sensational stretch dash of the year here to conquer Jeu De Bar in the last strides and to win by a length.

Traded for Sack of Oats.

One might say without fear of contradiction that Tiger Flowers, just before he started his present winning streak, was traded off for a sack of oats. It doesn't make any difference who owned him previously, for that individual got so far behind with his oats and feed bill early in the Chicago season that he turned Tiger Flowers over to Butler and Gobel, the big hay and oats men of Washington Park, to satisfy a feed bill.

When they got Tiger Flowers the Messrs. Butler and Gobel registered their racing silks with the jockey club, a navy blue jacket with gold stripes, and Tiger Flowers was their racing stable. They turned the old Tiger over to J. Bainton to train.

Tiger Flowers and J. Bainton must have played on the same varsity eleven back years ago, for they soon came to be fast friends.

Tiger Obeys Bainton.

Everything that Trainer Bainton asked Tiger Flowers to do the old Tiger stepped right out and performed his task.

So in two previous races at Hawthorne, one over a muddy track and the other in the fast going, Tiger Flowers galloped right out and showed his heels to the best selling platers quartered here.

As they turned into the stretch with Jeu De Bar racing to the front, old Tiger must have heard Trainer Bainton giving the varsity yell out in the center field. He started running like a stake horse. He moved on past all those in front of him, and after he had taken the lead kept going and as he passed the finish line he looked more like Sun Beau, Reigh Count, Man O'War, and Gallant Fox than ever. He was moving like a frightened jackrabbit.

Don't Forget Michigan in Big Ten Race

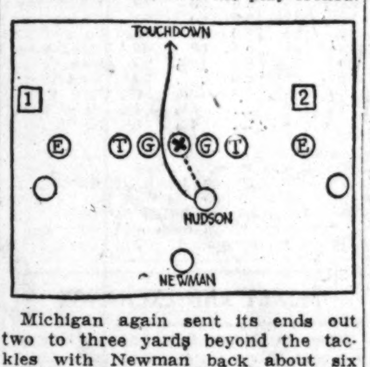
on a 19 yard plunge through center, completely deceived Ohio's secondary defense. This is how the play looked:



Michigan again sent its ends out two to three yards beyond the tackles with Newman back about six yards in a short kick formation. A backfield man was stationed on each side [double wing backs]. Ohio recognized that the formation had greater passing possibilities than it did for plunging or running.

Secondary Taken Out.

However, Ohio's two full backs, forming a secondary defense [numbers 1 and 2], spread out to cover Michigan's wing backs on passes. There was no secondary defense for a line plunge, and this was Ohio's mistake. Hudson took the pass from Morrison at center and split through Ohio's line. He was tackled only when he had reached the goal, but crashed over for the score.

INFECTION PUTS DE PAUL PLAYER IN HOSPITAL

Jim Roche, sophomore end on the De Paul university football squad, was taken to St. Joseph's hospital yesterday suffering from an infection in his leg, which developed after an injury he received in the game with St. Mary's last week.

Two other De Paul players were listed as casualties. Ernie Butcher, half back, will be out of uniform for several days with torn muscles, while Eddie Lyons, an end, will be on the sidelines indefinitely with a leg injury.

Start Work on New Maroon Field House

That long awaited University of Chicago field house came one more move nearer to existence yesterday when wreckers started demolishing a group of apartment buildings on the site chosen for the sports building, on University avenue between 55th and 56th streets.

Plans for the field house are now being worked out and it is believed that actual construction work will begin early in the spring. It will be one of the finest buildings of its type in the country, with accommodations for all sports and seating capacity adequate for the biggest events. With the field house and Bartlett gymnasium, the Chicago athletic plant will provide satisfactorily for all intercollegiate and intramural sport.

In 1925, ground was actually broken for the field house, but the work was postponed to permit enlargement of the seating capacity of Stagg field, a more urgent need. The site then was on the present football practice field, the new location being half a block to the east.

Promoters of Golf Tourneys Fight P. G. A.

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 20.—(AP)—A revolt of open golf tournament promoters against the tournament bureau of the Professional Golfers' Association of America was brewing today, having been started with the announcement by the Long Beach, Cal., Junior Chamber of Commerce that the $3,500 Long Beach Open had been canceled.

The Los Angeles Junior Chamber of Commerce, sponsor of the $10,000 Los Angeles Open, defied the P. G. A. bureau in a letter refusing to give ten per cent of the prize money to the association.

Other members of the California winter open golfing group appeared ready to kick over the traces. Pasadena and Glendale tournament promoters signified their intention of standing by the Los Angeles Junior Chamber of Commerce. The California winter tournaments post a total of $61,000 in prizes.

Last year the tournament bureau, with headquarters in Chicago, asked professional golfers to contribute ten per cent of their winnings to the upkeep of the bureau. This year, with Robert Harlow in charge of the bureau, the decision was made to request tournament promoters to give ten per cent of the posted prizes because certain winning golfers had failed to donate.

Money for Other Sections.

Harlow, in presenting his request to promoters, said the money was to be used to assist the financing of tournaments in other sections to fill out the open tournament schedule.

The Los Angeles Junior Chamber of Commerce, through Cliff Rawson, secretary-manager, said it was not agreeable, after spending $3,000 annually to advertise its tournament and posting the prizes, to contribute $1,000 to build up a string of money tournaments in other sections.

STORM DRIVES WATERFOWL TO ILLINOIS WATERS

Nimrods Are Happy Over Duck Migration.

BY BOB BECKER.

One October Canadian blizzard, plus low temperatures and a howling north wind, and you have the sky boulevards full of ducks. This is exactly what happened last Thursday night when a severe northern storm lashed Chicagoland and sent the waterfowl scurrying into the Mississippi and Illinois river bottoms. Last week-end the welcome message, "they're down," was relayed to waterfowl hunters who have been marking time while the hot Indian summer weather delayed the game.

It happens this way every autumn, although this fall Canada felt the sting of a winter storm a little earlier than usual.

Arrive Thursday Night.

Checking with a number of land owners along the Illinois river where bayous, sloughs and ponds attract thousands of mallards, sprigs, gray ducks and teal, we found that the waterfowl piled into the Illinois river in a hurry last Thursday night. The change of wind that evening, a change that came on the heels of the rain, brought the "migration wind." It came out of the northwest from the blizzard. When the duck country west and south of us woke up Friday morning there were the waterfowl, glad to be in sunny weather after the severe storm that had nipped them in the north country.

One land owner in the upper Illinois country who talked with us day before yesterday said he had 6,000 to 10,000 mallards, sprigs and gray ducks on his ponds which appeared as if by magic in the night. He added that not a hunter would be allowed on his place until this coming week-end because he was going to allow the birds to rest undisturbed for about a week.

Plan Geese Hunt.

This same storm also brought south thousands of coots, or mudhens, as well as geese. Some open water ducks also decided it was time to move. We have been watching several flocks of these birds from the high bank overlooking Lake Michigan north of Chicago.

Hunters who want some waterfowl shooting this fall should be making reservations for a hunt right away. The best weather will undoubtedly be after Nov. 1, as then one is assured of lower temperatures and fewer Indian summer days. Goose hunters are advised to visit the Miller City [Ill.] section, close to Cairo, for their sport, as thousands of the big birds will be centered there.

PUBLIC SERVICE REPORTS GAIN IN NET INCOME

Earns $1,245,258 During Third Quarter.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

The quarterly report of the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois, which was issued yesterday, disclosed increases in both gross and net income for the three months ended Sept. 30 over the corresponding months of 1929. It was the third large Insull utility to report an earnings expansion for the September quarter.

Public Service, which furnishes gas and electricity service to sixteen counties in the northern Illinois area, reported net profits for the three months of $1,245,258, which compares with $1,139,346 in the corresponding period of 1929. Operating revenue was reported at $8,129,968, as against $7,677,675 in the same months last year.

Equals $2.46 a Share.

The net was equivalent, after dividends on the 6 per cent and 7 per cent preferred stock, to $2.46 a share on the 504,344 shares of no par and $100 par common stock now outstanding. This compares with $2.19 on the common shares in the September quarter last year. The report of the company states that had it not been for the rate reduction recently inaugurated the net income for the three months would have been approximately $367,000 greater.

The utility field is not the only industry which can offer examples of earnings expansion in the current year. The semi-annual report of the Beatrice Creamery company released last night shows a substantial increase in earnings over the first six months of 1929.

Six Months' Profit.

The company earned net profit of $2,166,206 in the first six months of the year, as compared with $1,328,188 in the same months last year. The earnings were equivalent after dividends on subsidiary preferred stock and Beatrice preferred shares to $6.29 a share on 298,868 shares of common stock outstanding, as against $5.48 a share on 195,864 shares outstanding in the first six months of last year.

President C. H. Haskell, in his report, attributed the better showing to operating economies effected during the period. "The improvement was accomplished in face of lower average prices for the company's products," he stated. "Lower operating costs were achieved as the result of the larger volume of business handled.

Expands Rapidly.

The company has expanded rapidly in the last year. It now has 159 plants and distributing branches operating against 135 at the end of last year. Earnings of the company's three eastern properties recently acquired are not included in the present report.

Moderate gains were turned in by a number of stocks on the Chicago exchange yesterday, but the upward movement here was not as energetic as the advance in New York. The technical condition of the market did not warrant as sharp a rise. The list here was not as hard pressed by short sellers last week as were the New York stocks and as a result did not benefit as much from the covering movement which carried the New York market up yesterday.

The most noteworthy gains here were chalked up for Swift International, Insull Utility, and U. S. Gypsum. Most of the active issues made moderate headway. Motor shares and investment trust stocks lagged. The trading was dull with total transactions showing only a small increase over volume of Saturday's short session.

NEW FINANCE PLAN IS ANNOUNCED FOR STUTZ MOTOR CO.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Oct. 20.—A plan of financing to retire short term notes and provide additional working capital through the sale of stock to bankers was announced today by the Stutz Motor Car Company of America.

Subject to approval of stockholders on Oct. 30, the outstanding shares will be reduced from 296,741 to 29,674 shares by an exchange of one share for each ten now owned. Thereafter the company will issue to bankers 81,974 shares, which will represent over 70 per cent of the 111,648 shares then to be outstanding.

It is understood that L. L. Harr & Co., Inc., are the bankers who will acquire this stock. The bankers will have the privilege of turning in short term notes of the Stutz company in part payment and will be given an option on additional shares. They will pay the company not less than $600,000 in cash.

The company will have the right to give each stockholder of record on Oct. 15 a warrant to purchase at $27.50 a share between July 1, 1931, and Dec 31, 1931, one share of stock for each share held on the reduced basis. Stock of Stutz, traded on the curb, is selling around 1⅛, which would be equivalent to $11.25 after the one for ten exchange. The total authorized shares of Stutz will remain at 400,000.

The last published Stutz balance sheet as of Oct. 31, 1929, showed current assets of $1,865,466 and current liabilities of $1,735,580, including notes payable totaling $693,635. Funded debt was $590,000.

In January a petition in involuntary bankruptcy was filed against the company, but was dismissed, and suits for receivership also were withdrawn. Later this year the company announced a setlement with creditors on open book accounts at the rate of 35 cents on the dollar. Interest on the 7½ per cent bonds of 1937 was defaulted on April 1 but paid during the summer.

Chrysler Corp.

Any information you can give me on Chrysler Motors will be greatly appreciated. At the present market price is it a good investment?

O. F. N.

Chrysler corporation, since it acquired the business and assets of Dodge Brothers in 1928, has ranked as the third largest producer of motor cars in the United States. This concern was formed in 1925 and grew out of the old Maxwell Motor corporation. It has added new lines in the last few years and now maufactures cars ranging from the cheapest to the high priced class.

Up to the end of last year sales had expanded materially each year. Profits increased substantially each year from 1924 to 1928, then fell off a third in 1929.

In the first six months of this year although sales dropped from $228,000,000 to $139,000,000, Chrysler corporation was still able to show net income of $3,408,856, equal to 77 cents per share on 4,438,422 no par shares. In the first half of 1929, net income had been $18,095,239, or $4.06 per share.

Despite the drop in earnings the corporation's competitive situation appeared to be improved. Factory sales in units of Chrysler products for the first six months of 1930 were 65 per cent of last year, compared with a 57 per cent performance for the rest of the industry, excluding Ford.

Financial position is sound. As of June 30, 1930, current assets were $91,944,787, including cash of $28,046,004, and marketable securities of $16,521,199. Current liabilities were $18,376,894, leaving a net working capital of $73,567,893, against $58,240,514 a year before.

Surplus was $53,547,961. The corporation's own funded debt amounted to only $575,500, but there were also outstanding $48,652,000 of Dodge Brothers debentures. Good-will was capitalized at $25,000,000.

Earnings in 1929 were $4.94 per common share, against $6.80 per share in 1928. The stock is still paying 75 cent quarterly dividends. It is considered medium grade.

Republic of Argentina.

Will you kindly give me information on Argentine 6 per cent bonds from the investor's standpoint? I have $1,500 invested in them and am worried over the unsettled condition in Argentina and Brazil.—Mrs. J. C.

Republic of Argentina, has various bond issues paying 6 per cent. If you will give us the exact title we shall be glad to report on the issue you are interested in.

There is no need for undue alarm over the situation in the Argentine. A revolution in a South American country does not mean that the new régime will repudiate the debts of the old. Argentine bonds in general rank high among foreign bond issues.

OPEN LAST ACT IN YOUNGSTOWN MERGER SUIT

Youngstown, O., Oct. 20.—(AP)—Opening the last act of the hearing to enjoin the Youngstown Sheet and Tube-Bethlehem Steel merger, Attorney Luther Day summed up for the plaintiff's side today a general argument of its claim that Sheet and Tube officers and directors, with the Bethlehem company acting as their agent, perpetrated a fraud on the Youngstown stockholders.

He appealed to Judge David G. Jenkins to enjoin the merger contract on the ground that Bethlehem and Pickands Matther & Co., a Cleveland ore firm, dominated the negotiations in which the terms were arranged, and on the allegation that the deal was "wilfully misrepresented" to the stockholders of Sheet and Tube.

The closing arguments probably will consume more than a week. They were started this morning after an adjournment of three weeks.

Day declared that the terms of the merger, one and a third shares of Bethlehem for one of Youngstown were reached upon the basis of a report made by the auditing firm of Price, Waterhouse & Co., which the merger proponents "did not dare" disclose to Youngstown stockholders after Cyrus S. Eaton had charged that a "grevious error" had been made.

NET OF CURTIS PUBLISHING CO. IS EQUAL TO $1.31

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—(AP)—The Curtis Publishing company for the September quarter reported net profit of $3,936,141, equal to $1.31 a share on the common stock, compared with $5,682,582, or $1.73 a share, in the quarter last year.

Loose-Wiles Biscuit company reported for the first nine months this year net profit of $1,576,924 before appropriation for sinking fund requirements against $1,791,582 for the like period last year. The figures do not include any of the earnings of the recently acquired plants of the Tru-Blu Biscuit company in Spokane, Seattle, and Portland.

The Union Pacific and North American Trust Shares
The Largest Fixed Investment Trust*

TAKE yourself back to May 12th, 1869, and stand with the party of silk-hatted men and bonneted women who watched the driving of the last spike in the first line of rail between Atlantic and Pacific. Could you have visualized the tremendous importance of the accomplishment?

That railroad—the Union Pacific—was a necessity in the development of the West and the consolidation of the country. Today it serves the same vital purposes—and on these its prosperity rests secure.

When you go to California by way of the Union Pacific you'll realize why this road is an American essential.

When you buy North American Trust Shares, you participate in the earnings of the Union Pacific—one of the 28 picked stocks massed behind each certificate. You also share in the profits of American Telephone and Telegraph Company, United States Steel Corporation, American Tobacco Company and others which go to make up the N. A. T. S. portfolio.

Points About N. A. T. S.

1—Each NORTH AMERICAN TRUST SHARE represents an investment in the common stocks of 28 outstanding corporations, leaders in their respective fields.
2—An investment in NORTH AMERICAN TRUST SHARES is as sound as American industry itself. The products and services of the companies, the common stocks of which underlie this trust, are directly related to every phase of human life.
3—The underlying stocks, all of which are listed on the New York Stock Exchange, are deposited with the Guaranty Trust Company of New York, Trustee. The trustee issues 2,000 N.A.T.S. upon the deposit of 4 shares each of the underlying stocks together with applicable reserve fund and accumulations.
4—The 28 underlying companies have an average unbroken dividend record of 33 years, combined total assets of more than 24 billion dollars and combined surplus and reserves of over 6.7 billion dollars.
5—N.A.T.S. are readily marketable. In addition to the established market which has been maintained at ½ point below the asked price the holder of the smallest denomination of shares may liquidate through the trustee without penalty. The holder of 500 shares or any multiple thereof may convert through the trustee into the underlying stocks.
6—Each certificate carries coupons calling for semi-annual disbursement of all distributions received by the trustee on the deposited stocks. For the past 18 years such income and capital distributions would have averaged $1.32 per share annually.
7—N.A.T.S. holders are offered rights semi-annually permitting reinvestment of all return in excess of cash dividends on deposited stocks at a discount from the asked price. This program results in retention of appreciation and maintenance of original diversification.
8—N.A.T.S. are available in denominations ranging from 10 shares to 10,000 shares. Thus an investment in the shares of 28 leading corporations can be made for less than $100.

Looks for Impetus During 1931.

BY O. A. MATHER.

ARTHUR REYNOLDS

Whenever the American people make up their minds to go ahead with business and industry, then depression will end and a new upturn will begin. Most of the necessary readjustments in basic conditions have been accomplished in the last year, and future improvement now is largely a matter of mass psychology. These are the views of Arthur Reynolds, chairman of the Continental Illinois Bank and Trust company.

"I believe we are on the eve of a turning point," Mr. Reynolds said yesterday. "We have undergone a thorough deflation in the last year or so. As a result the country again is about down to bedrock. Naturally the deflation process has been painful and has left our people sore and discouraged. But the history of all such periods has been that when conditions appeared worst a change was in sight.

Signs of Improvement.

"Even now there are signs, here and there, of improvement. It may take some little time for mass psychology to change or the turn may come with surprising quickness. It is anybody's guess. But I look for improvement in the next few months and perhaps considerable impetus in the latter part of 1931. I do not hold with the gloomy prophets to predict several years of depression.

"We have come through this depression without any large failures. What minor troubles have appeared have been remedied; some only recently. Our great industrial corporations and financial institutions are strong. Money and credit are plentiful and await use. The foundation for future prosperity already exists and the superstructure will rise whenever our people make up their minds to build it.

"It is as foolish to be ultrapessimistic now as it was to be overoptimistic a year or so ago. The normal growth of this country insures that it must go forward. After this depression we will go on to a higher prosperity than ever before, just as we always have following past periods of adversity."

Tangible Evidence.

And yesterday brought tangible evidence here and there that improvement is taking place. Perhaps the most significant item was the weekly report of the federal reserve board, showing the position of the reporting member banks for the week ended Oct. 15.

These banks increased their commercial loans by $61,000,000 during the week, which indicates moderately greater business activity. Such loans now aggregate $8,606,000,000, although standing $916,000,000 below a year ago. Loans on securities declined $10,000,000 and now total $8,258,000,000, which is $383,000,000 under a year ago. Reflecting their surplus funds seeking employment, these banks increased their investment in government and other securities by $26,000,000 and $29,000,000, respectively.

Slowly on the Rise.

Manufacturing activity appears to be rising slowly, according to reports on electrical energy consumed for power purposes received by Electrical World. On this basis, September operations of 3,800 industrial plants scattered over the country were 5 per cent higher than in August and slightly above the normal fall increase in activity. Compared with a year ago, the September figure was off 18½ per cent, while the average for the first nine months of this year was down 13.9 per cent, compared with the same period in 1929.

September sales of chain stores also recorded a marked change in the monthly trend, according to a survey by E. A. Pierce & Co. It was the first improvement since April and was made despite declining commodity prices. Sales of fifty companies totaled $260,694,183, compared with $257,590,183 in August and $265,562,379 in September, 1929. Thus, the decline from a year ago was only 1.83 per cent, while aggregate sales for the nine mnths this year were only 2.42 per cent under the same period in 1929.

Dumond Cites Chicago's Inducements to Industries

BY SCRUTATOR.

It is the fashion the country over for chambers of commerce to push the advantage of their own cities and to seek to persuade entrepreneurs with courage and capital to locate their plants in these cities.

The Chicago Association of Commerce is doing its part along these lines, but in general without the same, or relative, hullabaloo either as to methods or claims that prevail in smaller cities.

Many places go so far as to buy industries. This tendency has become rather marked in sections where occupations that are dying out leave large numbers of men unemployed. Coal mining towns, in eclipse as such, have been known to offer free building sites, no taxation for a period of years and even substantial cash investments to corporations which will locate with them and hire their labor.

Does Not Subsidize.

Chicago, since its incorporation nearly a hundred years ago, has never found it necessary to subsidize in order to get plants, L. A. Dumond, of the industrial department of the association of commerce, explains.

"We strive to bring new industries here on the basis of economic value of the community to the plant," he said yesterday. "About three years ago we started to send literature outlining Chicago's advantages to about 5,000 firms who might be contemplating the installation of branch plants in the middle west. We are still keeping contact with about 2,000 of these. We stress the large supply of trained labor, the abundance of raw materials, the best transportation in the world, and the proximity of markets for almost every need that can be manufactured.

"If these are not sufficient to overcome the subsidies that some places offer we have to let the industries go. The big ones, the kind that last, usually are not swayed by gifts."

Even in the year 1930 a few industries have been located in Chicago, moving from other cities. Not only have they received no lagniappe, but some have been harassed by political interference. It seems rather odd to record that efforts were made in a time like this to declare a candy factory a nuisance because it was working three shifts a day and the noise of changing shifts at 11 p. m. disturbed sleepers in the neighborhood.

Within the last two years the desirability of Chicago as a branch plant site was made evident, largely through the association, to a soap concern. Its investment is to total five million dollars. The plant will be located, however, across the state line in Indiana. Apparently the city of Chicago itself was abandoned because of uncertainty about the tax situation.

Becomes Obstacle.

In their conflicts with local authority, industries newly arrived as well as those long established are offered the aid of the Association of Commerce. The tax situation has been a source of embarrassment in replying to some concerns, and probably has delayed the establishment of branches here. While the natural advantages of Chicago as a site are sufficient often to overcome the bonuses and other offers of less fortunately located and less comprehensively built up towns, the element of uncertainty has been a more powerful obstacle.

The present is a time of quietude in industrial migration. Its importance, possibly, has been overstressed. It is the industry of local inception and growth that represents 90 to 95 per cent of Chicago's working power. But this period is as good a one as could be found for civic and political leaders to consider what could be done on the broadest possible scale—one beyond the function of an association of commerce—to assure outside industrialists who might want to come here that they will be given a square deal on taxes, and noninterference.

NEW YORK CITY CUTS BIG ISSUE TO $50,000,000

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Oct. 20.—Recognizing the change in conditions in the bond market since Oct. 1, Comptroller Charles W. Berry announced today that the issue of fifty year 4 per cent New York City corporate stock to be sold tomorrow has been reduced from $75,000,000 to $50,000,000.

The issue would have been the largest offering of fifty year corporate stock ever marketed by the city at one time. Because of its size and the current level of the municipal market, some large dealers were inclined to submit no bids. The change in the comptroller's plan was the occasion for additional conferences this afternoon to discuss the feasibility of marketing $50,000,000 4s. A price of not less than par must be paid to the city.

"This will leave $27,000,000 of the Rapid Transit corporate stock for sale, $7,000,000 for construction of docks, and $16,000,000 for water supply, making in all $50,000,000 of fixed term bonds redeemable on Oct. 1, 1980, with interest at 4 per cent per annum, payable semi-annually on April 1 and Oct. 1," the announcement stated.

New York, Oct. 20.—(AP)—Directors of the Sun Oil company today declared a stock dividend of 9 per cent in addition to the regular quarterly payment of 25 cents in cash on the common shares. George F. Johnson, president of the Endicott-Johnson corporation, said the company's surplus is available to pay the usual dividends of $5 on the common stock, even though earnings might at times fall below such dividend payments. He said that the company is more than holding its own in competition for business, is running about 75 per cent at present, and hopes to improve.

CITE CHAINS' GROWTH IN PACKERS' CONSENT DECREE COURT HEARING

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 20. — The tremendous growth of chain stores in the last decade was emphasized today in the District of Columbia Supreme court hearing on the petition of the Swift and Armour companies for modification of the packers' consent decree.

Four chain stores executives testified on the development of their systems, showing that since 1920 their sales and number of stores had expanded three and fourfold.

Frank W. Wheeler, assistant to the president of the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea company, said that in 1920 his company had 4,638 stores with annual sales of $234,420,000, and that in 1930 it has 15,418 stores with annual sales of more than $1,053,692,000. H. C. Bohak, head of H. C. Bohak & Co., said his company now owned 661 stores, while Elmer Paner, an accountant for the Kroger Grocery and Baking company, said the number of stores operated by his company increased from 903 to 5,575 in ten years. H. C. Brown, controller of the National Dairy Products corporation, said one subsidiary of his concern operated 300 retail stores in New York City.

Another witness was W. P. Wing, secretary of the California Wool Growers, who stated that his association favored modification of the consent decree.

Wheat Rises on Scattered Buying, Relaxed Pressure

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

While bullish wheat news was again at a premium yesterday, prices advanced readily on scattered buying and lessened pressure in sympathy with stocks in New York and with Winnipeg. The close was 1@1⅝c higher and at the best figures in a week. December finished at 79⅛@79¼c; March, 83@83⅛c; May, 84⅞@85c, and July, 85⅝c.

At the high point yesterday May wheat touched 85¼c, or 4⅜c over the low of a week ago. The bulk of the trade was of a local character, but it was apparent that there was little pressure on the market from the start, with selling against offers the main factor in checking the advance. Liverpool was strong and 1½@1⅞d higher, with shorts covering on the small contract stocks available for delivery purposes. Russian wheat cannot be delivered in that market on futures contracts.

Winnipeg Leads Advance.

Winnipeg wheat was strong and led the advance, closing 1¾@2c higher, gaining fractionally on Chicago. The recent unfavorable weather in the prairie provinces, with limited country movement and expectations of a better foreign demand, were the main bullish influences. A new cold wave was reported as developing in the northwest. Buenos Aires gained ¼@½c for the day, with February closing at 70⅛c.

Private cables claimed that there was 8,000,000 bu wheat held unsold at Rotterdam and Antwerp, of which 2,000,000 bu were No. 2 hard winter, which could only be sold about 8c under a replacement basis. Resellers were said to have offered Russian grain for December arrival at equal to 66½c and January at 67¾c, but in the face of this the seaboard reported 300,000 to 400,000 bu Manitobas had been sold for export.

Bulls received some encouragement in the way of a decrease of 1,029,000 bu in the domestic visible, bringing the total down to 202,043,000 bu, compared with 192,796,000 bu last year.

Whether the recent advance in the wheat market has been due to an oversold condition or to a realization that prices had declined to a point where all bearish influences had been discounted, puzzles the trade. A majority of operators show a disposition to take the buying side on any encouragement in the way of strength in Winnipeg or in the stock market, and are inclined to ignore recessions in the latter.

Corn Prices Advance.

There was no material pressure on corn, and with local bulls on the buying side, as the result of disappointing husking returns, prices advanced 2½@2¾c from the early low and finished within a fraction of the top. Net gains were 1⅝@2c. Old December was 78½@78⅝c to 78¾c at the last with March 80½@80⅝c, December 83⅛@83¼c, and July 84⅛c.

Outside trade was not large. The unusually early cold weather which has developed over the belt is expected to result in heavier feeding of live stock than would normally be the case. Country offerings to arrive were limited and the basis on new corn ½@1c higher as compared with the December. An increase of 43,000 bu was shown in the visible supply, making the total 4,612,000 bu, compared with 3,894,000 bu last year.

Commission houses were fair buyers of oats and the close was ⅜@⅝c higher, with December closing at 36⅞@37c, March 38¾c, and May 39⅞c. Strength in other grains was the main factor. Locals sold on the advances, while there was buying of December and selling of May at 3c difference.

Scattered buying basis on the strength in wheat caused an advance of 1⅛@1⅜c in rye. December closed at 49⅝c, March 53½c, and May 54⅞c. Timothy seed, $8.25@8.50; clover, $16.75@24.25 per 100 lbs; flaxseed, $1.75½ per bu.

The stocks figures covering all products held by the principal marketing companies at all points in the Pacific coast territory, including British Columbia, Alaska and Hawaii, at the end of September totaled 180,433,952 barrels, a decrease of 789,838 barrels during the month.

BY FRED HARVEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Oct. 20.—The stock market suddenly snapped out of its dumps today and staged a comeback, the likes of which Wall street has not seen in many a gloomy day.

United States Steel, American Can, Westinghouse, and other big pivotals executed price gains of 3 to 6 points and various and sundry "fast movers" did their stuff in the old time bull manner, one of them, Laclede Gas, soaring 17¾ points; another, Allied Chemical, skyrocketing 11¼; still a third; International Business Machine, rising 10⅝, and a long buoyant line advancing anywhere from 4 to 8 points or more.

Every group shared in the rally, the utilities keeping well out in front all day, and the amusements, oils, chemicals, and farm implements keeping step all the way. Many specialties distinguished themselves with sharp gains, even the rails perked up and although the section did not make so good a showing as some of the others some of the gains were quite substantial, Atchison, for instance, rising 7 points.

Reasons for Recovery.

Just what stimulated the sudden turnabout the long sagging market was difficult to determine. There was much talk of "bankers' conferences"—just where and when and by whom, nobody could quite say—of the steps being taken at Washington to relieve the unemployment situation, of the improvement in the German situation, of this, that and the other state-

At the moment, public interest in the equity stocks of American corporations is at a low ebb. It may go even lower—temporarily.

Those who last year clamored to buy these stocks at dangerously inflated levels, today at bargain prices will have nothing to do with them.

Although deflation has now been largely accomplished, they do not realize the fact.

Although American industry, fundamentally sound, is today squaring away for its next forward movement, they refuse to believe it.

Pauling Buys 2 Parcels in Devon District.

Construction is under way on an addition to the power plant of the Grigsby-Grunow company's factory at North Austin avenue and Dickens street which will cost $125,000. The structure will measure 50x60 feet and will be of brick and reinforced concrete construction. Completion is scheduled in sixty days. James L. Fyfe is engineer.

Edward G. Pauling, a real estate man, has purchased from John O'Brien 264x124 feet of vacant property at the southwest corner of Devon and California avenues for an undisclosed consideration, subject to $135,000. Mr. Pauling also purchased from Michael J. Hackett a parcel of vacant, 66x124 feet, on the east side of Mozart street, 141 feet south of Devon, for an undisclosed consideration, subject to $5,000. Both parcels, which are not far from the Devon-Western business district, are close to each other. Mr. Pauling says he has no plans for the properties.

Buys Eighty Acres.

William Behons of Batavia has acquired from George A. Lageschutte a tract of eighty acres on the south side of Mundhank road, at the intersection of Witt road, for an undisclosed consideration. The property is 4½ miles south of Barrington.

Oscar G. Peterson has purchased the six apartments at 6142-44 Vernon avenue from Mathias Flasch for an undisclosed price, subject to $45,000. The twelve flats at the southwest corner of 83d and Paulina were given in exchange.

Austin Avenue Sale.

The twenty-four flat building at 1002 Austin avenue, lot 100x119, has been sold by Emanuella Serritella to Henry O. Larson and August E. Gustafson. Mr. Serritella received the eight apartments at 1200 Grand avenue, lot 52x75, in exchange.

Max Scheuneman has purchased the new three story apartment building at 9426 South Justine street from Charles P. Vagtborg, giving in payment the two story brick residence at 7210 Eberhart avenue. The new owner will occupy a suite in the building purchased. The Beverly office of Draper & Kramer represented both parties.

BETTER COTTON SUPPORT

An improved tone has come over the cotton trade, the market showing more stability and a disposition to respond to new buying. Thomson & McKinnon, in a review of the situation, says "The cotton business its liquidation a long time ago. It was under way nearly a year before the average man could see it. Now there are signs at the factory that things are better."

The market was quiet during the early morning yesterday, but gained 10 points and absorbed hedging sales without being affected. Room trade selling was well taken, a little profit selling was readily cared for. Better feeling in grains and stocks was noticeable and at the close prices were at nearly the best of the day. There were net gains on futures in Chicago of 9 to 13 points and other markets 7 to 15 points. Spots in New York gained 10 points, 10.45c; New Orleans was 10 points to 10.20c; Galveston was 10.30c, and Houston, 10.15c. Liverpool closed 1 to 3 points higher with spot sales 6,000 bales.

CASH·GRAIN NEWS

While there was a lack of aggressive export demand for wheat, messages from the seaboard intimated that the market has the best undertone in some time. Sales in all positions were finally placed at 300,000 to 400,000 bu Manitobas.

Wisconsin dairy interests are said to have bought several cars of high protein wheat at Minneapolis for feeding purposes, paying $25 per ton. The Farmers' Union Terminal association is said to have inquiries for a number of other cars for the same purpose.

Milling demand for cash wheat here was fair, with sales of 22,000 bu. Corn sales aggregated 45,000 bu and oats, 29,000 bu. There was no change in the basis on cash wheat in the local sample market, with No. 1 red, 8@8½c over; No. 2 red, 7@7½c over; No. 1 hard, ½@¾c over; No. 2 hard, December to ½c over; No. 1 northern, ½@1c over, and No. 2 northern, December price to 1c under.

DECEMBER LARD ERRATIC

Bidding for a few small lots of December by two brokers advanced the price 30c early yesterday, with a top of 10.75c with a reaction later and a close at 10.50c, a net gain of 7½c. December and January lard were said to have been changed even at one time, but the latter was 12½c discount at the close and January finished 5c lower than Saturday, while December finished 7½c higher and October was up 2½c. Trade in all was small. Liverpool lard was 6d lower to 3d higher, October showing strength. Bellies were nominally unchanged.

Exports of lard for the week were rather smaller than expected, 9,160,000 against 20,124,000 lbs last year. Of bacon they were 5,325,000 lbs against 3,690,000 lbs last year. Hog receipts were larger than expected, being materially larger than a week ago but less than last year, with prices 15@25c lower. Prices follow:

·WORLD'S·GRAIN·MARKET·NEWS·

Reduction in selling pressure with a more ready absorption of the offerings of all grains, particularly wheat and corn, resulted in a decidedly better feeling. One close observer said there was a sellers' market in all grains which he interpreted as meaning that prices were likely to work higher unless new unfavorable developments should appear. Prices are at a level where short selling is less popular and despite the fact that prices have had a good upturn of late, there is a belief that there should be a further moderate advance.

Thomas Campbell, the largest wheat grower in the United States who was recently in Russia, after an interview with President Hoover, expressed himself as bullish as to the probable trend of wheat prices in the immediate future.

A point made by Chicago traders was that indications are for a continued decrease in the visible supply, which they believed would become much larger in the near future. Absorption of wheat through feeding operations throughout the interior, it is believed, will also affect that movement from that section to primary markets despite the fact that receipts of late have been the lowest for the period in ten years.

The Uhlmann Grain Co. say that Russia will probably be a factor in grain markets for several weeks. After that Argentina and Australia should easily take its place. From present indications Australia might raise upwards of 200,000,000 bu. which would furnish a surplus of 150,000,000 bu. for export. They believe that should the southern hemisphere come through with better than average crops, the whole bullish structure would look hopeless.

Dull times have proved golden opportunities

—to men of courage and vision

ROTHSCHILD coolly bought French bonds when the streets of Revolutionary Paris ran red with blood. John Jacob Astor, during the war of 1812, invested heavily in Government securities sold by frightened "patriots" who thought America would not come through.

History is full of similar incidents. Men of outstanding financial acumen have all realized that the time to pick up good securities at attractively low prices, is when the majority are either selling in panic or else refraining from buying through fear that a temporary economic setback may become permanent disaster.

Standard Supervisory Service

A Personalized Service for Individuals and Institutions Employing Funds in Excess of $150,000 in the Security Markets.

Standard Supervisory Service affords a selected clientele of investors, a means of obtaining intensive, individualized and unbiased supervision of their investment programs and security holdings — with recommendations for changes, whenever desirable to secure greater safety, greater income or greater enhancement of capital.

The accounts administered by the Standard Supervisory Service consist of large personal funds of individuals, trust funds, investment funds of banks, insurance company funds, endowments and surplus funds of business organizations.

Supervisory Service is thorough, definite, confidential and personalized to the nth degree. The exact details of the Service rendered and the fees charged for services vary according to the requirements and security holdings of each client.

Standard is an organization of specialists—field men skilled in gathering business and financial data at first hand, many others interpreting broad economic forces and their far-reaching effects, analyzing the positions of the key industries, dissecting corporation balance sheets, reducing a mass of vitally important facts to clear, concise, pithy reports with recommendations for action. The final Standard reports and recommendations that reach you do not represent the judgment of any one man. They are the crystallized opinion of dozens of trained minds.

Today's market offers some exceptional investment opportunities. But never was there greater need for care in the selection of securities. The market abounds with pitfalls as well as opportunities. But in order to decide wisely what securities to sell and what to buy in their place, you must have accurate knowledge of market conditions and of the outlook in the leading industries as well as of specific companies within these industries.

Solving your problem

Here is where the Standard Statistics Company can be of invaluable assistance in solving your investment problem. For a quarter of a century this organization has been engaged in the task of furnishing timely, unbiased investment information and counsel. From a mere handful of people, it has grown to a force of over 1200 employees.

And the sole reason for its astounding growth is because the service it gives fills a real need—because the investment counsel it offers has proved sound, helpful and very much worth following.

Standard numbers thousands of individual investors among its clients as well as a big majority of the largest banks and financial houses of North America and Europe. Whether you are interested in business or security markets as an individual investor, a trustee, a banker or business executive, there is a Standard Service to fit your needs. Simply fill out the coupon below and we will send more detailed information. And if the investments in your charge total over $150,000, your special attention is directed to the Standard Supervisory Service, outlined in panel above.

| One month ago | 7.00@ 8.50 |

Estimated receipts at Chicago today, 9,000 cattle; 31,000 hogs, and 19,000 sheep.

Hog receipts at 50,000 exceeded trade requirements and prices came down mostly 10@25c, finishing weak at the lowest point of the day. However, prices are still 35@40c above the low spot ten days ago. The extreme top dropped 10c at $10.05, while the general average lost 15c at $9.55.

Small packers and shippers were the principal buyers, outsiders taking 12,000 head, the largest number since last March. Soon after early orders had been filled, hogs that were not up to requirements of order buyers recorded additional price cuts in view of an advance estimate of 31,000 at Chicago for today, against actual arrivals of 18,814 last Tuesday.

Today's Hogs Bid $10.

Butcher hogs averaging 260@310 lbs were bid $10.00 for today's delivery on the "to arrive" market, but no sellers offered contracts at this figure. Contracts for future months sold at steady to 10c lower prices, with buying confined to December contracts.

Three carloads of light weights for December delivery sold at $8.75. December mediums brought $8.80. However, bids were plentiful. October light, mediums and heavy were bid $9.25@9.40, but the lowest offer at the close was $9.65. November contracts were offered at $8.90, and the highest bid $8.50.

Prime 1,003 lb yearling steers sold at $13.35, a feature sale of the day, which equaled the highest paid for cattle since early last June. Fancy yearling steers and heifers averaging 946 lbs reached $13.00, and some unusually light weight heifers averaging 584 lbs brought $12.60.

Top Lambs Reach $9.35.

The expected rise in the market for fat lambs carried top natives to $9.35 yesterday, highest since Sept. 12. Prices have gained $1.25@1.35 since the low point middle of last week, due to the decrease in receipts during the last few days.

Yesterday's arrivals were smallest for Monday in several weeks. The total at five markets today is estimated at 51,300, against 54,700 last Tuesday. Most fat lambs sold at $8.50@9.00, top western to packers reaching $9.25, with shippers and city butchers paying $9.35. Aged sheep were firm and yearlings strong to 25c higher. Feeding lambs were fairly active and steady to strong.

Receipts at Chicago for today are estimated at 9,000 cattle, 31,000 hogs, and 19,000 sheep, against 8,600 cattle, 18,814 hogs, and 23,196 sheep on the previous Tuesday, and 8,037 cattle, 31,255 hogs, and 14,272 sheep a year ago.

ONLY A HOLE IN THE CARPET
... YET IT COST HIM $40,000!

The owner of a Chicago apartment house failed to notice a small hole in his stair carpet until one day a visitor caught her heel in it and fell. The fall resulted in partial paralysis and led the injured person to sue for $75,000. A sympathetic jury awarded her $40,000, and it became necessary for the owner to sell the building in order to meet the judgment.

You, as a property owner, may some day be the defendant in a similar suit. Protect yourself by taking out Continental Owners', Landlords' and Tenants' Liability Insurance. The cost is only a few dollars annually, yet in case of suit Continental will defend you and pay all damages up to the limits of the policy. This is but one of the many forms of insurance and surety bond protection offered by these companies ... the only Multiple Line Insurance Organization with Home Offices in Chicago. Asking for more details incurs no obligation whatsoever.

STOCKS CLIMB AS MART SNAPS OUT OF DUMPS

Every Group Shares in General Rally.

ment from broker, banker, or business man regarding the "improved" outlook of things, but the probabilities are that none of it cut very much figure with the average man in the street. It hasn't for a long time now.

Instead, the recovery seemed due more to conditions within the market itself than to anything else—probably more so than to all else combined. It was a "technical" if not an inevitable development, in other words. Which is another way of saying that a stock market, like everything else, apparently can be pushed just so far. The list had been under steady liquidation of a heavy nature for a solid week or more and it was but natural that there should be a flareback before things had gone much further. Even at this time a year ago, when Wall street was enveloped in the blackest cloud in all its history, the market had its occasional days of recovery.

However, the fact that today's advance was led by the recognized standard bearers of the list and that some of the highest priced of them, like United States Steel, came in for some of the most effective support seemed to provide some basis for the talk that financial interests were lending their support to prevent the complete collapse which began to threaten with the continued decline. United States Steel opened up a point over its closing figure of Saturday and kept pegging higher and higher, until at the close it had a gain of 3⅞ points to its credit. The final sale was at 149¼.

Particularly Buoyant.

American Can was particularly buoyant, rising 8 points or so from its low of last week. It finished the day at 116¾, up 5¾. Rir Reduction scored a net gain of 5¾; American Tobacco rose 4¾; Auburn Auto, 4¼; Case Threshing, 4⅞; Standard Gas, 4; Worthington Pump, 4; Public Service of New Jersey, 3⅛; Foster-Wheeler, 5¾; National Biscuit, 3⅛; Peoples Gas, 4¼; Union Pacific, 5⅝, and Eastman Kodak, 5¾ points.

In spite of the vigorous display of strength of the list, however, trading was at a quiet pace, with the day's transactions amounting to only 2,139,220 shares. Also there was a tendency to slip off somewhat in the last hours so that final prices in many instances were slightly below those of the best of the day. Money was in abundant supply at a 2 per cent call rate.

BUTTER AND EGGS

Butter and egg futures lost ground at the close on the Chicago Mercantile exchange yesterday, losing fractional gains which had been recorded earlier in the session. Support which came in early in the period was lacking at the finish and selling resulted in prices dropping slightly from the previous close. November butter closed 34½@34⅝c, off ⅛@¼c, and December at 35@35¼c, off ¼@½c. November eggs closed at 22¼c, off ⅝c. December ending at 22⅜@22⅝c, off ⅜@⅝c.

Short covering and new buying appeared at the opening in butter and carried the deliveries forward ½c. Sales: butter, November, 96 cars; December, 92 cars; eggs, November, 71 cars; December, 48 cars. Receipts, butter, 8,374 tubs; eggs, 6,517 cases. Prices follow:

SUGAR.

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—(AP)—SUGAR—Raw market was a little easier today, but while duty frees sold at a slight concession, Cuban holders continued to ask the last paid price or 3.34c for spots duty paid.

Raw futures were quiet and price movements narrow and irregular with operators inclined to limit aggressive operations and await new developments. Approximate sales were only 14,900 tons. Prices follow:

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Oct. 20.—Arrangements for the sale of three Stock Exchange memberships were announced today at the lowest prices since 1927. The low sale of the day was $217,000, following a proposed transfer at $230,000 and another at $220,000. On Saturday the transfer of a seat was arranged at $245,000, as compared with a previous sale at $255,000.

Within the past week or two there have been sales of memberships at as high as $265,000. The names of principals of these transfers will not be announced by the exchange until Thursday.

It is necessary to go back to the summer of 1927 to find a record of a Stock Exchange seat transfer at a price equaling the low figure established today. Between May and July of that year the price of memberships fluctuated between $210,000 and $220,000, after rising from a low of $170,000 early in the year.

The advance continued through 1928 and 1929 at an accelerated pace. The 1928 range was $290,000 low and $595,000 high; in 1929 it was $389,000 low and $625,000 high. The highest price paid for a membership this year was $480,000 in May.

Our Loan Policy

This Bank was organized and has always been conducted upon these fundamental principles:

- An appreciation of the occasional stress which confronts people of integrity and good intentions.
- A belief that wise borrowing is an aid to thrift and industry.
- The conviction that the careless uses of credit serve to aid extravagance and disaster.

Careful, thoughtful, serious-minded persons who may occasionally find it convenient or expedient to supplement their earnings or their savings with borrowed money, to be used for worth-while purposes, may borrow here . . . and they may borrow on a dignified, constructive, banking basis.

We loan in amounts ranging from $50 to $5,000—for one year or less—which you pay out in weekly or monthly installments—7% per annum discount and a small fee are charged when a loan is secured by the signatures of two of your friends—6% per annum discount but no fee charged when a loan is secured by collateral.

News and Gossip of Stock Marts

Chrysler Yield.

Selling around 17, Chrysler yields about 18 per cent, if any attention need be paid to the fact that at the last quarterly meeting the board of directors voted a dividend at the old rate of $3 annually. Whenever a stock yields a higher percentage than its price in dollars in the market there is good ground for the position that the dividend will be cut or eliminated. The play in Chrysler was great while it lasted, but the market simply can't be held when the earnings aren't there.

Shows Steadiness.

Comparative steadiness of U. S. Dairy Products issues in the last few weeks is no doubt a reflection of the manner in which that company has been able to withstand depression. The report of the corporation for the six months ended June 30, 1930, although showing some reduction in profits, was a good deal better than had been anticipated.

Makes New Lows.

Like so many other stocks, General Fireproofing has been regularly making new lows for the year. This in spite of optimistic utterances by officials. According to George C. Brainard, president, earnings for the third quarter and during the first half of October were considerably above dividend requirements. The common stock pays $2 annually.

Earns Dividend and More.

Recent heavy selling in Trico was based on rumors of dividend reduction. However, in the first nine months the company has earned its entire year's dividend with a good deal to spare. Reported earnings were $4.18 a share, against an annual dividend requirement of $2.50 a share. Trico's earnings have made an unusually good showing this year, but sentiment toward the stock inevitably has been affected by the pessimism which touches everything having even indirect relations with the motor industry.

RAILROAD NOTES

To meet the competition furnished by the Great Lakes Pipe Line company, a gasoline carrying artery from Oklahoma to the great lakes region, the St. Louis and San Francisco and the Missouri-Kansas-Texas railroads announce their intention to apply for permission to lower freight rates on gasoline between these points. J. R. Koontz, vice president of the Frisco, stated the suggested new tariff on gasoline shipped from refineries would be 18 cents a hundred to Kansas City, 22 cents to St. Louis, and 27½ cents to Chicago.

Hearing on the application of the Southern Pacific to acquire the Cotton Belt road through purchase of additional stock opened yesterday in Dallas, Tex. Merger of the roads is not contemplated at present, it is reported.

Frank E. Strouse, special representative of the general manager, Pennsylvania railroad, will be chairman of the regional meeting of the safety section of the American Railway association, to be held on Dec. 8 at the Palmer house.

Revenue freight loadings for the week ended Oct. 18 of the following rail systems show declines from the preceding week as well as the same 1929 week:

|---|---|---|

HUNT FOR REVOLT IN CUBA, BUT FIND IT'S IN BRAZIL

Scan Island's Interior; Calm Everywhere.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HAVANA, Cuba, Oct. 20.—Political differences, student riots, and hints of revolution are of minor importance today in Cuba when compared with the actual accomplishments of a republic that is only thirty years old. The average visitor to the island sees only historic Havana and returns home with the idea the rest of Cuba is just a big sugar cane field dotted by palm groves.

A trip to interior cities and towns reveals that all of Cuba has been studying the United States and that Cuban city planners have adopted its best features and combined them with the best handed down from Spain.

The Cuban army is the balance wheel of the republic. So long as it remains loyal to President Gerardo Machado there can be no revolution. A great deal has been whispered about the wavering in loyalty of the second military district at Santa Clara, which is in almost the exact center of the island. A visit to the post, which has been under the direction of Col. Emiliano Amiel for the last five years, quickly demonstrated that his 1,650 men stationed throughout the province were loyal to Machado and that the Cuban army is no motion picture army.

Army Highly Efficient.

An automobile trip through Havana, Mantanzas and Santa Clara provinces was arranged for visiting newspapermen by President Machado. The president told them he wanted them to see first hand some of the achievements in sanitation, public buildings, road construction and hospital reconstruction that his government had accomplished. He suggested that the newspapermen quit Dr. Thomas F. Camachu, the president's personal representative on the trip, and scout around for themselves for a few hours. This was done, but even out from under the government's wing, the correspondents could find no revolution.

One thing was apparent, however, and that was that interior Cuba is sanitation conscious. Next to sanitary improvements the Machado government's best work has been the construction of the central highway, a concrete strip from tip to end of the island.

Mayor Praises Machado.

Mantanzas is the first city outside of Havana. Mayor Benigo Gonzales had only praise for the Machado government and pointed out paved streets, new public buildings, and several factories as the work of that administration. Elsewhere in Matanzas there were found persons less enthusiastic about Machado, but their complaint was unemployment and the low price of sugar rather than any specific acts that Machado had been responsible for.

Everybody was interviewed. The poor and the rich, the leaders of the different political parties, merchants, waiters and finally Gov. Bellos. Every one was interested in the revolution—the revolution in Brazil, but they knew nothing of one in Cuba.

SCHACHT'S VISIT LEADS TO GOSSIP ON GERMAN DEBT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 20.—[Special.]—Germany's current financial situation was the subject of discussion at a series of conferences during the last three days between American government and banking officials and Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, former president of the German Reischbank, who is now in the United States on a lecture tour.

Whether Germany's ability to continue payment of reparations under the Young plan was discussed by Dr. Schacht during a fifteen minute meeting with President Hoover at the White House at noon was not made public.

One rumor circulated late today was to the effect that a moratorium on allied war debt payments to this country might be asked of the United States in event Germany suspended reparation payments to the allies. Some strength was lent to this report by the disclosure that George Harrison, president of the New York federal reserve bank; Eugene Meyer, chairman of the federal reserve board, and Secretary Mellon all had conferred with Mr. Schacht during the day.

WILL LECTURE HERE.

Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, financial expert and president of the German reichsbank until last March, will discuss the German economic situation in a public lecture at Mandell hall, University of Chicago, next Monday night.

Dr. Schacht, who is a stanch supporter of the Dawes plan and led the movement which stabilized the German mark, plans to bring his son to Chicago to place him in a Chicago bank.

The Rt. Hon. Sir Philip Sasson, former British undersecretary for air, will lecture at the university next Friday evening on the "Air Route to India." Slides taken from air photographs of antiquities of Egypt, Babylon, Ur, the Khyber Pass, and India will be shown.

SYNOPSIS.

Sheila Fay met King George when she was thrown from her horse. Refusing aid she insisted on riding the animal home, disregarding broken ribs and bruises.

INSTALLMENT II.

A FICKLE HEIR.

While still in the arithmetic and geography period Sheila had been registered by her parents at an eastern college, and also at Stanford university. Twelve months of travel abroad with the companion her uncle had immediately afterwards married found Sheila as undecided where she would go, or what she actually wanted to do, as when she had passed the college board examinations. Her friendships pulled her, now here, now there. . . . The day of decision was drawing near when she startled Marian and John Donohue by announcing at the tea table, "I'm not going to college this year. Maybe never." When pressed for a worthy reason, she hedged, not wishing to remind her uncle that in a few years she would be mistress of her life, and that she should therefore now be understudying him in the managership of her estate. The Donohues would not relish the reminder that soon they must pass on to a more modest home and less certain income.

Sheila's rides on a chastened Chain Lightning carried her frequently past the closed iron gates of the George estate. Venerable trees—cedars, poplars, oaks, cypresses—screened from the road all but the roof and towers of the deserted mansion. The heir to this gloomy splendor was supposed to be spending his vacation on the Riviera.

He was on his favorite mount, starting, she assumed, for his morning ride. His stare told her she had slipped from the foreground of his memory; his smile, that she had been restored.

He wheeled his mare about, and was following her direction when impulsively he asked—she thought wistfully—"Would you care to see the old place?"

"Lonely!" she thought. "Would I? Clairvoyant!" she cried, and they loped joyously to the impressive entrance, flanked by the cypresses.

He led her through the grounds, which a wise landscape architect had not made artificial. An avenue of alternating poplars and cypresses gave solemnity to the approach, and a beauty of age rested on the house, which had been erected in the ugly eighties.

He suggested showing her first over the dwelling, reserving the gardens for the climax. In each room but his own apartments the shades were down, the chairs shrouded in linen. Declaring she wanted to see each successive view of the grounds and hills, she soon had him pulling back curtains, raising shades, and letting the warm sunshine into the wan dwelling, but even then she kept looking over her shoulder, for surely some one was watching them.

The rambling house proved to be a monument of maternal affection; it had been expanded with and for each volatile enthusiasm of the young heir. Because of an adolescent shyness, which had for a time found refuge in books, Mary George had decided he was going to be a student, and had ordered a model library of richly bound classics, now kept locked behind their plate glass doors. "Unread," suspected Sheila. She would have relished lingering among them, as one renews acquaintance with old friends, but already her host was leading the way into the billiard room.

"I happened to say I'd been playing the game with the men in the village and the next vacation this was here. Mum had built a new dining room."

Sheila had paused to examine the collection of inlaid cues, but her pilot had already passed into the adjoining music room, which with its organ, piano and other lesser instruments he explained similarly, negligently. "The mater used to insist I was a musical prodigy. You should hear me try to murder a tune!" By this time he was marching towards the hall.

"Is he in a hurry, after all, to get rid of me? Why, then, did he ask me in at all?" wondered the girl, slowly following, and observing acutely the slight, boyish figure, the well modelled head, the swift, nervous motions.

He had crossed the hall, was throwing open a door into a room lined with cabinets. "The museum." Here were his boyish collections of butterflies, beetles, rocks. "At the age of 10 I was supposed to show signs of being a scientist."

He strode through the conservatory into the ballroom, obviously an addition, where, he vouchsafed, no dance had ever been staged. "For the colony never took us up. Too gummy, I guess," he grinned. His gesture called her attention to a silver screen, a stage, a projection balcony. "Just because I had bought one of the new cameras." His smile seemed to turn sour. Was it deprecating his own fickleness, or the mother's devotion? Which? Sheila could not determine. It came to her then, leaving the ballroom, that this was Mary George's house; not her son's! Home of an ideal. . . .

Portraits of King were discovered in every room. "Say, don't look at those things!" protested King whenever she paused before a photograph, or painting in oil or water color of King George, the chubby infant; King George, the boy; King George on the tennis court; King in swimming trunks; King as a jockey—the horsewoman insisted on stopping them. "Do you ride your own racehorses?" she demanded, thrilled. "I knew you owned racing stock ——" And so got him started on his race track experiences. But she kept wondering which was the boy his mother knew—this eager, youthful host, or the pale, bored, nervous King? . . .

He led her restlessly through the apartments of the upper floor, giving her a moment only—in the sad suite, which had been Mary George's—to observe the fine outlook. She asked to see a portrait of his mother, and he led her back to the door of his room, where a maid was unpacking his traveling bags. He gave her but a minute to gaze at the plain, sweet face in its frame of Florentine leather, and then hurried her on, down the broad steps, through the hall, and out into the open again.

Suddenly she was in a passion to be gone. No, she didn't have time to see the tennis court, the kennels, the swimming pool, the stables. She could see them another day, if he would ask her again.

"Some day," he confided, "I'll live up there, I s'pose, when—when I can get hold of my money, and can build decent stables, and cottages for the grooms. The estate is conditioned—I s'pose every one on the Peninsula knows it? I have to finish college—worse: reach a certain age—before what is mine is mine. Can't touch the principal, I mean. I'm what they call a naughty boy."

She thought his fleeting smile the most engaging she had ever seen. "Like a moon which peers through clouds to see if the world's worth getting up for, and then creeps under covers again. . . ." She recalled what her uncle had said of the George income; that it was princely. Hers was trifling compared to his, and yet she always had a stupid, unimaginative balance. . . . Men were different, of course. They threw money away.

Negligently she inquired, "Lazy?"

"No. Too energetic. Races. Horses. I told you I like —— to ride 'em myself. "That's why I'm —— the walking skeleton. Have to keep 'round —— a hundred and ten. Horses are my vice."

If that were all ——! Eagerly she exclaimed, "Mine, too. I'm dippy about them. But that's ended. For four years. I'm to enter Vassar this fall." Her decision had come to her while speaking.

"Great! I c'n see you there. I know mobs of girls at Vassar—but they'll tell you what a tramp I am."

"If I'd let them. But —— I like tramps." And then, with deliberation, remembering the mute appeal of the house she had just left, she said: "But I have to do one thing at a time. I'm going to settle down; prove my friends wrong. They think me hopelessly sporty; horsey."

He flung her a sidewise stare. "Prove friends wrong." Again the engaging smile was effaced. "But it's not so easy. The girls I know aren't like you—thieves of time—they dare one on. You'll see."

Good Morning!

"The fellow who wrote that thing is crazy!" feelingly remarked the man who had been sitting in front of me, as he and his companion arose and went away from there. I strongly suspect that citizen's reaction to "Liliom" will be that of the rank and file of motion picture fans.

Now, of course, Franz Molnar isn't crazy. He wrote "Liliom," which had a successful stage run with Joseph Schildkraut and Eva Le Gallienne in the leading rôles, as well as "The Swan," "The Devil" and dear knows haw many other well received contributions to the drama. The ironic, romantic phantasy under discussion is, in many ways, an arty number. I can understand how it might have been popular with Schildkraut as the callous, passionate, unabashed Budapest amusement park barker whose love affair with a little servant girl is the story's impetus. But Charles Farrell is not the boy to play Liliom, of the varied and undisciplined moods, who lives, dies, goes to purgatory, returns to earth where he is a naughty, bad boy again, and once more is consigned to the devil, all in the span of a film's unreeling. Schildkraut played convincingly a dashing, hard boiled devil. Farrell is just a darling who would a devil be.

The perfect casting and beautiful work of Rose Hobart [You remember her in "A Lady Surrenders"?] as Julie, make the Farrell inadequacies particularly noticeable. I didn't see the play but it's unbelievable that Miss Hobart's portrayal of the Molnar heroine could have been surpassed.

As for the story:

Liliom is an amusement park "come on" employed by a dark and ardent Madame Muskrat [excellently played by Estelle Taylor], who has more than a business interest in her damsel hypnotising barker.

Comes Julie, the wistful, adoring servant maid—to give up all and go with Liliom.

Madame fires Liliom. He and Julie take up residence with the latter's aunt who hates the youth like smallpox and does all a human aunt can do to win her niece way from him. But she is helpless! Julie wears Liliom's beatings like a rose and cherishes memories of his infrequent tendernesses.

Julie is to have a baby! Liliom is ecstatic. He goes forth to crow, and, later, egged on by an evil companion, to hold up a paymaster that there shall be money on hand for the impending event. The paymaster turning out to be NOT one of those simple souls who trust all men, Liliom and Buzzard are caught red handed. The latter escapes. The former, rather than face shame and imprisonment commits suicide.

The final sequences deal with Liliom's experiences in what we hopefully sing of as the "sweet" bye and bye. On the stage he found himself in a police court. Here he gets a ride on a celestial train where he is sentenced to purgatory by a chief magistrate floweriiy impersonated by H. B. Warner, who appears to be en rapport with the sound of his own voice. He may talk like God only I'd hate to think so. One understands the nonchalance with which Liliom enters the furnace. There could be no pain at parting from this chief magistrate.

After ten years of stoking, the C. M., himself brings Liliom back to earth on heavenly choo choo that had borne him away, to see if a decade of fire had burned any sense into the lad. And what does Liliom do——?

Here, I take it, is the pearl from which we've been unwrapping all the cotton wool. Mr. Molnar has heard folks say, "Ah, if I had it all to do over again, KNOWING WHAT I KNOW NOW, how differently I'd act. . . .! And Mr. Molnar doesn't believe a word of it!

While "Liliom" is sometimes cumbersome and at all times verbose, it is artisitcally screened. Frank Borzage, you know, is a sane and intuitive director. Minor portrayals are to the good. But I hae me doots if the hereafter will ever be any go as a box office attraction.

Plans Jerusalem Talkie.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

JERUSALEM, Palestine, Oct. 20.—Producer John Olton of Hollywood arrived here today to make a talkie of Jerusalem life.

PREACHERS OFFERED PROGRAM ON PEACE, CHURCHES, INDUSTRIES

Members of the adult religious education committee of the educational commission of the International Council of Religious Education met yesterday at the Stevens hotel. They drafted a tentative program to assist ministers in "developing Christian personality and character." When approved by the commission, it was said, the program guide will be made available in forty-three denominations, including fully 85 per cent of the Protestant churches of this country.

International peace, race relations, biblical interpretation, how to Christianize industry, parental education, and other problems are included.

Harry Munro, director of the adult work of the international council staff, presided at the conference, which was attended by some fifty professors and twenty-five other denominational leaders in adult religious education.

Talk Marathon, Robot Autoist Radio Features

Crowd Attends Opening of Coliseum Show.

Congressman Fred A. Britten's speech of welcome officially opened the ninth annual Chicago radio show at the Coliseum last night. The exposition brings together 115 exhibitors and will continue through Sunday.

Presenting booth after booth of the latest products of the industry, the show is replete with feature attractions, not the least patronized being a talking picture studio where selected contestants are given the right to try their acting and their voices in a Hollywood atmosphere and at the same time compete for prizes. A special soundproof studio with a loud speaker outlet was constructed for the tryouts and housed behind a huge glass front.

This and trick contrivances, such as a miniature auto which is operated by signals from a robot, brought large crowds to the show at its opening sessions yesterday. The Chicago police department has one of its radio-equipped squad cars on display; the Illinois National Guard has a signal corps detachment in another space for demonstrations, and the navy brought small naval guns and a diver's squad to intrigue the visitors.

As an added spectacle, the radio show management presented another type of endurance contest at 8:30 last night. At that hour seven persons, five men and two women, began a talking marathon, the purpose being to present a total of twenty-eight people, seven fresh contestants for four nights, in a test of how long the human voice may function continuously.

The contestants were placed before microphones on a balcony and each was given the right to talk on any subject or read from a book or periodical. The rules make it necessary for each to talk at a speed of at least seventy-five words per minute, and all who fall behind that rate will be disqualified. A prize of $100 will be given the one who keeps his or her voice going the longest.

A nurse and a masseur were handy to supply nourishment to the contestants or ease the crick in an overworked neck or jaw. The contestants will talk twenty-four hours a day with a five minute rest period each hour for the duration of the contest.

Yankees Seek Sun Atoms' Secrets Today During the Eclipse

[The hour of the eclipse will be equivalent to 3:09 p. m. in Chicago and other central standard time points.]

NIUAFOU ISLAND, South Pacific, Oct. 20.—(AP)—Scientists from the United States and New Zealand were hoping tonight for clear skies during the 93 second total eclipse of the sun here tomorrow.

At 9:09 a. m., local time (1:09 P. M., Pacific coast time), the moon, passing between the sun and earth will cast a four mile shadow band upon the South Pacific ocean from near New Guinea island to the tip of South America.

In this brief period the scientists, with special cameras, spectroscope and telescopes will endeavor to learn more of the secrets of the sun, 93,000,000 miles distant.

Aided by an expedition of the U. S. naval observatory directed by Commander C. H. J. Keppler, the astronomers have placed in position 65 and 63 foot cameras and huge spectroscopes to photograph the corona and chromosphere surrounding the obscured sun.

By means of shadowy bands upon photographic plates and by delicate instruments, they hope to learn more about the sun's power to send light rays from the stars, as predicted by Albert Einstein, German scientist. Already the sun, its white corona and red chromosphere have been made to yield the story of many of their components—sodium, iron, helium, and others.

Dr. Stanley A. Mitchell, director of Leander McCormick observatory of the University of Virginia, leader of many expeditions into the earth's far places, is chief of the observers from the United States eager to study atoms in the sun's atmosphere.

These solar atoms are no larger than earthly ones. Dr. Mitchell said, however, the almost incredible feat of studying them is not only feasible but has been thoroughly worked out.

There have been no earthquake tremors here for the past two months, and consequently the scientists have not been disturbed by activity which would dislodge their delicate instruments.

The natives are agog with interest over the equipment which has been transported to their island. They are friendly, and, on having the object of the expedition explained, are especially desirous of success. They have even offered prayers for success.

"UNCLE VANYA."

BY CHARLES COLLINS.

WE have watched the visiting Russians of the Moscow Art theater dream wistfully through the gentle, lyric melancholy of Chekhoff's plays without understanding a word of them, and have applauded prodigiously. Now we have an opportunity to get the full flavor of this famous Slav in sympathetic translation and in acting that is mellow with his racial characteristics. "Uncle Vanya," new at the Harris theater, supplies it, and if we who were charmed by the company from Moscow do not react to it with enthusiasm we are merely cultural frauds. For this "Uncle Vanya" is better Chekhoff for us than that of the admirable Moscovians—because it is clear, intelligible play-going, freed from the fog of uncomprehended words.

This translation, adepts in Russian literature assert, catches the fluid prose-poetry of Chekhoff's style and is close to the gray, pensive spirit of the original dialogue. But even without the value of being understandable by American audiences, this staging of "Uncle Vanya" would still be excellent Chekhoff. I can imagine Stanislavsky of Moscow praising it as worthy of his Seagull theater, where Chekhoff was held as a patron saint until the soviet government banned his works as too pleasantly reminiscent of the czarist régime. Here you have an ideal cast and an admirable interpretation; true "art theater" stuff.

Jed Harris, who staged this production, is the same young Mr. Harris who clicked off such successes as "Broadway," "The Royal Family," and "The Front Page." His touch as a director has been marked by speed and wire edged nervous energy. But when he went Russian, Mr. Harris seemed to say to himself, "Now I will show them what I can do with the soft pedal."

His "Uncle Vanya" is as quiet and moody and entranced as anything that ever came out of Russia. Perhaps the only criticism that Stanislasky would make of it is: "This is a little too Russian, for beneath his melancholy, Chekhoff has a sense of ironical humor."

This story of boredom and frustration and minor heartaches in a Russian provincial home comes across the footlights with persuasive human values. It charms like a dark opal; it fascinates the attention as it gropes through its dim lights and its petty incidents. This is Chekhoff in his true stageworthy quality; and it explains, better than any poring over the entire body of his work in translation, why he is rated as one of the major Russian dramatists. This performance, also, is what American art theaters have been striving for and almost always missing.

Lillian Gish floats through the picture like a symbol of fugitive romance, escaping the clutching hands of men hungry for an ideal love. Osgood Perkins is the disillusioned country doctor, somewhat Byronical in his pose—a crisp, complete characterization. The petulant and dejected Vanya is effectively treated as an amiable frustrate [who puts a bit of melodrama into the play with some wild revolver shooting] by Walter Connolly. The professor, an intellectual fake and browbeating stuffed shirt who is the family incubus, is strikingly represented by Eugene Powers. Sad, sincere little Sonia, whose heart is so hopelessly broken, is played with winsome truth by Zita Johann.

If you want Chekhoff, here it is. And if you know an "art theater" when you see one, for the next two weeks you must consider the Harris in that category.

Asks Hospitals to Use Modern Business Ideas

Rosenwald Urges Service at Moderate Prices.

New Orleans, La., Oct. 20.—(AP)—Julius Rosenwald of Chicago urged tonight the establishment of more moderate pay clinics and hospitals to provide efficient service at fees within reach of the average man.

Mr. Rosenwald addressed the convention of the American Hospital association. He pointed out that with more than three billion dollars invested, American hospitals have entered the class of big business. He then told of the success of institutions running with a schedule of charges and professional fees within reach of persons of limited salary.

As an example he cited the moderate priced pay clinics of the University of Chicago in connection with its teaching hospital. During the year 1929-'30 that hospital ran 82 per cent full and the pay clinics increased from a trifle more than 100 patients a day during its opening year, three years ago, to almost 300 a day at present, he said.

"The receipts from pay patients for all the services of the hospital and clinics amounted last year to more than $500,000," he said. "If this had been given on a charity basis it would have required the income on a ten million dollar endowment. Therefore it seems to me that universities and hospitals have no right to attempt to raise huge endowments for service which can—and should—be paid for by the recipient."

As another illustration that good medical care can be given to great numbers at low fees, Mr. Rosenwald told of the Public Health Institute of Chicago. This pay clinic for social disease has given more than three million treatments to 150,000 different patients at a cost of $1.50 per treatment, he said. He added that out of this comparatively small fee the institute has more than covered its expenses and accumulated a surplus, used to promote research and to furnish free treatment to a limited number of patients unable to pay even small fees.

"There still is serious opposition to these organized self-supporting services from certain elements of the medical profession who seem to fear competition," Mr. Rosenwald said. "They overlook the fact that the best possible asset to the profession is the realization by great numbers of people of the benefits of medical care—that as more and more people get into the habit of using medical service there will be increased opportunities for all physicians."

Quoting statistics to show the rapid increase in the nation's hospital facilities, Mr. Rosenwald gave a tribute to the public spirit and open handedness of the American people in recognizing hospitals as a public responsibility. Of the three billion dollars invested in hospitals, 90 per cent or more has been contributed either by private gifts or from public funds, he said.

Mr. Rosenwald concluded with the contention that the "self-respecting" American does not want charity, but "expects what he buys—as well as any service he receives—shall be furnished as efficiently as possible and at such prices that he may be able to pay for what he gets."

He declared hospitals and clinics at the present time should decrease their fee, greatly enlarge their pay work, and thus add substantially to their current incomes.

BEG YOUR PARDON

Attorney James G. Condon denies he said he had been tempted to drink in the chambers of judges, as he was quoted by THE TRIBUNE yesterday in the report of a debate between him and Dr. George B. Safford on the prohibition question. During thirty odd years of practice in Chicago and throughout the state, Mr. Condon avers, he has never seen liquor in the chambers of any judge.

This Man, Good Cook and Housekeeper, Is Looking for a Wife

BY DORIS BLAKE.

Here's your opportunity, girls! His name is John Smith. His age, 32. He is out of a job, has no money and no future in sight. He has a good education, does not smoke, drink or chew, and is fond of children. He is a good cook and competent housekeeper and, in his own words:

"If some young lady who is tired of eating in restaurants and living in hotels would consider the idea of matrimony, I would gladly do all the cooking, washing and housekeeping duties, providing she would pay the rent and furnish the money for the necessities."

John is no stickler in matters of religion. It makes no difference what religion the girl may be so long as she is white and under seventy, he is willing to marry her and keep house. The offer is good only for a month, by which time John argues that either he will be on his way to Canada or have been accepted by some young lady who needs a good cook.

For the last three years, John postscripts, life has been a constant struggle for existence and matrimony might be the solution for him.

It might be, too, if he could get the girl. Just as matrimony might be the answer to some poor, struggling maiden's prayer. The trouble with the scheme, though, is that it does not work out according to conceived plans. Not with the girls, anyway, who look to matrimony as an escape from work.

It was proven the other day in a report on working wives that the young woman who gives up her job and marries a man on an average working man's income with the idea that her troubles are over is terribly mistaken. They have only just begun. She usually winds up, according to the statistical figures, with two jobs, a home one and a whole or part time job away from home.

This John Smith may be only spoofing us. Again, he may not be. His talent indeed, may be right along the line he aspires to. But personally we think him just a bit in advance of the times to make the suggestion before he marries the girl. After marriage a girl might see the wisdom of letting her husband stay home and tend the household while she, better equipped as a wage earner, goes out to do battle. But it is hard selling a male housekeeping talent before marriage, while girls keep on dreaming their Cinderella fairy tales.

WEDDING

LONDON, Oct. 20.—(AP)—Miss Joan Fry, British international tennis player, will be married to Tom Ashley Lakeman, lieutenant in the royal tank corps, on Nov. 12 instead of Dec. 10. The date has been advanced on account of the bridegroom's military duties. Miss Fry won the British women's singles title in the hard court tennis championships last May and then with partners took the women's doubles and mixed doubles.

Extenuated Line, Well Groomed Look for the Eyebrows

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

What a difference the condition of eyebrows make in the appearance of the face! You have only to let yours grow bushy (for you) and let the eye brow sector be overrun with wild hairs, then put yourself in the hands of a beautician for a remodeling of the brow to realize fully what a difference a well kept eyebrow makes.

It seems to me that I notice, lately, more thinning of the eyebrows than I did a year or two ago. Happily the trend is not back to the terrible line that used to appear above the eyes four or five years back. But the line of brow has a "pruned look" to it, nevertheless, and it is an extenuated line, in many, many cases much longer than should be expected of a nice eyebrow. Perhaps the eyebrows of a certain famous woman of the screen is responsible for the extenuated line.

It's well always to remember in imitation—that is, good imitation—one should bring some of the qualities of the imitated to the scene. If one is of a totally foreign type, then imitation proves to be a travesty.

Eyebrows are important. They always were, but women are taking more note of their own, in my opinion And they should, too; also, of their lashes. They should begin by scrutinizing themselves in the mirror for straying hair that gives a slightly messy look to the eyebrow area. If there are not many of these, tweezers can be used, after first applying a hot water pad and a bit of cream to soften the skin and to make extraction less biting. A professional cleanmended.

Every good toilet table should have a special small brush with which to brush and shape the brows night and morning. And a good eyebrow cream is advised.

BEAUTY ANSWERS

T. F.: THE CAUSE OF MOLES IS not known, nor is there any ointment you may apply to remove them. They need the attention of a skin specialist.

Tear Down Building in Which McKinley Was Assassin's Victim

Wreckers yesterday began to tear down the Fox theater, for more than 25 years the largest playhouse in Aurora. On the Fox site and on property adjoining, on which stood a theater that burned, the Paramount Publix corporation is to built a million dollar movie theater that will seat over 2,000 persons. It will have a stage for regular dramatic productions.

The theater being torn down is the building in which the late President McKinley stood when he was shot down by Leon Czlogosz, at the Pan-American exposition at Buffalo in September, 1901. After that fair the building was brought to Aurora and made into a skating rink. Later it became a theater seating 1,600.

Red Cross Gathers 2,500 Workers for Its Campaign

Chicago chapter of the American Red Cross yesterday announced enrollment of 2,500 volunteer workers for its annual roll call, beginning Armistice day, Nov. 11, and continuing until Thanksgiving day. The number is the largest, it was said, that has ever been enrolled for any previous drive, but it is expected that to dispose of the 225,000 memberships which will constitute the quota every worker will be needed.

Society Plans for Princeton Chicago Game

BY THALIA

Mrs. Cyrus Hall McCormick is to give a tea for the wives of the visiting members of the Princeton Alumni association at the McCormick residence at 20 East Burton place on Friday afternoon, Oct. 31.

She is chairman of the women's committee for the meeting of the National Princeton association Friday and Saturday, Oct. 31 and Nov. 1.

Dr. John Grier Hibben, president of Princeton, will attend the meeting and the Princeton-Chicago football game on Nov. 1. He will be the house guest of the McCormicks. He and Harold H. Swift are to be the speakers at the Friday night banquet of the association. The only other event in the program in which the wives accompanying their husbands to Chicago are included is the buffet luncheon to be held before the game.

Frederick H. Scott is chairman of the Chicago committee. Officers of the Princeton club in Chicago are: Calvin Fentress, president; James H. Douglas Jr., vice president; Edward D. Dumway, treasurer; George A. Cooke Jr., secretary; and William M. Collins Jr., assistant secretary.

Miss Ann Ashcraft, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward M. Ashcraft of Evanston, wore for her debut reception yesterday afternoon a pink lamé gown with a close fitting bodice and a full skirt that swept the ground. The reception took place at the Ashcraft residence at 1144 Asbury avenue. Mr. and Mrs. Ashcraft will give a dinner dance for their daughter on New Year's eve at the Blackstone.

The St. Luke's fashion show, always one of the most popular of the large annual benefits, will attract most of the town's smart population to the Stevens hotel this afternoon and evening. Tea will be served during the afternoon performance, and there will be a dinner preceding the evening showing.

The advance sale of tickets and of program advertising, and the number of couturiers paying to have their gowns modeled by society mannequins indicate that the total receipts will make a substantial addition to St. Luke's charity funds.

The women responsible for the show are headed by Mrs. John W. Gary, president of the board; Mrs. Walter B. Wolf, chairman of the fashion revue and exhibitors; Mrs. William S. Covington, program committee; Mrs. Chauncey B. Borland, tea and dinner; Mrs. E. I. Cudahy, table reservations; Mrs. John C. Pitcher, tickets; Mrs. Frank Hibbard, boxes; Mrs. A. Watson Armour, models; Mrs. William H. Elward, publicity, and Mrs. Arthur Dealari, flowers.

The Junior Friends of Art will open the season with a "Mother's day" program this afternoon at the Blackstone hotel. A musical featuring some members of the Civic Opera company will be followed by tea.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Stafford have issued invitations for a housewarming Halloween dance to take place at 8:30 o'clock on Saturday evening at their residence at 630 South Green Bay road in Lake Forest.

The Chicago Smith college club has issued invitations for a dinner at the Fortnightly on Tuesday evening, Nov. 4, at 6:30 o'clock. William Allan Neilson, president of Smith college, will be the chief guest and will speak informally after dinner. Mrs. George W. Blossom Jr. is to preside.

The annual benefit for the Misericordia Hospital and Infants' home this year is to be a supper dance on Tuesday evening, Nov. 18, at the Edgewater Beach hotel. Mrs. David F. Bremner Jr. of 1430 Lake Shore drive is chairman of the executive board.

Dorothy Wegener Is Married

MR. AND MRS. BENNET B. HARVEY.

Details of Ceremony

Miss Dorothy Wegener's bridal gown, for her marriage yesterday afternoon to Bennet B. Harvey, son of Dr. and Mrs. Robert H. Harvey of 340 Barry avenue, was of parchment satin. It was made on simple lines, with long, close fitting sleeves and a train. Her wedding was at the Fortnightly club.

Her rosepoint veil hung from a cap of heirloom duchesse lace, and she carried a shower bouquet of gardenias and lilies of the valley. The matron of honor, Mrs. Daniel Peterkin Jr., wore pale jade green satin and carried an arm bouquet of autumn flowers. The bridesmaids, Mrs. Charles Le Forgee and Miss Roberta Harvey, wore similar frocks of deeper shades of green.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey have departed for a wedding journey in France and England, and will reside on the near north side on their return.

Plenty of Mystery in Art Display at Robinson Gallery

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

Three artists yesterday afternoon ran away with the opening exhibit offered by Increase Robinson in her new studio gallery in Diana court. One was herself with a group of lithographs on the wall, unobtrusively, and with their titles unmentioned in the calendar of exhibits. The second was Rudy Renzius with a number of charming and unusual and delightful and deftly perfect pieces of pewter. These, the little pieces, are in addition to the chairs and tables and stands, all of which he originated and executed for the gallery. The third is Emil Armin, who runs chummily alongside like a happy, tail wagging curly poodle, rejoicing to be present and making himself visible in a series of cordial and ridiculously fascinating barks.

Bark one might be the cigaret box in red, painted with dogs and bearing a black Scottie aloft as a handle. Bark two could be the "Promenade," a wood carving in which three veritable dogs walk proudly in procession. Bark the third might be the "Pack," a dog drawn sled, richly painted. Bark four is the "Tree Decoratif," the tree of knowledge, jeweled, with a knowing cat grimacing attractively from a cubbyhole in the branches.

One goes back from these to the powerful, well built, vigorous, and sure drawing in the lithographs. One goes back, too, to the classical, pure, and perfect lines of the pewter. Rudy Renzius proves himself a craftsman par example. It would be difficult to find his peer and more difficult to find his superior in this handicraft of creating beauty in pewter.

The other parts of the exhibition fall into place behind the supreme interest of the first three artists. Carl Hallsthammer shows two excellent carvings. Alfonso Jannelli submits two etherial studies of the stars as persons and a beautiful model of his Katherine Barker memorial altar. Malvin Marr Albright shows a group of portrait heads, sculptured and colored, gold and silver or introducing black and red. Edouard and Olga Chassaing have each one composition in sculpture.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., Oct. 20.—[Special.]—Secretary Stimson gave a luncheon yesterday in honor of Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, former president of the German reichsbank, and Fräu Schacht, who leave today for New York. The German visitors were guests of the chargé d'affaires of Germany, Herr O. C. Kiep, who accompanied them to the White House. There they were received by President Hoover.

Postmaster General Brown returns tomorrow from Atlanta and Fort Worth. There he inaugurated the new air mail line between those two points.

The minister of The Netherlands and Mme. van Royen and their son, J. H. van Royen Jr., attaché of the legation, are en route to the Pacific coast and will visit the consulates in the northern and western states. They will be absent about five weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Salmon have returned to New York, having come to attend several parties in honor of the engagement of their son, Walter J. Salmon Jr., to Miss Virginia Peters, niece of Mrs. Eldridge Jordan. Mrs. James F. Curtis gave a dinner last night for Miss Peters and Mr. Salmon and the chargé d'affaires of Rumania and Mme. Nano gave a luncheon for them.

Concialdi and Becker Win Critic's Praises Giving Joint Recital

The joint recital of Eusebio Concialdi and Arthur Becker at Orchestra hall last night was Mr. Concialdi's first Chicago appearance in over a year. He has lost nothing in the interval. In fact, being the same sincere, industrious artist he has always been, he has gained. With a voice that would seem intended by nature to concentrate on dramatic works of the lower baritone register, he has refined it into flexibility, softness, certainty, and, when needed, rounded high tones. He is equally intelligible in four languages and he sings the works of each school with intelligence and musicianship.

Mr. Becker's part of the program was threefold. He was Mr. Concialdi's accompanist, he contributed a pair of solos by Zanella and Dohnanyi, and he composed a song for one of Mr. Concialdi's later groups. In all three he scored a success with the audience.

How Smart Shops Make Glassware Sparkle
BY MARY LEE WORK

A New Easy Way to Wash Dishes And Do 2 Other Hard Jobs In Half the Time

Ever wonder how the smart shops get glassware and fine china to sparkle like jewels on display?

It's really very simple. You can wash your own dishes the same way—get the same results—and actually save half the time you now spend. Here's how they do it.

They use a product called Climalene. Your grocer either has it or can obtain it for you.

Ends Grease Scum

Add one teaspoonful of Climalene to a dishpan of water, use only ¼ the amount of soap you now use. It instantly cuts the grease from dishes and cooking utensils, makes glassware sparkle and china gleam. The Climalene-softened water; plus certain bland cleansing agents, cuts your dishwashing time ½ or more—saves ½ or more the soap you now use.

To Avoid Faded, Gray Washings

Use 2 tablespoons of Climalene, and ¼ the usual amount of soap. Clothes emerge soft, spotless, utterly without fading. For soap fade, and soap eat are ended this way. In recent tests men's blue shirts were washed 75 times without noticeable fade; sheerest French hosiery 100 times or more—to prove the blandness of this way.

Banish Bathtub Ring

Add a tablespoonful of Climalene to your bath water. It makes the water soft as summer rain. A quick, rich lather is made with soap. After the bath—just rinse the tub. That is all. There just isn't any "high-water" mark. No scrubbing—no rubbing.

Why It Cleans

Climalene instantly takes all the harshness out of Lake water, medium hard water, and hard water. Makes it soft and gentle as rain water. So soft it does the work with ¼ the soap you now use. At the same time, due to certain bland cleansing agents, it instantly DISSOLVES all grease, dirt and grime, and thus cuts your working time ½ or more, in washing, cleaning and in the dishpan.

Ask for Kotex
if you want real comfort in sanitary protection

Don't think other sanitary pads can give you the same wonderful absorbency, the perfect fit and lasting softness Kotex provides

THERE are just no two ways about it. If you want perfect comfort and a real feeling of security, you must specify "Kotex" when you buy sanitary pads.

Kotex, the original sanitary pad, has made the progress you would expect of the first of all such manufactured comforts for women.

It is actually five times more absorbent than surgical cotton, by test. The wonderful material of which it is made (Cellucotton—not cotton—absorbent wadding) is laid in many air-cooled layers, each individual layer a quick, complete absorbent in itself. Kotex is guaranteed to give more protection, longer protection than any other sanitary pad.

It is scientifically designed, you know. Rounded and tapered in such a way as to fit perfectly and inconspicuously under the tightest fitting or filmiest of frocks.

Hospitals specify Kotex

Great hospitals have given their approval to Kotex by actually using it (millions and millions of pads per year) in preference to any other kind of sanitary protection. They use its Cellucotton filler, too. Last year they bought enough of this absorbent to make 80,000,000 pads! Just think what a tribute that is to its hygienic safety!

Kotex Company, Chicago, Illinois.

KOTEX IS SOFT...
1 Not a deceptive softness, that soon packs into chafing hardness. But a delicate, lasting softness.
2 The Kotex filler is far lighter and cooler than cotton, yet absorbs 5 times as much.

Regular Kotex—45c for 12
Kotex Super-Size—65c for 12

The NEW KOTEX BELT

WHEN CHILDREN FRET

MANY things can make a youngster fretful—sluggish bowels; a touch of colic; when teething or at other trying times. But there's only one remedy a mother should ever use to comfort an ailing child in any of these conditions. Castoria!

This pure old-fashioned remedy most mothers have learned to depend on, comforts a child like nothing else. It has an important place in five million modern homes where mothers keep it always on hand, so they will be ready to render first aid when a child is ailing.

Watch your child's tongue; when it is coated, or whenever the breath is tainted, let this pure vegetable preparation come to the aid of that sour stomach or clogged bowels.

The beauty of Castoria is that it can be given as often as needed. It contains no harmful ingredients. The recipe on the wrapper tells you how mild and bland it is. It is a children's remedy, made especially for the children. Ideal for infants—yet effective in larger doses for a child in his teens.

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

Here is a letter from a mother who knows how to link up cause and effect, but is puzzled about the remedy:

"Dear Mrs. Bevans: I would appreciate it if you could tell me what I could do about my little boy. He is 3 years and 4 months old. Since the other baby was born he is so stubborn. I can't seem to manage him as I did before. He is also inclined to be jealous of the baby. He loves the baby and yet shows he is jealous."

Stubbornness is one of the most subtle things to deal with. It is almost always wise not to bring things to an issue with a stubborn child. In this case, where the cause is evidently the upsetting effect of the new baby, I would suggest not working on the stubbornness, at all. I wouldn't try to correct it. I'd overlook it, for the present.

Then this mother should start to regain the confidence of her little boy. She should set herself the task of restoring him to his "place in the sun." He must be made to realize that she loves him as dearly as she ever did.

This won't be done by endearments alone—though warm lovingness helps. It will have to be done in various indirect ways. For one thing, she should manage to have some time with him alone—a cozy time for talking when the baby's asleep, or for story telling, or for a walk together or a "confab" at bedtime. This is most important, in my opinion.

For another thing, she should deliberately get back into the way of listening to him when he talks, looking at his work or play, showing her interest in him. She must have time for him, and really give him her attention.

Where the baby is concerned, she should range the boy with her—that is, "We'll do this for the baby—we'll take care of him together. He's little and we—we're big," the idea being, "We stand together; you and I."

When visitors come, especially if since the baby's birth the first child has been ignored, he should be brought into the conversation again. His father should be posted and remember to greet him as vociferously as he ever did. In other words, the little boy needs to be reinstated in his world. Then, I think the stubbornness and jealously will disappear.

FARM AND GARDEN BY PAUL POTTER

CROCUS TO CHRYSANTHEMUM.

How a Chicago woman planned her flower garden so that eight months of the year she had flowers to add color to her yard, which happened to be next to a "Gasoline Alley," is described in a portion of the newly revised CHICAGO TRIBUNE booklet called "Flower Gardening." This 64 page publication can be obtained by sending 13 cents in stamps to the Farm and Garden Editor of THE TRIBUNE. It also is being sold for 10 cents at all THE TRIBUNE public service offices.

MUCK LAND PRODUCTS.

Products of the muck lands of northern Indiana, where thousands of acres of land that once comprised the bottoms of rivers and lakes have been converted into heavy production of farm crops, are to be displayed in the first crop show of its kind for that section. Nappanee, Ind., will house this exhibition and its visitors from Nov. 13 to 15, inclusive.

On the final day the public will be admitted, to see just what size and quality are obtained on these special type soils when planted to onions, potatoes, cabbage, celery and turnips. Cash prizes and 22 medals have been offered through coöperation of the Indiana Vegetable Growers' association and the Nappanee Kiwanis club.

Judging of the exhibits will be by J. E. Dickerson, federal inspector of fruits and vegetables. E. G. Byers, vocational instructor at Nappanee, is superintendent of the displays and show. Among the speakers who will discuss problems peculiar to crop growing on muck lands will be Dr. C. T. Gregory, H. K. Riley, and Prof. S D. Conner of Purdue university; Prof. F. E. Underwood, Cornell, and Prof. Paul Harmer of Michigan State college. In a banquet Friday evening, Nov. 14, Prof. F. C. Gaylord of Purdue, secretary of the Indiana Vegetable Growers' association, will present medals to winning exhibitors.

It will pay you to read what the dentists said

IN ORDER to help clarify the conflicting theories about the proper care of teeth and gums and the choice of dentifrices, E. R. Squibb & Sons asked a leading research institution to conduct an investigation on the subject among 50,000 practicing dentists. Here is the summary of the replies received:

These three authoritative answers are a strong tribute to Squibb Dental Cream, which is made with more than 50% Squibb Milk of Magnesia.

Try Squibb's. It cleans beautifully. Thoroughly refreshes your mouth. And it is so safe. Contains no grit, no astringents, nothing which might injure teeth or gums.

The play that swept everything in its path for one entire year in New York. Its entire plot revolves around a delicate question that might arise in any household in the land. Chicago play-goers shouting their enthusiasm!

Chicago Critics Endorse Mr. Belasco's Glamorous Achievement:

"And what a performance all the way. I liked everybody in it and the show. For two hours I forgot that I was a critic, and they were the first two hours of the kind that I have experienced this season." —Ashton Stevens, Herald-Examiner.

"It was a David Belasco entry, and it gave substantial proof that the old master of stagecraft still knows how to pick them and groom them and carry them along as prize winners. 'It's a Wise Child' remains true to the wholesomeness of its environment." —Charles Collins, Tribune.

Simple Wedding Rites Planned for Giovanna

ROME, Oct. 20.—(AP)—Invitations to the marriage of Princess Giovanna and King Boris of Bulgaria have not included the American ambassador nor the diplomats of other nations.

The explanation is the royal family's wish for a ceremony of the most private nature and also the difficulty of finding lodgings for the envoys in Assisi. The embassies have received a simple notice of the engagement and forthcoming wedding.

Ceremony May Be Simple.

PISA, Italy, Oct. 20.—(AP)—Invitations to the wedding of King Boris III. of Bulgaria and Princess Giovanna of Italy Saturday have gone out from the royal villa at San Rossore.

They are signed by the Duke Borea Dolmo, prefect of the palace and grand master of ceremonies to King Victor Emanuel. The duke recently celebrated his hundredth birthday. He has been master of ceremonies since 1864 and has ordained the ceremonies for several score royal weddings

Instructions sent with the invitations indicate the wedding will be simple, conforming with Franciscan austerity. The women are required to wear gowns with high necks and long sleeves, with white veils. The wearing of jewelry is forbidden. The men will wear full dress, with their Italian or Bulgarian decorations.

The act which will give civil effect to the religious ceremony will be read by Father Risso, who will unite the couple. The marriage agreement will be signed by the couple and four witnesses, together with Premier Mussolini and President of the Senate Federzoni, at the Villa Vostanzi, Assisi. One copy will be kept by the state, one for court archives, and a third for Bulgaria. The entire ceremony, as well as the low mass and procession, probably will take from about 10.30 a. m. until noon, when a wedding breakfast is scheduled.

[Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.]

BUDAPEST, Oct. 20.—According to information in diplomatic circles here the reason the Vatican dropped its objection to the marriage of King Boris of Bulgaria and Princess Giovanna of Italy is that Boris secretly has returned to the Roman Catholic church.

Since the Vatican long has sought reunion between the Roman and the Orthodox Greek church, while the present pope is known to have made that his life ambition, it is only to be expected that no obstacles will be put in the way of such a valuable convert to Catholicism.

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

Learned New Beauty Formula.

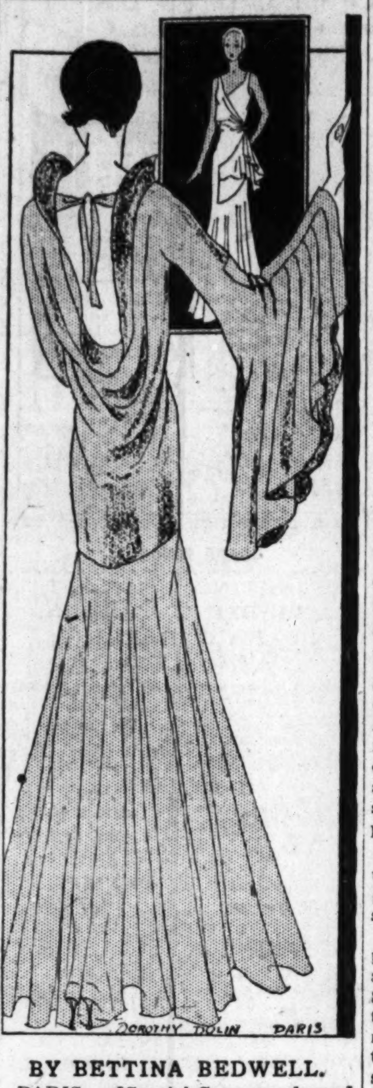
It is an oddity to see an honest blush nowadays, but I acquired one not so long ago that would make a beet look pale. It happened at a dance, and I haven't been to the same ballroom since.

Being quite a popular number, and with the superb orchestra crooning away, I was in my gayest mood. When a modern young Lochinvar came around and finally found me free. I consented to dance with him His face looked familiar, and anyway. I really was not particular for once We discussed various friends we knew and I happened to know most of those he knew. When he mentioned a string of boys, and particularly a J. T., I said that I knew him well, adding that he was conceited, and that I just couldn't go him. In a cool, amused voice he stated, "So sorry, but I am he."

It is lucky for me that we were dancing a moonlight waltz, so that he could not see my face. As I am writing this it still burns. That is the new beauty formula, but never, never again for me! E. M.

Trick Decolletage Vogue Includes Evening Wraps



BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS. — [Special Correspondence.] —Paris couturiers began, some season back, playing tricks with our décolletés. They found new ways to square the circle and round the square when it came to necklines and the vogue grew until, nowadays, our décolletés resemble complicated harnesses or jeweled carapaces more often than they do plain evening waists. They may be high in front and have no necks at all, or they may drop little sleeves off the shoulders or be surrounded by the lace bib-berthas our grandmothers used to love.

Now the craze for décolletage variety has spread to evening wraps. Philippe et Gaston drape the back of the Nile green panne velvet evening jacket, sketched above, into a waist length Grecian curve, and frame it with a straight band of the green velvet. Narrow bands knotted across the back at the top keep the coat from sliding off the shoulders. The huge, full, open sleeves are plaited onto a vertical band running up the outer arm and are closed at the wrist by a similar band.

The frock, shown on the tiny figure in the background, is of Nile green and silver brocade in a lovely wheat pattern. It also has Grecian suggestions in its side drapery which joins a little peplum flounce, balanced by the bolero effect on the opposite side of the bodice. You wonder, of course, how double pneumonia can be avoided in such a gloriously impractical winter ensemble. Philippe et Gaston give you an ermine pelerine and a moon shaped muff to settle that.

Yanks Spend $200,000,000 on Snapshots, So It's Said

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 20.—(AP)—Americans are the snapshot fiends of the world, spending $200,000,000 a year on pictures they take themselves, William Burton, president of the annual convention of the National Association of Photo Finishers, said here today. The association will open its annual meeting tomorrow.

Food Talk.

The first cream soup I ever tasted was cream of tomato, prepared by a class in "domestic science," as it was then called. The idea of combining sweet milk and cream with stewed tomatoes astonished all of us country girls We would never have dared to combine milk with an acid at home. Experience had taught us that such mixtures curdled, and naturally we concluded that a combination of milk and tomatoes could not result in a soup that would appeal to the eye and palate.

But when soda was added to the tomatoes to reduce the acidity and prevent curdling, the result not only surprised but delighted us.

There was just one thing about the preparation of that soup I didn't like and that was the addition of soda. Soda [enough to prevent curdling] takes an edge off that delicious tomato flavor. And another objection to it is that it is an alkali, which destroys the vitamins in the tomato. I'd rather have soup a little curdled than have soda. Curdling, however, can be prevented without the use of soda if one is careful about combining the tomato purée with the white sauce. Pouring the tomato purée into the white sauce rather than pouring the white sauce into the tomato helps tremendously, and both the white sauce and purée should be hot when combined. After they are combined the mixture should never be reheated, but served at once.

And so many times the consistency is more like gravy or blanc mange, rather than the consistency of thick cream, all because the cook is too generous with the flour. Too much flour not only spoils the appearance and feel of the soup, but also the flavor.

If we could only revert to the original idea of cream soups, how many more we would enjoy! Cream soups are a most delightful way to include both vegetables and milk in the diet and almost all vegetables can be used. Lettuce, cucumbers and pumpkin, strange as they may sound, are enjoyed by even the finicky.

For the child who needs both milk and vegetables cream soups are one solution. We have 15 good cream soup recipes that we will send to those interested in preparing delicious tasting and nice appearing cream soups.

CREAM OF SPINACH SOUP.

MISS MARY FLEMMING
1469 Farragut Ave., Chicago

... made to make good, and does exactly that.

What could be wiser than to profit by what tens of thousands have proved to themselves what Konjola, the new and different medicine, can do? Give thought, serious thought, therefore, to the words of Miss Flemming:

"I had wonderful health up to several months ago, when I developed what I was told was nervous indigestion. I became so that I had to leave my work every afternoon. Konjola was recommended, and I took only three bottles. That was all I needed. It has been two months since I finished the treatment, and I have not had a nervous attack in that time. I know others who had similar results from Konjola, and I certainly do not hesitate to endorse it."

We prefer to loan money to the man or woman steadily employed ON THEIR OWN SIGNATURE. Our records show that the greater part of our loans are SIGNATURE ONLY LOANS

This service is such a departure from the old method of making loans that most people are amazed when it is explained to them.

Loans made from $10 to $300. Pay back any time and pay only for the time you keep the money. Our service is made for the borrower.
